Chapter 1

Genesis of geniuses

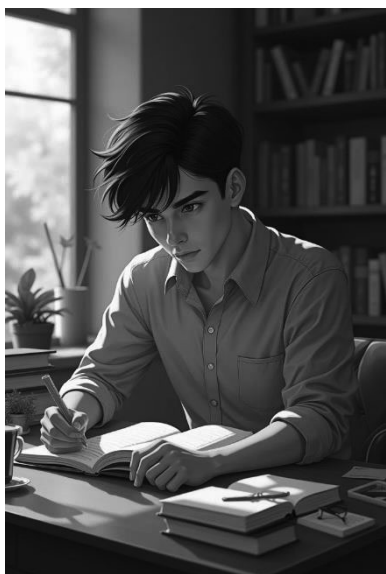

“Pass me that test tube, Justin.” Alfred asked Justin. “Here you go!” said Justin after passing that test tube. Alfred took that test tube, poured the liquid of that test tube into the second test tube and installed it into the test tube stand. “The liquid will take some time to settle, and the cure will be ready!” Alfred told Justin “I am going to the nearby club to party, are you interested too?” Alfred asked Justin while removing the lab coat that he was wearing. “No, I am good.” said Justin “I like spending my Saturday nights with books and my PlayStation.” Alfred looked at him and gave him a disappointed look. He rushed towards the kitchen and took his bike keys from the key stand.

Alfred changed his clothes, grabbed his wallet, rushed outside and drove off. Justin packed his stuff, locked the laboratory’s door took out his Maserati’s keys and drove home. It was 9 in the night, Justin took out his book and started reading it. Alfred and Justin were one of the most renown scientists of the town. They were known for the amazing medicines that they made and knowledge that they were having about various diseases and how to cure them. Justin was the brains, he usually read a lot of books about science and medicines and used that knowledge to find out cures for various diseases and different illnesses, whereas Alfred was involved in marketing and made sure that the medicines that they made were reaching the target crowd.

Alfred was an extrovert and a little bit of a playboy who used his free time to hang around in clubs, drink beers and chill with beautiful women. Justin, on the other hand, was an introvert who used his free time to read books and play games on his PlayStation. He didn't like people and liked spending time with himself and his PlayStation. According to him everyone in this world was selfish and the concept of socializing was not his cup of tea. He had a few friends with whom he used to play soccer with, but he was not too good with girls as Alfred was.

Next day was a Sunday morning, Justin woke up, brushed his teeth, took a hot shower, wore clothes and rushed towards his laboratory.

It was 7 in the morning when he opened the laboratory and saw the liquid had settled. He mixed that liquid with another liquid and put it on a hot flame. After heating the liquid for half an hour, he took out a glass bottle and poured the liquid inside the glass bottle. “Ah, the cure is finally ready” said Justin excitedly. Justin and Alfred had been working on medicine for the past 6 months. There was a disease called Nickpox, in which the infected person would suddenly out of nowhere get a lot of fat, ugly pox on his/her skin. The disease was so severe that the infected person was not able to sleep at night peacefully and would keep scratching his skin. Many people were not even able to sleep peacefully many of the times which would disturb their sleep cycle and hamper their whole day. Many males and females were not able to perform well in their jobs, kids were not able to do their work or study properly, many females who were engaged in household chores were not able to perform the chores adequately.

Fortunately, some doctors were able to make a cure in the form of tablets, but it was a temporary one, the pox would disappear for one day and the scratching would stop after the infected person ate those tablets, but the next day same thing would repeat.

Alfred and Justin were working on a permanent cure which would cure that disease permanently, but it was taking a lot of time since they failed many times but despite many efforts they never decided to quit and were finally able to make the cure they were working on. Justin called Alfred and his phone rang, but Alfred didn't pick up. He called again, someone picked his phone, and the voice went

Alfred: - Hello?

Justin: - Hey ya buddy, are you coming to the laboratory or not?

Alfred (in a dizzy voice): - Wh....Wh....What laboratory?

Justin: - The place that finances your weekly boozes, party nights and other stuff

Alfred: - Woah buddy, my hangover is not over yet. Why not just let me sleep and I will come by at 10 am.

Justin: - Alfred!!!

Alfred: - Ok, ok just give me some time, buddy!

Alfred woke up, brushed his teeth and fell down on the floor. “Arghh, this Black Label is not getting out of my veins for about 2-3 days, I guess!” Alfred said to himself, picked himself up, took out his towel and other clothes from his closet, took a good hot shower and went towards the laboratory. Justin looked at him and then looked at the time. “Alfred, its 8.30 am what caused you come so late?” “Black lab.... uh the geyser was not working well buddy.” Alfred said “and stop giving me orders, I am the elder one.” Alfred commanded his authority.

Alfred rushed to the laboratory. He and Justin took those bottles, kept them inside a sack and rushed towards the research laboratory. The research laboratory was the place where they were supposed to present their medicines. The world’s greatest doctors and scientists were present there. “Where is the meeting room?” asked Justin from the female receptionist. The receptionist guided them towards the meeting room. “Thanks mam.” said Justin, Alfred gave her a wink. The receptionist blushed and ran away. Both of those guys went inside the meeting room, there was a round table where 5 scientists and 2 doctors were sitting. “Ah finally, my favorite pals are here!” said Martin, one of the greatest known scientists and the chairman of the committee “Come have a seat”. Justin pulled a chair and sat down; Alfred did the same.

“So, what have you got, a permanent cure to Nickpox, eh?” said Jefree the inventor of Poxrelief (the temporary cure to nickpox). “Yes, we did indeed,” said Justin. Justin took out those test tubes and a pen drive that he was carrying. He installed the pen drive into the smart TV and explained each and everything. All of the people were sincerely looking at the screen whereas Alfred was struggling with his hangover. Alfred's eyes were slowly shutting down and within a minute he was resting his head on the table while looking at the smart TV. "And our medicine's name will be Zapsirin, any questions?" asked Justin from the people after giving the whole presentation.

"Yes one, how much liquor did Alfred consume last night." asked Jacky, the partner of Jefree. The whole table started laughing. Alfred was asleep, he had no clue what was going on. Justin slapped Alfred's head, "Uhh, what, how, when?" Alfred asked and looked around.

The whole table was looking at him and was laughing. "I am genuinely sorry from his side," said Justin.

"Never mind buddy, you people have made something that was a need for the hour," said Martin. "I will talk to the accountants and will make sure that the well-deserved amount is transferred into your bank accounts and will also make sure that the medicine is verified and is ready to consume.”

“Thanks a lot, Mr. Martin.” Justin gave a smile. The whole room was clapping. “Yup, thanks and please transfer the mo...” Alfred was about to finish his sentence when Justin pulled his hand, grabbed the pen drive and rushed out of the room. They both rushed towards the car, Justin was furious. He was driving and stopped the car midway, “What, we are getting some snacks?” Alfred asked. “What is wrong with you?” Justin asked furiously “We have been waiting for this day for almost 6 months and you just slept inside the meeting room” “Well, I mean I told you 10 am could be a better time” Alfred was trying to justify himself. “The meeting time was 9.30am and you know how punctual those lads are!” Justin groaned. Alfred put his finger on Justin’s lips, smiled and asked him to drive. “Take a chill pill buddy, you really need a girlfriend.” Alfred laughed while Justin was driving. “And you need to consume less of that liquor and stop embarrassing me every now and then.” Justin said in a frustrated tone.

They both reached Justin’s home and Alfred ordered a pizza. “You really need a social life, buddy!” Alfred told Justin “Those chemicals are getting up your head.” Alfred laughed. Justin was a little bit frustrated “Whatever!” He spoke. The delivery boy came, they both were relishing a pizza. “What’s the time?” Alfred asked. Justin looked at the clock and said, “Quarter to 8.” “Get ready, I will help you make some good friends.” Alfred gave a side smile to Justin. Justin knew this look; he knew Alfred was up to something. He stood up, washed his hands and wore blue jeans, a black T-shirt and a blue jacket. “Yo, sexy Justin in the house” Alfred shouted took his car keys and asked Justin to come out with him. “Where are you taking me?” Justin asked in a low voice, “To heavvvvennnn” said Alfred to Justin. Justin was perplexed.

Justin grabbed his house keys and went with Alfred. Alfred opened his passenger door and asked Justin to sit. Justin never saw Alfred treat him like that, he looked Alfred in a confused state and was trying to figure out what Alfred was up to. Alfred opened the driver's door and sat down in the driver's seat. Alfred drove and took him to the nearby club and stopped the car. "Uh, of course..." said Justin to himself. Alfred took Justin out of the car, Justin reluctantly went out. "I am happy with my PlayStation, Alfred." Justin said in a low and sad voice. "Come on, chilling sometimes is never bad, buddy!" Alfred said in the most excited tone.

Alfred put his arm around Justin's shoulder and took him inside the pub. The beats were loud, people were dancing, some were drinking, and some were talking with women. The DJ was playing loud, Alfred jumped on the DJ took the mic and shouted "Hello peopleeee!" Everyone stopped dancing and was looking at Alfred "Me and my buddy Justin finally made a permanent cure to nickpox and we are here to partyyyyy!" Alfred shouted and the whole crowd started shouting in excitement. Alfred asked Justin to come to the stage, Justin tried to hide behind a table but one of the guys caught Justin's arm and took him towards the stage. "Cheers for my boy, Justin!" shouted Alfred. The crowd was cheering in excitement.

They both climbed down the stage, Alfred stopped one of those waiters who was serving wine "I hope this one's red." Alfred asked one of those waiters. The waiter nodded and Alfred gave one wine to Justin and took one for himself. "I am a teetotaler, Alfred." said Justin. "Not today, brodah!" Alfred told Justin in his usual excited tone. Justin held the glass reluctantly and was drinking the wine, "How's it?" said Alfred "uhh.... its good," said Justin.

"Go sit at that table, I have to meet someone!" Alfred told Justin and pointed towards a stool. Justin sat on the stool that he was told to sit upon. A beautiful girl was sitting on the stool beside Justin. She was drinking wine too. She was wearing a pink top and blue denim jean.

Justin looked at that girl, didn't utter a single word and began sipping his red wine. "Another round please!" that girl said to the bartender. The bartender made another round of red wine and gave it to the girl. She sipped the whole wine within 2 minutes and asked the bartender for another round. The bartender gave her another one, she sipped it all and then asked for another one. "Um, excuse me, isn't this bad for your health?" Justin gasped. The girl got furious broke her glass, kept it on Justin's neck and asked, "Who sent you?" Justin got frightened, the bartender and some other people started looking at them. " Uhh, I was just wondering that this much wine could harm your intestines." Justin said, "I am Justin, Justin Marble the renowned scientist!".

The girl started laughing "I was just messing with you." she said, "I am Alisa, Alisa Lint, it's a real pleasure to meet you." The crowd and the bartender gave a sigh of relief, they genuinely thought it was Justin's last day on earth. "That's a quite dangerous way to mess with someone." Justin said laughing a little bit, "Are you going to pay for all that?"

"You never had a girlfriend, did you?" Alisa laughed. "You should ask, can I pay for your drink, pretty lady or just flirt or just drop a casual pick-up line rather than worrying about my intestines!" Alisa laughed and asked the waiter for another round of red wine. Justin laughed a little bit "Yes, I do not have a girlfriend and I never had one, I was a little bit of a studious guy and used to study all night about medicines, diseases, treatments, do you know if you have a headache, you should...." Alisa put her finger on Justin's lip. Justin stopped speaking, Alisa took out a lipstick from her bag and took out a tissue, she wrote something on the tissue. She finished her wine and went away.

Justin took that tissue opened it up and it said 'Please pay for all this 😊' Justin was confused and was trying to search for her, but she went away. "How much?" he asked from the bartender "That will be $300, sir!" the bartender said. "She didn't even give me her number." Justin said to himself in a sad low voice and while taking out his wallet from his pocket and handed the money to the bartender.

Alfred came with 2 bottles of champagne in his hands, "It's time to partyyy!" he showered that champagne on the ground, the crowd was cheering. They drank some champagne and went out. Alfred was drunk.... again. "Give me the keys, Alfred." Justin asked Alfred "Your boy's gonna drive like Vin Diesel today buddy!" Alfred said half drunk. "Ya, no you are not, I want to reach home, not heaven." Justin told him and snatched the keys from Alfred's hand.

Alfred fell down, three people picked him up and made him sit in the passenger seat. Justin drove home. Justin and Alfred's home were close by, he dropped Alfred his home, headed towards his home and slept. Next day, Justin decided to hit the gym, he woke up, wore his gym clothes, grabbed a water bottle, hand towel, wrist bands and his cellphone and put all of the belongings inside a gym bag. He wore his sport shoes, grabbed the keys, locked his door and went towards the gym.

When he reached the gym, he dropped his gym bag, reached the treadmill and began running. A girl was walking on the treadmill, he looked at her and to his surprise it was Alisa. "Hi, Alisa!" Justin said excitedly. "Oh, hi Justin." she removed her air pod and greeted him. "I never saw you here." Justin and Alisa began talking, conversations were turning into laughter and more conversations. Justin looked at the time that was being shown on the treadmill "Oh, it's been 20 minutes!" Justin laughed and smacked his face. "Quite a runner, aren't you?" Alisa looked at him and laughed. They both worked out together and after 2 hours left the gym together. It was 7 am in the morning. "It was great working out with you!" Justin said. "Same." Alisa said. "Are you coming tomorrow also?" "Yeah, I mean it's never bad to make friends, or is it?" Justin said. Alisa gave her a smile and waved him goodbye.

"Alfreddddd!" Justin was knocking on Alfred's door like a maniac. "Woah, what happened?" Alfred opened the door and asked. "Did you know what happened today?" Justin said in the most excited tone getting inside his house "You got hands on the latest God of war game...?" Alfred was trying to guess. "No, I met a girl in the club, and I met her again in the gym!" Justin said excitedly. "Oh boy, looks like someone's socializing." Alfred laughed and struck Justin's nose in a playful manner.

Justin narrated everything, and asked "What do I do now?" "I don't know man to be honest, just keep talking maybe and bring your Maserati and don't creep her out because some women are frustrated by random men approaching them and making their lives miserable, wherever they go.”

Justin frowned “She didn’t look annoyed, neither at the club, nor at the gym, in fact she looked quite friendly.” “Women are complicated creatures, Justin. One day she is friendly the other day she is not, just go on with the flow.” Alfred laughed. Next day, Justin woke up, packed his gym bag and went to the gym. Alisa was sitting on the cycle “Hi Alisa” he said “Oh, hi there” Alisa greeted him. “Nice T-shirt you got there” Justin’s excitement level had no limit. The conversations continued, the next day the same thing happened, they usually met at the gym at 5am when it was completely empty, no one to interfere in their friendship and the amazing conversations they were having. Days passed and they were having the best time ever.

Next week, Justin went to the gym, his excitement was as usual on the highest level ever imaginable, he opened the door and was highly disappointed. He saw a black guy was helping Alisa lift weights, Alisa was talking to him in the same way that she talked with Justin. She was laughing and the black guy was looking at her straight into the eyes. Justin was frustrated, he continued with his exercises but didn’t know what to do. He tried talking to Alisa, but she ignored him. Justin went home disappointed.

Justin narrated the whole incident to Alfred, “Uh, I told you bro, women are complicated, did you try talking to her?” he asked. “Yeah, I did, but she ignored me like I am a nobody, it felt so harsh” Justin said in a low voice.

“Just hit the gym again tomorrow, maybe things will change” Alfred told Justin. Justin obeyed him and saw Alisa working out alone.

“You need help with anything, Alisa?” Alisa looked at him and said “No, I’m fine, thanks.” Justin was disappointed after hearing Alisa’s blunt reply, he continued with his workout, neither of them uttered a single word.

Justin: - How's your hamster, you told me about?

Alisa: - Good.

Justin: - What workouts are you planning to do today...?

Alisa: - Biceps and triceps.

Justin: - Who was that black guy you were working out with?

Alisa: - None of your business....

Justin: - Do you want me to drop by your home or anything?

Alisa: - Nah, I'm good.

Justin was discouraged and highly disrespected at this point of time. He packed his stuff and went away. Next day, the black guy and Alisa were working out again. Justin was frustrated and punched the guy in his face "Get away from her!" Justin groaned angrily. "You pack a good punch don't you" The black guy said wiping off the blood from his nose. "Justin, you don't need to do this" Alisa said in a frightened tone. The black guy shushed Alisa, Let's do it man vs man, the black guy said to Justin, he took a stance and punched Justin in his abdominal, "Ahhh...." Justin groaned in pain, Justin tried to punch his face, but the guy blocked his punch and punched his abdominal, but Justin was quick enough to block that punch.

Both were holding each other's punches. "You want me to play a romantic song now, buddy?" said the black guy to Justin. Justin gave the guy a head bash and kicked his abdominal with the greatest pressure he could. The black guy was pushed heavily. He flew into the air and kicked Justin in his face. "Ahhhhh!" Justin moaned in pain.

"Stop fighting, guys!" Alisa shouted.

Justin woke up, his lips were bleeding, he wiped the blood off, took a 5 kg weight plate out of the deadlift and slammed in the black guy's head. "What the.....," The black guy put his hand on his head, looked for any blood, and found some of it. "You....." the strong muscular black guy lifted a whole rod and was going to smash it inside Justin's head when a voice came "Stopppp!" They both looked, and the owner of the gym ran towards the black guy and snatched the rod from his hand. "What are you guys trying to do, kill each other?" He groaned in anger. "He is stealing my girlfriend!" said Justin angrily. "I am not your girlfriend!" Alisa scolded Justin.

Justin was frustrated in anger, ran home and narrated the whole incident to Alfred. Alfred couldn't stop laughing, "Play a romantic song, that was a good one." "Alisa embarrassed me in front of everyone." Justin said in a sobbing tone "We were having so amazing conversations and out of nowhere that black guy came." Alfred couldn't hold his laughter. "You actually called her your gf, even when you were chatting for what, like a week!" Alfred laughed "She complimented my T-shirt!" Justin was trying to justify himself. "Oh man, you are a funny guy, Justin, well however the results have come in and they have approved that our cure is safe and is 100% safe for human consumption. So, let's partyyyy!" Alfred shouted, took out two beer glasses and poured beer in both of them. Justin was disappointed but still he drank the beer that was being offered to him.

Next day, he went to the gym at his usual 5 am in the morning and saw Alisa talking to that black guy on treadmill like he used to do with Justin. Justin was frustrated, he took out the rod and started doing deadlift, he was staring at both of them in frustration and was doing his squats.

He kept the deadlift and was taking out a weight, suddenly one of the trainers came out, looked at Justin angrily and pointed towards the wall.

There was a poster on the wall which said, 'No fighting inside the gym.'

“I was trying to lessen the weight; I was not going to.... never mind” Justin told the trainer. Justin was sad, he did 5 squats, packed his bags and exited the gym, he descended 3 stairs and suddenly he felt a push. Justin fell down the stairs, his face collapsed towards the ground “I am gonna send you to the hosp.....” Justin angrily looked back and was shocked to see that it was only Alisa. “What are you up to...?” Justin asked in the most frustrated tone. Alisa was laughing, “Oh boy, you are going to send a girl to a hospital?” Alisa said. “No, I thought, it was that black guy.” Justin said, “He is my brother, I just wanted to see how you look when you are jealous.”

Alisa was laughing and making fun of Justin. “Why are you women so complicated?” Justin asked. “Let’s go for a coffee?” Alisa asked Justin. Justin agreed he took out his car keys from his gym bag, opened his door for Alisa, “Thank you...” Alisa said smiling. They both went for a coffee date and had some amazing conversations. Alisa gave Justin her number and they both used to chat for long hours, Days passed nights passed.

It was October when they met for the first time in the club, December started, "Let's go for a movie date?" Alisa asked Justin out. "Ya sure!" Justin agreed like there was no chance he would disagree to something like that. They both went to a movie and grabbed a coffee. They both were sitting inside Justin's car, when Justin was about to sip his coffee, his coffee mug tilted, and the cold coffee spilled all over his clothes.

"What? How did that happen?" Justin was disappointed. "You don't even know how to drink coffee" Alisa was making fun of him. "No, I know, it just tilted out of a sudden." Justin was annoyed. He wiped his clothes and was going to take another sip, but the cup tilted, and more coffee spilled over his clothes. "What is happening?" Justin groaned in anger. Alisa was laughing continuously, "Why....Why are you laughing, and why is my cup being tilted again and again?" Justin groaned in frustration. Alisa didn't utter a single word, she just kept laughing. Justin was about to take a third sip and saw Alisa do something weird with her hands, the cup again tilted but this time coffee didn't spill. "What? Who are you?" Justin asked frightened. "I am a super." Alisa told Justin.

"But how is this possible, you have superpowers, is that what you are trying to say?" Justin asked Alisa after being freaked out. "Well yes, I got those when a laboratory exploded." Alisa said "Long time back, there were these four super awesome geniuses who made superheroes and were told to make more of them, but their laboratory exploded, and they died. A radiation was released in which a lot of innocent civilians died, some got superpowers, and some were not affected at all." Tears were rolling down from Justin's eyes. "Those four super awesome geniuses were nobody but me and Alfred's parents." Justin sighed. "Wait, what? So, your and your buddy's Alfred's parents are the creators of the Swag family?"

Shadows over Guatesaram

A long time back, there was a town named Guatesaram. The people were happy and were living a peaceful life, the parents used to wake up their children, get them ready for school and the children used to go to school, study and used to have fun. The parents on the other hand went to their jobs or businesses and used to earn dollars. One day a primary student missed her school bus, she tried contacting the teachers as well as the receptionist, who tried contacting her parents, but nobody was able to come to pick her up since both of her parents were working. The toddler decided to take a random cab and told the driver about his home.

The cab driver was heading towards her home but rather than taking a left, he took a right. The child was scared “Where are you going?” she asked frightened “Well, we ain’t heading home that’s for sure!” The cab driver laughed and took her to a mysterious forest. The toddler began shouting and crying, she tried opening the door, but her efforts were useless. “Oh, don’t cry buddy, your parents will come now and will also bring a lot of money!” The cab driver took that kid to a small warehouse deep inside the forest. The kid was crying continuously and yelled “help, Help...” but nobody was close enough to help her.

The cab driver stopped the car and took her inside the warehouse. His friends came out of the warehouse and helped him tie the kid. The kid was asked to call her parents and ask for a hefty amount of 1 million dollars. The mother was working in a corporate office, and her father was a lecturer. The mother picked the call and was frightened “What...What happened, where are you?” she was scared. “Do not tell anyone just give us 1 million dollars and we will set your daughter free!” said one of the criminals. The mother didn’t know where to bring this hefty amount from, she rushed home and tried collecting all the savings she had. The father got the call too, he rushed home and saw his whole house scattered around.

Dad: - what are you doing?

Mom: - Searching for money!

Dad: - Why not call the cops?

Mom: - They said that any involvement of the cops will be problematic.

Both of them were able to collect 1 million dollars from their savings and bank accounts. They tried calling the number where they got the call from, but the number was unavailable. Father's phone rang and they were told to deliver that amount to a certain destination. They obeyed the orders, put the money in a briefcase and put it under the place they were asked to. When they came back home, they opened the door and their daughter was sitting on a chair, her hands were tied, her whole face except the nose was covered with a face mask.

She was struggling. "Oh, my beautiful daughter, what have they done to you?" the mother cried, untied her ropes and hugged her. The father was furious with anger, he called the cops and told them about the whole incident. The cops tried tracing the criminals, but they were nowhere to be found. The girl told them where she was taken but neither the warehouse nor the criminals were to be found anywhere.

Some time ago, a similar incident happened, where 2 girls were roaming around in the night, and some guys in the mid thirty's approached them in the car and told them to get inside the car, the girls refused and told them that they belonged from decent families and were not the type of women, they were thinking of. The two males insisted them to sit inside their car or else something bad could happen, the girls started running and one of those guys took out a hockey stick from the backseat of the car, stopped the car in front of them, came out and told the girls to come with them. The girls refused and one of them was about to call the police, but the guy hit that girl on her head with a hockey stick. The girl fainted and the same guy did the same thing with another girl.

This incident was recorded on the camera, the police instantly came to rescue those two girls, and took them to the hospital. Fortunately, no serious harm was done, and those criminals were arrested and put in jail. Two or three weeks passed, the police officers were bribed, and those criminals came out of jail. They repeated the same crime again but this time with a group of 4 girls. Women safety was becoming a serious issue day by day. The cops tried tracking down the heinous criminals, but they were nowhere to be found. The whole police force was shocked, annoyed by these criminals that used to disappear into thin air and were nowhere to be found.

The police force tightened, cameras were installed at each and every street, a survey was conducted taking records of all of the families that were living inside that town and the nearby places. More police officers were employed and those who took bribe were instantly fired from the police force, no suspension, no compensation, just a termination letter.

Once there were 6 children who were playing football, Alfred, a 14-year-old teenager, Justin, a 10-year-old kid, Steve, Lee, Linson and Marty, who were around Justin's age. The park that they were playing in was a big one but was a little bit far away from the town. A van came by out of which four masked people came out and asked if they could get a match. The children were a little bit frightened, but Alfred decided to talk to them in the calmest manner. "Can we play with you guys?" one masked man asked Alfred. "Yes, but don't you think you people are quite big to play with children, you should try finding people of your age." Alfred was trying to avoid them. "We just want to play one match and then we will go!" One of the masked men said. Alfred was a little bit afraid himself. They were all skinny children, whereas those four masked men were 6 feet muscular people and Alfred did not want to indulge into any type of violence. “Yeah, sure but do you guys need one person on your side since you are four people, and we are six.” “No, we are good!” another masked man said.

Both of the teams took positions. “Can we plan before playing the match?” Alfred asked, “Yeah whatever.” One of the masked men said. Alfred collected all of those children and said. “Ok, see these people don’t seem like good news, they are probably robbers, or I don’t know murderers, God knows, but we are just going to play this match in the calmest way possible.” The whole group agreed “Justin, I am going to slide my phone to you in the middle of the match, Steve and Marty will cover Justin, all you have to do is send Dad a message ‘help!’ and then send our location.” Justin agreed and the other guys also agreed. “Hip, hip hurray!” Alfred shouted. The four masked men didn’t have any clue what they were up to.

The game started Alfred and Linson were the strikers, Justin was the goalkeeper, and the rest of the children were playing in mid. Alfred and one of the masked men were in the middle of the field. Alfred threw the ball in the air, the ball bounced upon the ground and the game started. Alfred passed the ball to Linson, then Linson dodged all the masked men, passed it to Alfred again and Alfred scored a goal. "Goal!!!" Linson shouted and gave Alfred a high five. The masked men were staring at Linson constantly without blinking.

The goal keeper was having the ball he kicked the ball, the ball flew into the air and Steve gave a header, the ball flew into the air and one of the masked guy tried to hit the ball again but Alfred was quick, he kicked the ball passed it to Linson, Linson dodged two of the masked men, passed it back to Alfred and Alfred scored another goal. "Goal!!!" Linson shouted and gave Alfred another high five. "Noobs!!" Marty shouted. Alfred broadened his eyes and gestured to him to keep quiet. The masked men stared at Marty for about 10 seconds straight and one of them folded up his sleeves. Alfred gestured to Justin and Marty to do as told.

Marty and Lee were playing in the mid, they got close to the goal post and made a small wall in front of Justin. "What... What are you doing?" one of the masked men groaned in anger. "It's just a new strategy!" Alfred said, "You guys are playing well, so we decided to do our best too!" The masked men were looking at each other in a state of confusion. Justin was hiding behind Martin and Lee and Alfred slid his phone from his pocket to Justin's pocket and winked at him. The masked men were not having any idea what was happening. The ball was in the hands of the masked team's goalkeeper he kicked the ball high, Steve was alone trying to follow the ball, whereas Martin and Lee were standing straight in front of Justin, the ball hit the ground, and Lee kicked the ball back to Steve, he then passed it to Linson, one of the masked men tried to tackle Linson but he was not less than Ronaldo himself, and the masked man's attempt to tackle Linson failed. Linson passed the ball to Alfred, all three men started tackling Alfred, but he was literally playing with the ball back and forth, while on the other hand, Justin took out his phone sent his location to Alfred's Dad and was about to type something, when the opposite team's goalkeeper saw him.

"Hey... what are you doing?" The masked goalkeeper shouted. The game stopped, Everyone was looking at Justin, the masked goalkeeper man took out his gun, held in his hand, pointed towards Justin and asked, "You want to go to heaven, sunshine?". Everyone was having goosebumps and there was a pin drop silence. Everyone was looking at Justin and nobody knew what to do.

Everyone was looking at each other when Alfred laughed "Hahaha, stupid Justin can't get over his gaming addiction." He rushed, grabbed the phone from Justin pressed taskbar twice at such a speed that no masked man could see it. "See, he is playing one of those fighting games in the middle of a football match, stupid child!" Alfred laughed, looked at Justin, took a breath, sighed "Here I am throwing this phone, focus on the game, stupido!"

Alfred took the phone and threw it away.

The other three masked men told the goalkeeper to calm down and focus on the game. "I think we are done." said one of the masked men, "It was good playing with you all and we genuinely apologize for the goalkeeper's behavior, he is a bit of a psycho." "That psycho would have taken by buddy's life!" Alfred said in a low voice. "You said something?" asked the goalkeeper. "Noooo, it was a good game you guys were a good match." said Alfred in a frightened tone.

Four people got into the van, and the driver started the van. The children were standing in a circle "They are noobs!" said Marty "IDK, even a primary student could play better than them." Alfred asked him to lower down his volume and keep quiet since they were not gone. The goalkeeper heard Marty, he took out his gun, aimed towards his leg and pulled the trigger. "Ahhhh!!" Marty groaned in pain and started crying.

“Can a primary student do this, huh?” The masked man asked loudly, and they drove off. Alfred was frightened, he ran, and he grabbed his phone which was kept on the ground. But the phone’s screen was broken. He carried Marty in his arms and started running, Fortunately, Albert Wilson (Alfred’s dad) came in his car “I saw your location, what happened, what happened to Marty?” “No time for all that dad, rush him to the hospital!” All the children sat inside the car. Marty was crying in pain.

Marty was rushed to the hospital and was rushed to the operation center, all the children were standing outside. Alfred narrated the whole incident to his dad. These rascals are increasing day by day; something needs to be done urgently. A round press conference was announced. Alfred’s parents were scientists and Justin’s parents were in medical fields, they previously used to work in laboratories and hospitals, but they decided to open their own laboratory and practice medicine. Marty’s father was an accountant, and his mother was a homemaker. A whole meeting was announced where the ministers, the police chief, and some more officers were called along with those 6 children’s families.

No one was safe, the kids, the women, the teenagers, nobody. A strong discussion was made regarding the safety of innocent civilians and regarding the increasing crime rate inside the city. Finally, after a 3-hour long discussion, the meeting concluded, and it was decided to change the Police chief. Formalities were made and another police chief was appointed, whose name was Mr. Edward Skart.

Edward was a 6 feet 11-inch well-built guy, he was 35 years old and had previously worked in Downtown, New York as an SHO. He was known to be highly strict and a highly disciplined officer. He was agile, muscular, smart and was well known for his psychological tactics to beat the criminals. The criminals were afraid of him, and the crime rate of Downtown was 0% when he was on duty. Committing a crime was a far-fetched thought, criminals didn't even think of committing a crime under his surveillance.

When he was brought on duty, he mocked all the police officers and called them lazy, slow, inefficient and other ugly words that no middle-aged officer would like to hear. He took all the officers to a training camp and asked them to run at a 10 km per hour speed, everyone did as they were asked, then he told them to run at a speed of 20 kmph, many ran but some were not able to run at that speed. He took out his belt and thrashed their legs with his leather belt. The officers groaned in pain, then he asked them to run at a speed of 30kmph, many officers did run but those who didn't, their lives were made miserable. A lot of officers criticized him and called him heartless, monster and many other words, but his concern was to improve the system and to stop any possible crimes as soon as possible.

A lot of officers left the police force, saying they did not hire a human, they hired a monster, who used to abuse them, thrash them and sometimes they were even denied food since they did not perform well. The police force was tightened, more and more cameras were installed. Lazy officers who used to sleep at night were instantly transferred to other places, and many other officers were employed. The crime rate significantly reduced.

One fine night, 3 robbers decided to rob a jewelry store, they came in an omni and broke the glass. The alarms rang loudly, they stole all the beautiful bracelets, necklaces, rings and any other jewelry they could find within a time span of 10 minutes. The police force rushed, sirens were wailing, they put all the jewelry in their bags, hopped inside the omni and drove off. The police were behind them. One of the robbers snuck his body out of the window and started firing at the police. The police were driving cars zig zag to avoid those bullets, but unfortunately one bullet hit the driver, and both police cars collapsed.

The robbers were getting away, more police force was called and all of them were following the omni, and after a long chase, the Omni came to a dead end, the police force surrounded the omni with cars and the van could not go further since there was a cliff and going any further would result in falling down of the omni. The police took out their mic and told them to surrender. The robbers took out assault rifles, got out of the omni and started firing at the police. The police were trying to defend themselves many, got behind their cars. One of the robbers dropped a smoke grenade and the whole police force was blinded by it. Unfortunately, the robbers got away.

Mr. Edward Skart was furious, he scolded the whole force and mocked them for their cowardliness. The police officers narrated them the whole incident and told him that the robbers were carrying assault rifles, and two officers were even shot badly in the crossfire. Edward tried contacting the satellite and tried his best to track those robbers. He took out all the camera recordings, decided to track their number plates, asked many civilians who saw where they were headed but they were nowhere to be seen or found. Mr. Edward Skart contacted the Marbles (Justin's parents) and the Wilson's (Alfred's parents) and asked them to make bulletproof armors for the whole police force.

The Marbles and the Wilson's denied since they were scientists and doctors but weren't engineers. They were told about the whole incident and were offered a good reward. They agreed and after 10-15 days of hardwork they made a bullet proof armor. The armor was sent to the police department and was tested and surprisingly, it came out to be just fine. They were asked to make more of them and after 2 months of expanding their workforce, they were able to make 50 bulletproof armors. After the work was done, they gave all the armor to the police force.

A similar incident happened this time when there were 2 Omnis and 8 robbers who decided to rob the same jewelry store. The police force came, and they drove off and reached a dead end. They came out took out their assault rifles and started firing at the police force. This time the police were not scared. They came out of their cars empty handed wearing those bullet proof armors. The bullets collided with their armors and fell, the terrorists were shocked. They approached the robbers, took their guns from their hands and started firing at them, 5 of them were shot dead and the rest 3 were arrested. Their guns were taken into custody, their hands and legs were tied with a nylon rope.

"Hola amigos," said Edward Skart. "Why don't you guys find a job rather than terrorizing these innocent civilians, causing chaos and robbing jewelry stores?"

"Release us or terrorism will follow!" One of the robbers threatened Edward

"Oh really?" Edward smiled, took off his belt and smashed his face with his belt. The robber groaned in pain. "Where are you all coming from?" Edward asked, "What is your motive, why are you all so heartless and brutally spreading crimes for no reason at all?"

The robbers looked at each other and started laughing. Edward's temper was increasing with time he smashed all of them with his belt again and again, they groaned in pain and one of them said "You killed our people, they will kill you." Edward was frustrated, "Who are you talking about? Tell me about your boss and you will be given a small punishment but if you don't... well, you never know what will happen." None of them uttered a single word, Edward sent them to the police custody and told the superintendent to thrash them with all kinds of hockey sticks and bats that they could find.

They were constantly smashing them, the robbers were moaning in pain but none of them uttered a single word. "Never dealt with criminals like these in my entire career." Edward said to himself.

He went out of the police station from the back door, took a cigar from his waist coat lighted it and started smoking. He took out his cellphone, opened his gallery and looked at the picture of his daughter. "Oh, I miss you so much, darling." He said to himself. Edward had a daughter Elle and his wife Martha. He was separated from them when he was transferred to Guatesaram, he used to call them daily but due to increasing responsibilities, training and while he was busy catching criminals, he didn't get time to call them. "They must have slept." Edward looked at his watch, it was 2 in the night.

Days passed and they tried every tactic to reveal information or secrets from the criminals, but their efforts were useless. They tried to gather information about their vehicles, but the warehouses were empty. Nobody knew where they bought those vans from. After a lot of tracking and gathering evidence, they figured out that the vehicles and the criminals were from outside the town. Edward tore the seats of the omni and found some drugs and a pistol in a plastic polythene. The plastic was covered with desert sand. "Is there any deserts located around Guatesaram?" Edward asked one of the techies. The techy nodded.

Jamberi, was a desert located far from the town. Edward gathered all his forces and decided to head towards Jamberi. All of them gathered guns, assault rifles, smoke grenades and every kind of equipment they could find. All of them wore bulletproof armors and drove towards Jamberi. "Anything can happen!" Edward warned the force "These are merciless criminals who don't care about anything and anyone, but it's game over for them now". 5 police cars filled with officers drove towards the desert. It was a long ride, but to their shock Jamberi was an empty desert with no building or base or any kind of people in it.

"We have entered Jamberi, sir!" one of the officers informed Edward "What now, Mr. Skart?" Edward took out his binoculars, climbed up to the top of the car and started looking everywhere. It was an empty desert and nothing or nobody could be seen. He got down and walked towards the deserted side, the sand that he found and the sand in the desert were same. "Take out your binoculars and look for any building or for any people, these criminals are rising somewhere from this desert only." Edward said. The officers agreed. They began driving and kept looking for anything they could find.

“Mr. Skart, look I think I found something!!” One of the officers proclaimed excitedly, Edward took the binoculars and looked and found a medium sized building in the middle of the desert. He told them to stop the car, all the five cars stopped. He looked at the building closely, there were some people guarding the base wearing black masks and holding assault rifles. He looked left with his binoculars', some more black masked men were guarding the terrace with assault rifles. He shifted his focus a little bit more left, some of them were exercising and some of them were lifting weights. “It’s a dirty situation out there.” Edward took a deep breath and told the officers. “What now, Mr. Skart?” asked one of the police officers. “They are too many of them.” Edward explained.

Edward signaled the officers to get back into the cars and retreat. The officers obeyed. “Tell them to lock the borders and not let any of them enter the city.” Edward told one of the officers. “We can’t attack them now; they would see us coming and will use their best weapons to defend themselves. It would be clearly a suicide mission!” He explained to the officers.

All of them rushed back to the police station. Edward called a meeting. A few days later, a round table meeting was held, the ministers, the army chief, and other secretaries were present, and Edward explained to them about the whole situation. “We will get our best weapons, the best army officers and if you want, we can even arrange a rocket launcher.” said Mr. Bostol Margaret, the Army general. “These criminals are hampering the peace of society and must be severely punished.” The other people agreed and signed an agreement. The arrangements were being made, the army officers were being trained in full swing, the police officers were trained accordingly too, the borders were locked and not a single person could neither enter Jamberi nor exit it.

One fine day, a police officer got a call that a robber has robbed a house. The house belonged to one of the billionaires in town and the amount of 1.2 million dollars was stolen. The whole police force was called and within half an hour the whole police force was chasing that robber. The robber was wearing a black leather jacket, a helmet and was driving a BMWs1000rr. The sirens were wailing, and the police asked him to surrender but the robber kept driving.

The police eventually started firing at his bike’s Tyre, but the robber started driving zig zag and none of the bullets hit the Tyre. The chase was a long one, but not endless. The robber took a right turn into a service lane and there was a dead end. He could see nothing but a brick wall in front of him. The police cars crowded one end of the service lane whereas on the other end was a brick wall.

“Surrender or we will shoot!” the police officer shouted. The robber was sitting on his bike with his helmet still on he turned his bike and was facing the police officers. There was a state of silence, the police officers were looking at him and he was looking at the police officers. He pressed a button on his bike. “No!” the officer shouted and started firing, the bullet hit the leather jacket and bounced back. Within a minute his bike turned into a bulletproof UAZ. “Whatt?” The officers shouted and all of them began shooting at him. The UAZ rushed, crashed all the cars and drove away. “Sir, we may be having a situation here, a bike turned into a bulletproof UAZ and drove off.”

Edward picked up the call and was furious after hearing the whole incident. The whole police force was following the UAZ, the sirens were wailing but the UAZ didn’t stop. “Call the SWAT trucks and tell them to block all the paths, bring all the barriers and lock all paths!” shouted Edward “Mr. Skart, where did you learn that from, GTA?” one of the officer joked.

Edward stared at him and didn’t utter a single word. “On it, sir!” the officer said. The chase was a long one, since even after blocking all the paths, the UAZ was able to smash through the barriers and drive away but eventually the SWAT trucks blocked the UAZ’s path, and the robber was stuck again. “Surrender peacefully!” one of the officers said through the blowhorn. Edward with his other officers reached there in other trucks.

The robber was sitting inside the UAZ, the door eventually opened, he came out with his hands up in the air. He was still wearing his helmet. One of the officers who was wearing bulletproof armor signaled the other two officers to come along. All of them were heading towards the robber in order to handcuff him. Suddenly, they heard the whirring sound of two helicopters. “Who called them?”

Edward asked, but nobody knew, and everyone was looking at each other in a state of confusion.

The helicopter started firing bullets at the officers. The officers were wearing bulletproof armor but one of the bullets penetrated an officer's armor and he collapsed on the ground. "HIDE!!!" Edward shouted. All of the officers hid behind cars, some hid in the car's backseat. Edward Skart was raging with anger. He got inside the truck and took out a rocket launcher. He loaded a rocket inside the launcher and installed it. He came out of the truck, aimed at one of the helicopters and pulled the trigger. The rocket hit the helicopter and one of the helicopters blasted.

The other helicopter got to know about Edward's location, the helicopter constantly started firing acid bullets upon the truck in which Edward was hiding. The truck started smoking eventually. He picked up the rocket launcher and the rocket and was installing another rocket, but he had to get out of the truck otherwise it would have exploded, and Edward would have been killed in the explosion. He ran outside the truck and hid behind a police car.

The truck exploded, but Edward was safe. He saw the robber trying to break the SWAT truck barrier with his UAZ. "Uh, this rascal is trying to get away." Edward groaned in frustration. He installed the rocket aimed towards the helicopter and pulled the trigger. The second helicopter exploded too, but it was too late since a lot of police officers died from being hit by the acid bullets. Edward called for reinforcements and shouted, "Are there any officers alive?" Some police officers came out from their cars and some who were hiding inside the nearby buildings came out too. They looked out for the UAZ, but the robber got away. The trucks were damaged badly, the police cars were smoking, the reinforcements arrived, Edward along with other officers got inside the cars and began the chase.

They tried searching for the UAZ everywhere but it was nowhere to be found. "Arghh, that UAZ can transform into bike too, maybe he could be hiding in one of the service lanes.” Edward said angrily to one of the officers. They were looking for the robber everywhere, but he couldn’t be found anywhere. Edward’s phone rang, “Mr. Brown, a black UAZ just broke the barrier and went towards Jamberi.”

Edward laughed. “Are you sure we are going to attack them in the middle of the night?” one of the officers asked, “They are having acid bullets which can pierce through the armors we are wearing, and as you said before it’s a clear suicide mission.” “It’s now or never buddy.” Edward told him politely. “These lads are upgrading day by day; any more delay can cause serious consequences.”

The whole police force and the army force rushed towards the place that they went to before and gathered around. Edward installed night vision inside the binoculars and handed them to the Army chief. “You see that building, that’s where those criminals are hiding.” The chief looked and found the building. “We are going to rush all our tanks inside the building and going to crush them all once and for all!” Edward shouted in excitement. “What about those acid bullets?” Chief asked. “The tanks are immune to them aren’t they?” Edward asked. Chief smacked his head, “I have a better plan” he exclaimed.

The chief called someone. Within a matter of time a white Mercedes came in which 3 drillers were sitting. They hopped outside and started drilling a hole. “What are you doing, we can simply rush our tanks inside the building.” Edward told in a high voice. “And, get my men killed? They are having acid bullets Edward which could easily penetrate the tank.” The chief calmed him down. A hole was dug and a whole tunnel was being built. “We are going to attack them from inside the ground.” The chief explained “They are not going to have the slightest idea, where we come from.” “And what if they get to know about us after hearing the drilling sound from the ground.” Edward asked in disappointment. “Do you have a better idea?” The Chief asked and Edward shook his head in disagreement.

“We are going to set up the tanks in automatic mode, send them towards the base, the enemies will start shooting the tank while my men and your police officers are going to go down the hole and after reaching their destination they will start bombing the ground from the inside. Eventually, a hole will be made from inside the ground and they will throw some of those smoke grenades before entering the base in order to conceal themselves from being hit. While all of the enemies will be engaged with the tanks our officers will finish up all of those enemies from the inside. Mission accomplished, 0 casualties, Booyah!” The chief shouted in excitement.

Edward found the plan quite interesting and innovative and coordinated with his officers accordingly. They were looking at the base but there were hardly any people there. The training ground was empty, there were only four guards up the terrace and 4 guarding the entrance. The hole was dug and their cars and tanks were parked quite far away from the base at the place where they could not be seen. “Letsss go!! The chief said. All of the police officers and the army officers jumped inside the hole. Edward and the chief decided to stay back.

After 15 minutes they reached under the base. “Sir, we have reached.” one of the police officer told Edward. The tanks line of path was programmed by the Chief and accordingly. The chief programmed 5 tanks and got out after programming the last one. Edward took out two snipers out of a truck and handed one to the chief and held one himself. Within minutes the tanks started rushing towards the base. The masked men looked at the tanks and started firing. Edward and Bostol hid behind a sand dune, loaded their snipers, pointed it towards the masked men and started shooting.

The masked criminals kept shooting at the tanks, and slowly all of the men were engaged with the tanks. Edward and Bostol were sniping from a far-off distance and managed to kill 2 masked men on the terrace and 1 on the ground. "Sir, what do we do now?" asked one of the army officers from the chief. "Start installing bombs now!" the chief commanded. They obeyed the orders and started installing bombs from inside the ground. The criminals were startled. They were being attacked from the tanks, snipers and now even the ground started shaking.

Edward managed to shoot two more of the masked men and the chief shot four more of them. Unfortunately, one of those masked man saw Edward shooting, hid and told other men about their location. Edward smacked his head "They found me I guess." "It doesn't matter our men would have dug the ground by now, what's the Status Madison?" The chief asked through his walkie talkie from one of his officers "A final explosion and we will be out." Madison told the chief. The chief was happy after hearing the news, raised his hand up in the air and Edward gave him a high five.

The final explosion was made, Madison threw smoke grenades on the ground and within a matter of time, the whole area was in smoke. The officers wore masks and decided to climb up the tunnel that they made. One by one each and every officer climbed up the tunnel, got out, but to their surprise, nothing was there. It was a complete desert; they couldn't see anyone.

"Chief, we can't see anyone!!" Madison said to the chief. "What??" Chief asked in surprise "Are you high on duty, Maddy?" "No chief we don't see anything it's an empty desert, no building no men, nothing." Madison explained. The other officers agreed with him. The chief and Edward both were confused, "How is it possible, we can see the building, but they can't, did you dig the hole right, Madison?" Edwards asked from the walkie talkie chief was holding. "Yes, we did, sire but, we can't see any... uhhh!" Madison shouted, and Edward heard a bullet striking him. Slowly and steadily, they heard more bullets and more voices shouting in pain. "What is happening??" Edward shouted. He called another one of his officers. He picked, "Sir, bullets are coming out from thin air" he shouted, "We can't see anyone, ughhhhh!" he groaned in pain and fell. "Retreat, Retreat!!!" Both Edward and the chief shouted.

They installed their snipers and looked through the scope, the place where that building earlier was, could nowhere be found. "What the hell is happening??" Edward groaned in frustration, he sneaked inside the hole and began walking. Three or four officers managed to escape. "What? What happened, where are the other officers?" Edward asked. "They were all shot dead sir, we threw smoke grenades got out but couldn't see anyone. It was a complete desert, bullets were being fired from thin air we removed our masks tried to look for someone, but couldn't see anyone, else we would have smacked one or two of those as...." "OK, Ok, I got your point." Edward calmed him down. "Chief is waiting for us in the car, let's go..." Edward shouted.

All of them got out of the tunnel, sat inside a car and started driving. The Chief was driving in front of them. Edward looked out from the window from the backseat, he could see all the tanks were smoking, stopped and some were destroyed completely. "We saw some lasers incinerating the tanks." one of the survivor army officers said. "Who are they? How are they doing all of this? Where are they getting this hi-fi technology from?" Edward asked himself in a low voice.

He communicated each and everything with the Chief who was driving the other car.

They were all retreating to the city, the chief was driving the Mercedes, and that car was driving at much higher speed than the Volvo in which the rest of the survivors and Edward were riding. Suddenly, they heard a blast sound, one of the police officers sitting in the backseat looked back and saw a rocket coming towards them.

“LOOK OUT!!!!” The officer shouted but it was too late. The rocket hit their car, and the car exploded.

The chief looked through the rear view and shouted “Whaaaaaatt?!” He saw his best friend Edward and the rest of the people die in the explosion. Tears were rolling down from his eyes. “It’s my fault, the whole plan was dumb, everything’s my fault.” he scolded himself. He sped up and drove towards the townside. He called a meeting and narrated the whole incident to all the members in the meeting.

“We need superhumans.” The Prime minister shouted, slammed the desk, stood up, tried to hide his tears and headed towards the bathroom.

The birth of Power

All of the officers who were martyred were cremated properly. The ceremony was held, everyone was sad, a total of 25 army officers and 30 police officers were martyred in the incident, along with Edward Skart, the police chief. Elle came along with her mother and was sobbing. Her mother tried to calm her down but that 8-year-old Elle wouldn't stop sobbing. Other families came too, it was a tragic incident, and an outrage was created in the whole city.

Edward's wife approached the chief and asked about the whole incident and the chief lowered his head down in sorrow after narrating the whole incident to her. She slapped him. The other female army officers held her arms and took her far away. "Where are you taking my mommy?" Little Elle shouted.

A female army officer sat on her knees and told her “They are just taking your mother out for a little bit, and you can meet her after this ceremony ends.” She put her hand inside her pocket and took out a small chocolate “Here, have this.” “I don’t want chocolate; I want my daddy.” the little girl said frowning. The army officer stood up brushed the little girl’s hair and hugged her.

The ceremony ended and everyone went to their homes. A meeting was called by the chief and they called the world’s greatest scientists, doctors and of course the Marbles and the Wilsons. “We need superhumans, it’s the order of the prime minister.” The chief shouted “I don’t care how you do it, how much time you take but we need superheroes.” “You are asking us to make superhumans like a teenage boy asks his mother to make pancakes for breakfast.” Albert Wilson (father of Alfred) joked, chuckled nervously, looked around but nobody was laughing. The whole table was sitting and staring at him silently.

“55 officers along with the police chief have died in order to save this city from the people that were menacing this city, and you are cracking lame jokes, Mr. Wilson?” the Chief shouted. Mr. Wilson stopped smiling. “He just wanted to say that it is not as easy as it sounds to be.” Jack Marble (Justin’s father) said “Human body is complicated, converting the whole body into an altogether different species is not as easy as it seems to be. We understand the pain that you are going through, one of my close friends was one of the police officers too who died in the crossfire and was shot dead, Edward Skart was a superhero himself, everyone adored him, and we could sleep peacefully because of him.” The other people agreed with Jack Marble. The chief took a deep breath, closed his eyes, opened them after 10 seconds and asked, “Can you make superhumans or not?”

“We can try our best.” said one of the scientists “But, what is the need of superhumans, can’t you army officers make another strategy and destroy that base with helicopters, or I don’t know rocket launchers? You told us you people managed to shoot some of those terrorists with snipers.” The chief agreed with his statement. “You are right, but the thing is a lot of officers died, they were not able to look for anyone, they couldn’t see anyone, bullets were being shot from thin air and the base disappeared too, we were looking at that base at one time and within seconds it was gone, I don’t know where it went but it just disappeared into thin air.” The scientists and doctors were looking at one another “I don’t know how you do it, but we need some extraordinary humans, a handsome reward will be awarded too. Any questions though?” The chief asked. All of them looked at each other and nodded “Thanks for your valuable time” the chief said, everyone stood up and left.

All of the scientists got to work including the Marbles and the Wilsons. While on the other hand new officers were being hired. The families of the diseased soldiers and officers were being compensated. Alfred and Justin grew up. Alfred turned 16 and Justin turned 12. After an year of testing and trial, one of the scientist managed to make an invisibility serum. Jack marble got a call and he switched on the television. A scientist named Sherdon was flaunting his serum on live television. He put the serum inside a syringe and inserted into a 35 year old muscular guy. The person's body started disappearing slowly and eventually he turned invisible. "Well done, Sherdon!" said Jack Marble cheerfully while looking at the television. The people were able to see a chair randomly being lifted up in the air and was kept down after a minute. After the chair, a pool table was being lifted up and was kept down again. The scientist then inserted another serum inside his body and the guy turned back to normal and appeared from thin air.

"Why are we lacking behind?" groaned Alice Marble (Justin's mother). Sherdon managed to make an invisibility serum within a year, whereas the Marbles and the Wilsons couldn't get past the animal trials. They were making a super speed serum but whenever the rabbits drank it, they fainted. They called Sherdon, to ask about the secret formula his team was using, but he didn't pick up their call and texted them, 'I ain't revealing anything!'

The Wilsons and Marbles were sitting in a state of confusion, nobody knew what to do now. "Should I order a pizza, maybe that would help with some brainstorming?" asked Venita Wilson (Alfred's mother). The group agreed, pizza came and all of them relished the pizza. "Maybe it's the heating that is needed." Jack Marble stood up and shouted, "and a little bit of water". Jack got out of the chair, heated the liquid that they were working upon. The liquid started boiling, added some water to it and made it rest.

Within a matter of time, he made the rabbit drink that liquid. The rabbit fainted again, but woke up after a minute. His eyes turned golden from red. The rabbit sped up and bashed his head in the cage. He took two steps backward, sped up again, and bashed the cage he was sitting inside. “Woah, calm down buddy!” Jack marble said in excitement. Another test was held, this time it was on a chimpanzee. The chimpanzee’s nervous system is similar to that of humans. The creature was taken out from the cage and was made to drink the serum. The creature fainted, Albert Wilson took the chimpanzee to the small room and closed the door.

The cameras were installed inside that room, all of the people gathered behind the screen and saw the chimpanzee fainting on the floor. After half an hour the chimpanzee woke up, scratched his head and sped up from one location to another within 2 seconds.

All of them jumped in excitement, they added more water and after a matter of time the serum was finally ready for human trials. Albert called the chief and said, "Our serum is ready for human trials too!!" Next day, all of them put the serum into a test tube and rushed towards the research laboratory where they were told to go to.

The chief opened the door and congratulated them all. The whole media was present with all sorts of lighting and cameras for live broadcasting, some were inside the laboratory and some were outside. The same muscular guy was called and was made to drink the serum. He fainted. "Uh, is this norm...?" the chief asked. "It's a part of the process." Jack interrupted and smiled. The muscular guy woke up, ran and within a second, he ran from one end of the room to another.

"Woahh!!" the paparazzi who were present outside the room watching the show from the TV screen shouted. The muscular guy again took a running stance and within a second he reached his original position. The whole world was looking at them and started clapping. "Yes, you saw it right, we have actually made a serum that makes a human run at the speed of sound." Albert snatched the mic from one of the reporters and shouted. The whole crowd, that were sitting in their homes, the reporters and the paparazzi started clapping. The muscular guy took 3 rounds of the whole room within 3 seconds.

Jack asked for the bag from Alice. She handed him the bag, he took out another test tube, inserted the liquid inside an injection and inserted it into his body. The muscular guy fainted and within a matter of time his powers were neutralized. "We need more of those!" Chief shouted excitedly "Why not make some other variations like invisibility, shapeshifter and something like those people have in the Fantastic 4."

"It isn't as easy as it seems to be." Jack chuckled nervously "It took us around a year to make one of them." The Chief's phone rang, "I will have to take this call!" he told the people and ran outside. The paparazzi were clicking photos of the Marbles and the Wilsons, they were the new talk of the town. A lot of people were taking their autographs, and they were signing everywhere, “Notepads, tissues, papers, hands and some of the crowd even wanted their signatures on their chest! “That will go off when you bathe.” laughed Mr. Marble while signing one of the guy’s chests “I will never bathe!!” he screamed.

The signing was done, some were clicking selfies with the so called ‘human wizards’ or ‘superhero wizards’ or ‘superscientists’. The chief called them inside after an hour and told the paparazzi and the media to leave. The paparazzi, the media, the fans, all of them went away.

“We need 4 more of those and make sure all of them are of different varieties. These are the prime minister’s orders. You can take help of Sherdon, and the reward will be distributed accordingly.” The chief told the two families. “He doesn’t reply to our texts though.” said Mr. Wilson “He is not the kind of person any scientist or doctor would like to work with.” The chief laughed. “Well, it’s your call, the crime rate has significantly reduced after our attack on the enemy’s base but still you never know what they are up to.”

“Uh, one more question.” Mrs. Wilson interrupted “Who is going to drink all of these serums and guard the city?” “Can u keep a secret, Venita?” the chief asked. “Sure!” she agreed. He pulled her close and said something in her ear. Venita laughed, “Are you sure about that?” she asked. The chief shook his head in excitement, smiled and went away. The other people tried asking her, but she didn’t utter a single word. “It’s a secret.” she said. All of them headed towards the car and drove off.

The houses of the families were close by. While the families worked in the laboratories, Alfred used to call Justin over after school and used to order all sorts of junk food including Pizza, Pasta, macaroni, burgers, dim sums and many more. In the evening, they used to play football in the nearby park and in the night, they did their homework, ate dinner made by their mothers, got scolded for ordering junk food on a regular basis and slept.

One fine day Venita and Albert came home and saw 2 boxes of pizzas, one packet of chips, and half eaten box of dimsums on the floor. They went inside and saw both of them playing on the PlayStation. Justin looked at them, jumped out of bed, put on his shoes and ran for his life. “Why don’t you learn to cook?” Venita asked Alfred. “They have opened a whole restaurant for people like us, why even bother going to the kitchen?” Alfred laughed. “Ya well, it costs money and sadly we don’t have a money plant that produces dollars or cents on a daily basis!" Venita scolded Alfred. Alfred frowned, switched off the PlayStation and went to bed.

Months passed, a similar schedule was followed, they managed to make invisibility and shape shifter serum too. They used it on the chimpanzees, and more of them. Apart from these all of them are having superstrength and automatic healing properties too. If we add some more chemicals in super speed, the person who drinks this serum will also have X-ray vision and can see through walls, vehicles, roads and other stuff. Any more serum ideas?"

"Well fantastic 4 has that guy named human torch doesn't it and I saw Alfred was watching that animated movie 'The Incredibles' in which that guy throws ice from his hands." Mr. Albert explained. "Why not combine both of them and make a serum which contains both the abilities of Fire and Ice?" "Won't it lead to complications in the nervous system?" Mrs. Wilson asked, "The person's veins will have both fire and ice running inside his/her veins, which could seriously be an issue." The discussion was being made and finally after considering a few more points and safety measures, the process to make the serum started.

Four serums were made, and the final one was left. "I think we have done a lot of work today; we must pack our bags for today and discuss about the other serum tomorrow." Mrs. Marble exclaimed "It's already 9pm, if we get a little bit late, Alfred's going to make another restaurant rich." All of them laughed, packed up and exited. When Mrs. Marble was getting inside the car, she saw a small black child begging for money. She called him close by and that boy came running towards her "What's your name?" Mrs. Marble asked "Jonas." The child replied, "Do you have any cents, I can buy a sandwich from it." Mrs. Marble opened up her purse thought to herself for a while and said, "Why don't you clean the laboratory, I will pay you a dollar." Jonas jumped in excitement "Yes, sure mam, one dollar is a lot of money." Mrs. Marble smiled at him, gave him the keys and an old T-shirt which was kept inside the back seat of the car and Jonas went inside.

“Who is he?” Mr. marble asked. His wife narrated the whole incident to him, and they waited inside the car. After half an hour, Jonas came out running towards the car “It’s done mam.” Jonas smiled and handed her the keys. Mrs. Marble smiled at him, went inside and looked around. The laboratory was clean. She locked the door, headed towards the car, got in, took a dollar out of her purse and handed it to him. “Thanks a lot miss.” Jonas laughed in excitement. She pulled his cheek “How old are you and why are you begging?” she asked, “I’m 5 years old, my parents abandoned me when I was born, since then I beg and try to make a living.” he told her. “Just come by, I will assign you small tasks and will pay you accordingly.” Mrs. Marble exclaimed. He shook his head and ran away. Both drove towards their home.

They used to work on the new ice and fire serum and when it was time to leave, they used to tell Jonas to clean the laboratory. Jonas joyfully agreed and the women used to hand him a dollar every time. They started trusting Jonas so much that sometimes they even handed him the keys of the laboratory, drove home and Jonas would clean the laboratory and handed the keys to the Marbles or the Wilsons at their homes.

“What now?” Mr. Wilson asked the other people. The ice and fire serum was made eventually and still one serum was left to be made. “Any ideas for the new serum?” He asked. Everyone looked at each other and started brainstorming.

“We can make a serum, after which a person can spawn werewolves out of the ground.” Mr. Marble laughed and suggested. “Too scary and vampirish.” Mr. Wilson exclaimed “and those werewolves could be a problem for innocent civilians. We are trying to make superheroes not supervillains buddy.” “A serum that can actually help a person to make clones of himself and teleport anywhere.” Mrs. Marble suggested. “That’s a great idea, but we need something more powerful.” Mr

Wilson suggested "Something that can overpower all the serums and could be a gamechanger." All of them started thinking. "You guys saw Dr. Strange and Wanda vision? Can't we make a serum that can be something like that and has powers of both of those superheroes." Mrs. Wilson suggested "Great idea, but we want something more powerful, honey." "Only a natural calamity is more powerful than that" Mrs. Wilson got frustrated and groaned angrily. "Got it!!!" Mr Wilson jumped in excitement.

"We are going to make a serum in which on being injected into a person, he/she can spawn all the natural calamities. Earthquake, famine, cyclone and name it." Mr. Wilson jumped joyfully. All of the other people looked at him in a sense of disgust and disappointment. "You yourselves said we are trying to make superheroes and not supervillains and now what you are trying to say is that we are going to make a person who can spawn natural calamities?" Mr. Marble taunted. "It looks easy in the movies, but it's real-life buddy you can't just fly up in the air and make a tornado like those peeps from the X-men." "We can still try though, these people we are going against are always upgrading themselves and are hampering the peace of the town. One 10 magnitude earthquake and boom their base is done for." Mr. Wilson laughed.

More discussions were being made about the safety measures and the destruction that serum can cause. It was decided to take a vote. "It is toodangerous, according to me." Mrs. Wilson suggested "Honey, I thought you would support me?" Mr. Wilson frowned.

"I would support you at every stage of your life, darling but this is regarding the safety of the whole town." she told "I'm out." "What about you, do you guys have any more ideas or not?" Mr Wilson asked from the Marbles. The marbles began discussing and after fifteen minutes they both replied, "We are in!" Mr. Wilson's happiness had no limits. "We can continue working on it from tomorrow, it's already 9.30pm." Mr. Marble exclaimed. Mr. Wilson jumped in excitement and gave him a hug. They all went outside, Jonas came, and Mr. Wilson handed him 5 dollars “Enjoy buddy!!” he laughed. Jonas was excited too and all of them headed home.

The work on the natural calamity serum started and was in progress. “I have a question, who is going to be injected with all of these serums?” Mr. Marble asked. Mrs. Venita Wilson knew but she refused to spill out. “Oh, come on Venita, we have already done most of the work and it’s time to assign those powers to the respected people.” Mr. Wilson said. All the other people started insisting her “It’s the chief’s family!” Venita shouted. “Whattt?” the other people asked in a state of confusion. Mr. Wilson called the chief to confirm, and he said “Do you have a problem with that? I’m the chief of the army, my wife is a renowned doctor, my son is a martial arts champion, younger daughter is a runner and the smallest one, well she is in preschool, but she is going to grow into a wonderful woman too one day.” He told Mr. Wilson and hung up. “Woahh! That was quite a conversation and a lot of information to process.” Mr. Wilson chuckled nervously.

After a lot of hard work, the last serum was made. “It’s a special day tomorrow.” Mr. Marble said to the other people. “Anyone wants a pizza?” They all agreed. It was 6 in the evening, and they all relished a pizza with some wine. The work was finally finished; all the serums were finally made. “I think we should head towards our homes.” Mrs. marble told “Justin was having a hard time with his homework and if we took a little more time, Alfred is going to order those dim sums again and I don’t want my child to eat that junk on a regular basis.” Mrs. Wilson laughed and said, “That shop made quite a lot of money, didn’t they?” “The restaurant owner bought a brand-new BMW!!” Mr. Marble shouted. All of them were shocked and started laughing. The Marbles headed in their cars and drove off. Mrs. Wilson put all those serums in glass test tubes, took out a notebook, tore off the paper in rectangular shapes and started writing 'Super speed+ X-ray' she wrote on one of those pieces of papers, glued the paper and pasted it under one test-tube. 'Invisibility' she wrote on another one, pasted it on the mettalic stand under the test tube. 'Shapeshifter' she wrote and repeated the process. "What should we name the ice and fire one, honey?" she asked from her husband "Frostfire!" he shouted while he was keeping things at their places. She obeyed him "And the last one and the most dangerous." she said to herself. 'Natural calamity' she wrote and pasted the piece of paper on the stand.

It was 8 in the night Mr. Wilson kept all the things in their places. Mrs. Wilson kept the test tube stand on the table, took out some wooden caps, installed them on the mouths of the test tubes and headed towards the lobby. She held her husband's hand, pulled him towards her and started kissing him. "Woah, honey hold up." he told. She laughed and both of them went outside.

Mrs. Wilson: - I have put all the serums in the test tubes, tomorrow we are going to pick the stand and head towards the research laboratory.

Mr. Wilson: - What about those mice inside the laboratory, are they taken care of?

Mrs. Wilson: - I have installed those traps everywhere in the room, where those test tubes are kept and have also dropped rat poison, I don't think they will be a problem.

Mr. Wilson: - We can't take any risks, honey. It's an year's work. I have a plan.

He went inside the room where those test tubes were kept. He opened the nearby cupboard and took out a box of mettalic test tubes. He took out all those test tubes, opened the cap of a glass test tube, poured the liquid inside a mettalic test tube and kept the mettalic test tube at the place of the glass test tube in the test tube stand. Mrs. Wilson was heading towards the car when Jonas came “ Any work madam?” he asked. “Well, Albert (Mr. Wilson) took care of the cleaning, tomorrow’s a special day and we need to head home quickly, but I think I may have a small job for you.” Mr. Wilson, after replacing all the glass test tubes with the metallic test tubes, came outside. “Everything’s done.” he said cheerfully looked at the boy and said, “No task for you today, buddy.” “The main room needs some cleaning.” Mrs. Wilson said. “There was a lot of dust on the floor the last time I checked and the table is quite dirty too.”

He pulled her towards him and whispered, “Tomorrow’s the special day, honey, we don’t want anyone around that room anymore.” he whispered in her ear. “Jonas, go inside the room and do the cleaning that is required, and stay away from the test tube stand and on the table on which it is kept.” Mr. Wilson got frustrated and stamped his feet on the ground. “Arghh, you women never listen!” he groaned in frustration “Just stay away from that test tube stand, clean the table carefully or no need to even clean the table, just mop the floor and run home.” Jonas agreed, Mrs. Wilson handed him a dollar and the keys and drove home.

It was 3 in the night, Mr. Wilson woke up. “I just want to make sure that those test tubes are fine.” He said to himself, wore his crocs, took out his car keys, locked the door and drove towards the laboratory. The laboratory’s door was wide open which was highly unusual since Jonas used to lock the laboratory, handed the keys to either the Marbles or the Wilsons sincerely. Mr. Wilson sneaked inside the laboratory and went outside the room in which test tubes were kept. To his shock, the room’s door was wide open, he peeped inside and saw a 8 feet werewolf drinking those test tubes. “What the f..?” Mr. Wilson groaned in frustration.

The giant werewolf drank three of those test tubes and was about to drink the ice and fire test tube when Mr. Wilson crawled inside the room, hid behind a table, picked up a glass jar and threw it outside. The glass broke and the werewolf was shocked and looked around. He drank the serum which was in his hands and went out of the room. Within a matter of time he could feel the power within him. His veins became silver and golden blood started running inside him. His arms strengthened, his chest widened and his legs became stronger too. "Jonas, what have you done?" Mr. Wilson groaned in frustration.

Mr. Wilson crawled around the table, picked up the natural calamity test tube, opened the cap and drank it. The werewolf came back inside the room and growled.

The werewolf ran towards Mr. Wilson and was about to jump on him, when he punched the creature in the abdominal and it fell down and fainted. "Hail the super strength properties" Mr. Wilson said to himself. He ran outside and was about to unlock his car when he heard something bash against the wall. He looked behind and saw the werewolf looking at him and growling. The werewolf rushed towards him and was about to jump over him when he punched him again and the werewolf was thrown back.

He closed his eyes, made a small pistol from his fingers from both of his hands, combined them, and whispered "The storm must come." The black clouds rose up in the air and lightning's sound was heard. He raised his hand in the air, clenched his fist and pointed towards the werewolf. Within half a minute, the werewolf was struck with a bolt of lightning. He repeated the process 2 more times, and he was struck with two more bolts of lightning.

"He ain't getting up for a while or maybe ever now." He laughed and said to himself. He opened the door, sat inside the car and drove off. He was midway home when his car stopped suddenly. "What is happening?" he said to himself. He looked in the rear view and saw the wolf smiling and growling. He got out of the car and saw two of his back tires were frozen.

Mr. Wilson was agitated, he closed his eyes, closed his hand like he did before and said to himself “The famine must prevail.” The wolf was approaching the guy at a high speed when suddenly he fell.

He was holding his throat from both of his hands and was moaning in pain. The body consists of 60% water and the water inside the creature’s body dried up, its body went pale, and he fainted. “Oh boy, you messed with the wrong person.”

He said to himself “ Gonna call the forensics when I reach home.” He got back inside the car and drove back.

He reached home, got out of the car and rushed when suddenly something leaped on him. It was nobody but the werewolf. The auto healing properties of the werewolf were helping him come back to life again and again. He tried to kick the werewolf, but his efforts were useless. The werewolf growled and was about to bite his neck when he held his mouth from both of his hands trying to resist. "What are you doing?" the werewolf said in a female voice. "How are you sounding like my wife?" Mr. Wilson shouted. "Because I am your wife!" the werewolf shouted and slapped him. Mr. Wilson opened his eyes and realised he was holding the mouth of his own wife who was trying to wake him up.

"It was a dream!" Mr. Wilson smacked his face and said to himself.

"The famine must prevail!" Mrs. Wilson said angrily "What were you doing, trying to kill the whole world?" "I need to head towards the laboratory, something bad has happened" Mr. Wilson told his wife.

"We can check the footage if you want to?" she advised. "I want to check for myself." Mr. Wilson said, got up, put on his shoes, took out the car keys, left the room, headed towards the lobby and saw the laboratory's keys were kept on the floor. "Jonas must have kept it or maybe someone else did..." He thought to himself, picked up the keys, got inside his car and drove towards the laboratory.

It was 7.30am in the morning, he got out of his car, opened the laboratory, opened up the room where the test tubes were kept and got inside. He saw all the test tubes were kept in their places. The liquid was easily visible inside the test tubes since they were translucent. He had a sigh of relief. "It was indeed just a dream." He said to himself, locked the laboratory, got inside the car and drove back home.

He got back home, his wife was preparing pancakes for Alfred. Alfred was in 11th grade, he was sitting on the table and revising chemistry. "Everything's at it's place." He told his wife. "I am going to brush and take a shower while you prepare his pancakes and iron my clothes.” She agreed. “That supercool event is at 9.30 am isn’t it?” Alfred asked. “You are right, Champ!” Mr. Wilson said cheerfully. “Preparing for your test, huh?” “Yes!” Alfred said cheerfully “I am going to top for sure and after that I am going to brag that my parents are the ones making superheroes.” Mr. Wilson laughed, headed towards his room and went inside his bathroom.

He came outside and his wife went inside. Alfred had left for school. “Honey, pass me the towel will you?” she shouted. Mr. Wilson went outside, took out the towel from the stand and gave it to her. She took the towel and pulled him inside the bathroom. After half an hour, they both came back from the bathroom. Mr. Wilson looked at the clock and said “It’s 8.45 we must be leaving.” Both of them wore their clothes, locked the house and left for the laboratory. Mrs. Wilson went inside the laboratory, picked up the stand, kept it inside the car carefully and headed towards the research laboratory.

It was 9.35a.m when they finally reached their destination. Mr. Wilson picked up the test tube stand and went inside. The Marbles had already reached the place. “What took you so long?” Mr. Marble said in a state of confusion and frustration. “Some things are better left unsaid.” Mr. Wilson said and laughed.

Mr. Marble rolled his eyes. All of them went inside the auditorium.

The chief’s family was standing there in a line and all the paparazzi, cameramen and media were waiting for them. “Sorry for the delay.” Mr. Marble apologized. “Are all the serums ready?” the chief asked. “Ready and fit to consume.” Mrs. Marble said excitedly.

The chief offered them water and told them about his desire to record his family’s transformations on live television. “Isn’t she too small to be a superhero?” Mr. Wilson said pointing towards the chief’s 3-year-old daughter who was in preschool. “Ya well, she is going to feel left out if she doesn't get a superpower." The chief explained "She is my daughter, and she is strong enough to handle it." the chief explained. "These serums work only on O+ve and AB+ ve blood group and I hope your family has met the requirements." Mr. Marble said. "I talked to Venita, she took our samples, we are good to go buddy." Mr. Marble looked at Mrs. Wilson and she shook her head in agreement.

"Let's start the show!" chief said joyfully. They all got ready and took their positions on the stage. The crowd gathered inside the auditorium and the director who was holding the camera said "Lights, camera and action!!" Mr. Wilson walked on the stage and started talking " Ladies and gentlemen, the crimes in the city are increasing drastically, a lot of cameras were installed, policemen were recruited and other precautionary measures were taken but these criminals just find a new way to commit crimes and hinder the peace of the town, So, we people decided to make some special type of serums." He took out a test tube from the test tube stand which his wife was holding. "These serums are no ordinary serums; they convert a person into a superhuman and the person who drinks them will have extraordinary abilities that no ordinary human possesses. I know you think that I am joking, and all of this is not possible or is only seen in movies and novels but trust me your myths will be broken today."

"This test tube that I am holding is the Invisibility serum. The person that drinks it can become invisible and cannot be seen even after wearing the most expensive specs, glasses or lenses. Apart from invisibility, the person is going to have super strength and can punch a hole in the wall if she wants to." he exclaimed.

"She?"Mrs. Wilson asked "Yes, my lady, because this serum is assigned to the smallest member of the Margaret's family, Christie Margaret, she can go invisible, punch a hole in the wall and you know the best part no one can hurt her because all these serums come with auto healing properties, even a single wound gets healed within a minute.”

The crowd cheered, he took out a small beautiful red bangle from his pocket and spoke “Since christie is too small to handle these powers, this bangle will help her to contain her powers and not misuse them or cause destruction.” He gave the test tube to Christie; she smiled excitedly and drank the serum.

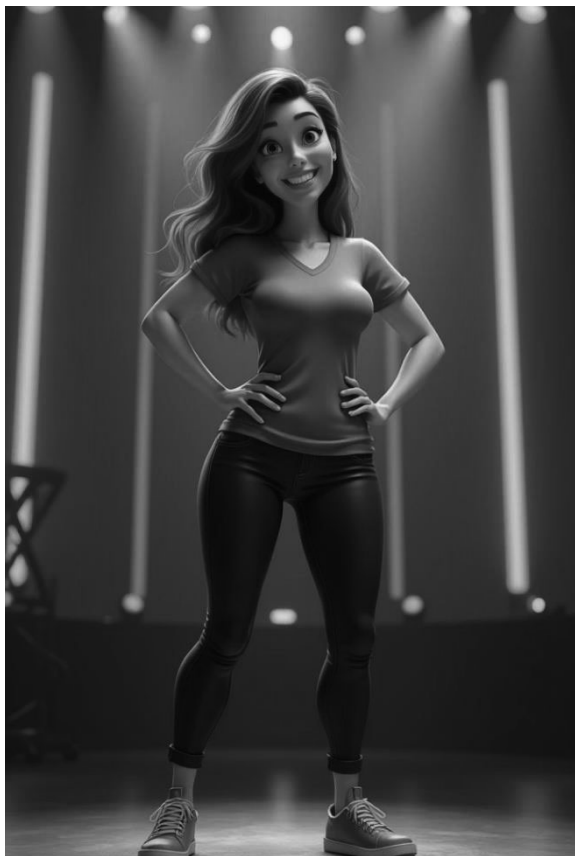

He went towards her wife and took out another test tube from the stand “This test tube contains the super speed serum. The girl who drinks it can run at the speed of sound, and apart from high speed she is going to have X-ray vision that can help her to see through things. Walls, bodies, bags, you name it, she can see through anything. Closing eyes for 10 seconds straight and boom you are the next Lady Flash. The super strength and healing properties are common in all the serums.” “Another she?” his wife asked “Yes, Mrs. Wilson because this serum is allotted to the second child of the family Bracy Margaret!!”

The crowd cheered and he happily gave the serum to the 15-year-old girl. She was excited and drank the serum. He took out the third test tube and started speaking “This serum is one of the coolest and most popular serum. Have you guys seen X-Men?” The crowd cheered “Yes!!!” “Do you guys remember Reed Richards, who converts himself into objects?” “YES!!!” the crowd cheered. “This serum is the shapeshifter serum that can help a person to convert into anything say an aircraft, a BMW bike, A sniper, just name it. We needed a strong guy to handle this serum, so we decided to assign this serum to the eldest child of the family Bravard Margaret!!” he shouted after holding the mic.

The crowd cheered, he gave the serum to the 17 year old bulky guy and he drank it. He took out the fourth test tube and started speaking “This serum is the frost fire serum. The person who drinks it will possess the ability to throw ice, make snowballs, snow slides from one hand and fireballs, flame dragons and make molten lava from another one. I know I sound childish I really do but you never know what crime or sadistic plans these criminals plan and we really needed something to overpower them in ways they could never even imagine. Any guesses who is going to drink this serum?” “CHIEFF!!!!” The crowd shouted “Nahh, it's his wife, raise your hands in the air for the coolest superhero in town Mary Margaret!!!!” he shouted.

The crowd cheered in excitement, some were clapping and some even started dancing, he handed that test tube to the woman and she drank it. He took out the last serum from the stand and shouted, “This is the strongest superpower among all of them, something that can outpower all the remaining superpowers, something that has never been made in any movies or any novels, the natural calamity serum!!!!” he shouted. The crowd wasn’t cheering this time, they were just looking at each other, some were scared, some were silent, some were talking to each other silently. “The person who drinks this serum can actually spawn natural disasters. Earthquakes, tornados, storms, you name itt!!” he shouted excitedly. “This serum will be consumed by the strongest member of the family, the chief himself.”

He gave the last serum to the chief, to their surprise the crowd did not cheer in fact they were scared, whispering to each other. The chief asked the cameraman to stop rolling and the cameramen obeyed instantly. "Are you guys out of your mind?" the chief dragged Mr. Wilson backstage, the other members followed too and asked from the squad. "We needed something that can overpower of all the other superpowers, these criminals are a real menace to the society, you never know what they are planning, something like this could actually be a gamechanger." Mrs. Wilson exclaimed "So are you going to destroy the whole town with an earthquake just to stop a small robbery or a small theft?" the chief asked in a frustrated tone. "Or are you going to flood the whole town just to stop a small drug smuggling?"

"If you guys want us to leave the town, we can, there is no need to find a reason to vanquish our existence." One of the crowd member said. "We need protection, not dangerous natural disasters." another one shouted. The chief came back on stage with the mic and gestured the cameraman to roll and spoke "Calm down guys, no need to panic, we are all here to help all of you and since this is the most powerful and the most dangerous serum out of all the other serums, I pledge to never misuse the serum in any way and to use it only in the worst circumstances."

"We don't trust you. 55 soldiers were killed because of your dumb plan." one of the crowd members angrily shouted and the other people agreed and began shouting. "Nothing will happen!" Mrs. Wilson came on stage, took the mic from the chief and spoke "Proper training will be given to each and every member of the chief's family regarding how to use their powers. Our sole motive is protecting all of you from any kind of harm. You never know what these felons are up to!"

She calmed down the crowd and Mrs. Marble gestured her thumbs-up from backstage.

The crowd was finally calm, and the chief drank the serum. "How much more time will the transformation take place?" the chief asked.

“Just 5 more minutes.” Mr. Wilson looked at his watch and told the chief. The crowd was waiting, they were all scared as well as excited and were looking at the family. Some were not even blinking.

After a minute the chief started scratching his neck from the backside and said, “I feel a little bit itchy”. “Me too!” his wife mentioned. “The transformation is in process.” Mrs. Wilson told them smiling. Within 2 minutes the whole family was scratching their necks, and the chief’s body started disappearing into thin air. “EHH? That was not supposed to happen, or was it?” Mr. Wilson wanted to confirm his doubt from his wife. She nodded in disagreement and gulped. “Where is my husband?” his wife asked and within a second, she was backstage. “How is she running so fast, what is happening?” Mr. Marble asked Mr. Wilson.

All of the people on the stage were confused. “Is it part of the show?” one of the crowd members asked. “The acting is quite genuine though!” another one exclaimed. “Wasn’t I supposed to have the super speed?” Bracy asked, stomped her feet in frustration and looked up. Within a second she converted into a pistol and a bullet shot up in the sky. The bullet hit the rod that was holding the curtains and it was going to fall down when Bravard tried to defend himself and his younger sibling from the rod and ice shot from his hands, freezing the rod and the rod crashed on the ground and broke.

The crowd started clapping and were cheering, they were actually thinking it was all staged but none of it was. “Who has the natural calamity?” a voice came out of thin air. Everyone was looking at one another whereas Christie started sobbing. “No, No, No!!” Mr. Wilson tried to calm her down, but it was too late. Christie was frightened by the rapid incidents that were happening and cried.

The earth started shaking. The crowd that was cheering earlier started to scream and run out of the auditorium. The lights began falling, some of the crowd were injured by the stampede and some of the crowd was injured due to lights falling upon them. Mrs. Wilson dashed backstage, picked up her purse, took out a pacifier, ran back on the stage and put it in the mouth of the little girl. She stopped crying but it was too late.

The hall was a complete mess, there were blood stains on the floor, some people fainted since their heads were hit due to the lights which fell upon them. The hall was empty, glass was scattered on the floor “Are you guys here to protect us or find new ways to hurt us?” the girl screamed angrily and tried to wake up her father who fainted due to the light that fell upon his head. A phone was seen flying in midair, 911 was dialed and the phone flew at a higher height. It was the chief who took out the phone from his pocket, dialed the number and kept it towards his ear. “Hello 911, please come it’s an emergency!” A voice came out of thin air.

Ambulances were called, the other scientists came too, sirens were wailing and the people were sent to the hospital. Janitors came inside from the backstage and were cleaning the scattered glass and the blood stains “Just raise both of your hands in the air chief, make a strong fist and clash them together.” Mr. Wilson instructed the chief, he obeyed and was visible again. “What have you guys done?” the chief asked.

Chaos in making

The auditorium was empty. The crowd ran home, the cameramen, the media and the paparazzi were instructed to go home. The janitors cleaned the room and went inside. The chief's phone rang "It's the prime minister, I have to take this." he exclaimed and went backstage. His family was looking at the scientists in a state of disappointment. "Well, I mean I am happy I always wanted to be the Frost-fire." Bravard said and laughed "I'm gonna make some hot super models from that ice and spawn a drag..." "Shush!" his mother Mary calmed him down.

The marbles and the Wilsons were standing quietly with their heads down, they all were in a state of confusion and ashamed of the menace they caused. The chief came inside "What is this? What have you done? You were introducing and allotting superpowers to all of us but the powers that we got are completely different." he remarked "Any justifications?" "We seriously don't know what has happened, Mr. Margaret." Mr. Marble justified "We did all the work, went home early and the final touch was to be given by the Wilsons." The chief looked at the Wilsons "I gave the final touch, labelled all the test tubes correctly, but all the test tube's liquid was transferred into metallic test tubes by my husband."

The chief rolled his eyes "I did transfer all of the liquid into the metallic...." "Just come to the point!! If you didn't mess up who did?" The chief screamed in anger. "The CCTV footage will tell..." Mrs. Wilson mentioned. She went backstage and took out her phone, a cable and her laptop, went towards the desk near the stage, put the laptop on the desk and connected both. She opened up the app and all of the people gathered around the laptop. She fast-forwarded the footage. All of them saw Mrs. Wilson pasting the paper slips on the test tube stands and Mr. Wilson coming back inside afterwards and transferring all of that liquid inside those metallic test-tubes.

After a few more forwards they saw Jonas entering the room with a cloth. He cleaned the whole room and within half an hour that room was shiny, he was about to exit when he stopped near the door. He looked at the table and began cleaning it. "I specifically told him to stay away from that table." Mr. Wilson yelled angrily. Everyone was looking at the footage. After the table was cleaned, he began cleaning the legs of the table. "Why doesn't this stain go?" he said to himself. "Just go home!" Mr. Wilson groaned in frustration "It's a recorded footage, he can't hear you." Mrs. Wilson shouted. Jonas was seen wiping that stain from the table leg, "Why won't it go?" he said to himself and rubbed the table leg so harshly that the table shook, and all the test tubes fell from the stand. All the people smacked their faces in disappointment.

Jonas was seen panicking and picking up all of those test tubes from the floor. Luckily, the test tubes didn't break since they were transferred into metal test tubes by Mr. Wilson. Jonas was seen installing all those testtubes into the stand randomly, since he was just a child, he had no knowledge that which serum belonged to which hole. He was seen wiping his sweat from his clothes, left the room, locked it, and was not seen thereafter.

“I told her to not let him enter today, but she never listens!” Mr. Wilson groaned angrily at her wife “You have spoiled our one year’s work. It was the god’s sign; I knew that dumb child would do something. She never listens, why not do the dusting by yourself or it could have been postponed for the next day, why....” Everyone was trying to calm him down. Albert calmed down and he narrated the whole night’s incident to the people. “Calm down, calm down!!” the chief yelled, “First of all, the transferring of the serum into the metallic test tubes was an applaudable idea.” The chief patted Mr. Wilson’s back and he smiled.

Name of the member	Abilities they were supposed to get	Abilities they accidentally got
Chief	Natural calamity	Invisibility
Mary Margaret	Frost-fire	Super speed with X-ray vision
Bravard Margaret	Shapeshifter	Frost-fire
Bracy Margaret	Super speed with X-ray vision	Shapeshifter
Christie Margaret	Invisibility	Natural calamity

“We need to analyze the situation first. The invisibility powers that were supposed to be allotted to Christie have accidentally been allotted to me, the super speed that belonged to Bracy has been allotted to my wife Mary, the shapeshifter that belonged to Bravard has been allotted to Bracy, the frost fire which belonged to Mary has been allotted to Bravard and my superpowers have been allotted to Christie, am I correct?” The chief asked. “Correct.” Mr. Wilson said. “According to you guys, are there any complications that my family can face with the wrong allotment?" he asked in a low tone. "Your son Bravard may have some issues in his nervous system, since his nerves contain both ice and fire, your daughter Bracy may not face any issues, but if she converts into an object say, a metallic shield, she could protect you from bullets but she may get hurt when she comes back to human form since she doesn't have a good body built as Bravard has and Christie, well she needs to be taken proper care of. If she cries, the whole world's going to cry." Mr. Marble explained to him the whole scenario.

"Can't you guys neutralize their powers and replace them with safer ones?" Mary asked. "The neutralizer is going to take some time; we can neutralize Bracy's powers but the frost fire and natural calamity's cannot be neutralized as easily as the other ones could be." Mrs. Marble explained. The chief called his wife backstage for discussion. The rest of the children were looking at each other. "What if I get a fever? Will my body get hot due to the illness or will it freeze because of the ice running inside my veins." Bravard asked the scientists. "Just take a medicine and you will be fine buddy." Mr. Marble explained "Your veins are not red or blue as they were before, they are golden and silver now. Red blood doesn't flow into your veins now, golden blood does. Your blood has automatic healing properties, even if you don't take a medicine, you will be fine within an hour or two." "Cool!!" Bravard cried excitedly.

The chief came inside with his wife "Just neutralize Christie's powers, she is too young to handle such a strong power and I have talked to the Prime minister, he found your work quite astounding and wants you to make more of these serums." the chief told the squad. "Your son may experience some issues in the night, there is a high probability that" Mr. Marble was about to finish his sentence when the chief interrupted and said "Just give me the medicines with the prescription, you guys have already made a lot of mess, I have a lot of explanations to make to a lot of people. We will stay in touch and communicate accordingly in order to avoid any further complications." The squad agreed. "Just make sure, Christie is properly taken care of. You could hire a babysitter, give her everything she wants but never let her cry because you never know about the consequences.” Mrs. Marble warned the family. “Noted!” Mary replied and all of them parted their ways.

Next day, a media outrage was created in front of the chief’s house, The chief along with his family was heading towards his office and everyone was questioning him “Why did you and your family consume the serum rather than giving them to some qualified professionals or athletes?” “Who is Jonas, is he a criminal, a miscreant or a robber?” “Was all of that staged or was it a mishap? The allocations made by Mr. Wilson was completely different than the allocations that were actually made, was he joking?” and many more illogical and insane questions were being asked by the media. “No questions.” The chief said and went inside his Mercedez.

He drove to his office and called Mr. Wilson “What’s the status of the natural calamity neutralization serum?” he cried loudly on his phone. “It’s in proc....” “Speed up! Stop being a turtle!” He groaned on his Iphone and hung up. “The training area is ready chief.” His secretary came inside the room and told him, he gestured his family to head towards the area. Christie was going too, he held her hand, “It’s not for you, sweetie pie, you are too small for this.” “What should I do then, daddy?” she asked politely. “You like Barbie dolls, don’t you?” The chief went towards his cupboard and took out a small barbie doll set for her “Here you go, princess.” The little kid started playing with the barbie doll.

The chief sat on his chair, rested his head on the chair and dialed a number. “Hi, Mr. Margaret this side, I wanted to hire a babysitter.” Within an hour a 5 feet blonde lady wearing a blue T- shirt and black denim was called. The chief told her about the situation, she was a little bit frightened. “Don’t worry, she is a sweet Kid and not one of those crybabies.” The chief calmed her down. He called his wife from the training grounds. She was 5 km away practicing her super speed and hitting a target with her super punch, after hearing the chief’s voice she sped up and within 5 seconds, she was standing in front of the chief. "This serum is incredible." she said excitedly. The chief smiled and introduced her to the babysitter. They talked for a while; Mary told her everything to the babysitter from her likes and dislikes to her hourly tantrums. The babysitter laughed and Mary dashed towards the training grounds.

While the chief's family's training was in progress, the Wilsons and the Marbles were deeply engaged in making different types of serums as well as a serum which would be used to neutralize the natural calamity serum. Due to the learning curve effect, it didn't take them a lot of time to make new varieties of superpower serums, but a lot of efforts, time and resources were made to nullify the natural calamity's effect whereas their efforts were a waste of time, money and resources.

On the other hand, Elle, Edward's daughter, was having a hard time dealing with the trauma of her father dying. She was taken to a lot of places including amusement parks, functions, shopping malls, lavish restaurants but none of them worked. Even a hefty amount of cash couldn't replace the sadness caused to her by her parent's death. Her mother was having a difficult time too, she talked to Edward's mother (Elle's grandma) who was a retired lawyer herself and everyone was having a tough time. She tried going on dates, tried connecting with various guys, but Edward's personality was irreplaceable and so she decided to spend more time with Elle.

Elle was taken to a magic show where the magician was showing some amazing tricks, He took out a small bamboo basket, put it on a table, looked at the audience and said, count with me, the audience shouted "1...2....3." The magician made a hand gesture closing all of his fingers slowly in a witchy way, picked up the bamboo basket and 2 pigeons flew into the air. Everyone cheered, Elle was shocked. Afterwards, he gestured to someone from backstage.

A hot blonde wearing a bikini came from the backstage, everyone cheered, and the boys started whistling, the magician asked the blonde to lay on the table. The blonde did as instructed. "Ooooo, magician's getting naughty." one of the guys shouted. The magician stared at the guy, put his right palm in the air and pointed towards his wedding ring.

Everyone started laughing, Elle smiled too. Within a minute he took out a small blanket, put it on her secretary, and told the audience to count to three. "Please don't make her disappear!" Another one of the guys shouted, the crowd started laughing, Elle giggled too. "1....2.....3" the crowd shouted, he did the hand gesture, lifted the cloth and within a minute his secretary disappeared. The crowd cheered in excitement. "Her boyfriend won't be happy!" one of the crowd members shouted and the rest of the crowd started laughing, Elle was laughing too. Some more magic tricks were performed by the magician and more sarcastic comments were made by the crowd and everyone was having a good time, including Elle.

The magic show ended, and Elle went home laughing "Her boyfriend won't be happy." she said to her mother laughing "The best one was when the magician took out a deck of cards and everyone started calling him a gambler, poor guy." Her mother was happy seeing her daughter finally laughing after months of tears and a deep state of depression.

The training of the family was finally completed after 3 months and it was time for action. The chief came in touch with the new police chief Edwin. They deliberately recruited a guy whose name was similar to Edward in order to pay him regards. Edwin came out as a 5 feet 4 inch muscular white guy who was really passionate about his career and loved to serve his town.

After a few days, the chief was deriving a strategy on how to destroy that supervillain's base which ate up half of his force as well as the police force. They called it the Base- H. He was about to draw the whole base on a chart paper when his phone rang. "A bank robbery has taken place in the nearby bank." Edwin spoke to the chief "Our forces have gathered but the robbers are threatening to hurt the hostages if we come any closer.” “Time for some adventure!” The chief told his family.

They sat in the Mercedes, Mary instructed the babysitter about everything, she agreed and went inside to take care of Christie. All of them headed towards the bank and stopped the car far away. The chief raised his hands in the air, clenched them and hit them together and within a few seconds, he was invisible. Bravard snapped his right hand's fingers two times, and a fireball came out of his mere hands. "Cool!" he said. Bracy converted herself into a tranquilizer gun. Mary picked up the tranquilizer gun (Bracy), whispered something in Bravard's ears on dashed inside the bank.

Within a second, she stole all the robber's guns, got out of the bank and threw them all away. The robbers were stunned, they were having assault rifles in their hands and within a second their hands were empty. They all wondered what happened. "Why are you guys wearing masks and entering the bank, the air's quite fresh here, you can avail the services of the bank without wearing them too." Mary mocked the robbers. She took out tranquilizer gun and shot 3 of them one by one. The rest 4 started panicking, one of the muscular guys started running towards Mary and was about to punch her when he froze. "Ooh, winter's here." Bravard laughed while freezing the robber in midair.

The 3 robbers remained, one of them took a knife and threw it at Bravard. The knife was about to hit Bravard, but it was stuck in midair, changed its direction, flew towards the robber who threw it and struck in his abdominal. "Ughh!" the robber cried in pain and fell.

The two robbers were in a state of confusion and had no idea what happened. They took out pistols from their jeans, picked one hostage each and threatened "One step closer and we will kill them both. We know it's you Mr. Margaret, wherever you are reveal yourself, hand us all the money else they are going straight up heaven." The family was frightened. Everyone was looking at each other, nobody knew what to do.

Mr. Margaret revealed himself. "Here you go, just let those guys go." he tried to talk to them calmly. "Just hand us the money, we ain't murderers." One of them said. Bracy being the tranquiliser gun was resting inside Mary's backside of the jeans. While the conversation was going on she converted herself into a coin and jumped out of her jeans. Mary felt something leaving her jeans but she didn't utter a word. The cashier reluctantly opened the drawer and was taking out money, while Bracy was flipping her way towards the robbers.

Due to the small size, no one noticed her, she flipped her way slowly and steadily behind the robbers, converted herself into a high-quality suction vacuum cleaner and within a minute, the robber's guns were sucked inside the vacuum cleaner. “Whatt?!” the robber said to themselves, “Well done, princess!!” The chief shouted, Bravard froze another one of the robbers, Mary dashed and punched the second robber in his face so hard that he was knocked out.

The whole crowd cheered; the first mission of the chief’s family was successful. The chief called Edwin, he sent his police force inside the bank, ambulances were called, and all the hostages were rescued successfully. The media came outside, everyone was rewarding the chief and his family, everyone thanked Bracy for her quick minded move, which was a total gamechanger. “If it was not for you, the bank would have been robbed, and the hostages could have been killed too.” one of the media guys praised her. “She’s a Margaret, she is supposed to be a genius.” The chief flaunted. After a lot of pictures and autographs everyone went home, and the robbers were sent to prison.

The squad looked at the media and laughed “These superpowers are in right hands.” Mr. Wilson told the other members. The other members looked at the news, laughed a little bit and got back to work. The babysitter was taking good care of Christie, she gave her whatever the little girl wanted, say chocolates, candies, teddy bears, barbie dolls, her task was simple ‘Not to let the little girl cry.’

Days passed, the chief was deriving a strategy to destroy Base- H. The base was a little bit different than they imagined since it disappeared when anyone came close to it but was visible from a distance. “Looks like these people have either made the invisibility serum before us or they are using some kind of hi- fi technology.” Mary suggested “The invisibility serum can hide the men but what about the whole base?” The chief exclaimed. “Maybe the base is an illusion in itself and the real base is somewhere else.” Bravard suggested. “Nah, the base is there only, Me and Edward shot some of those culprits from our snipers and we actually saw them dropping down.” The chief cleared his doubt. The chief’s phone rang, it was Edward “Chief, we may need your help here, there are these tall muscular men who are smuggling drugs, many of them have snipers, we can stop them but a lot of them are trying to get away in a motorboat.” “Pack up guys, duty awaits.” The Chief told all of them.

They reached the place and saw that there were around 25 armed men guarding the place and forty men in the groups of five were loading the drugs in motor boats. “These school’s and college’s spoiled brats are helping them earn hefty profits” the chief groaned in frustration. He derived a strategy and within a minute Edwin along with his army officers gathered around the shipyard. They slowly crawled around the place, took positions and started firing. The robbers were stunned too, some were shot in the gunfire and some were hiding behind crates trying to defend themselves.

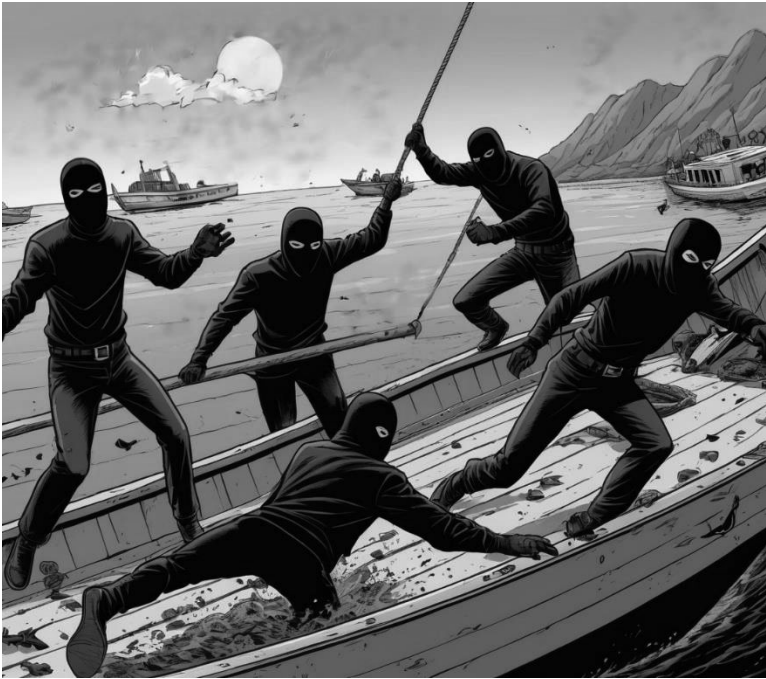

“We don’t need to worry about the bullets, since we have auto healing properties and of course the armor doesn’t need to be mentioned.” the chief informed his family. “Our sole motive is to not less those motorboats get away, Bracy and Bravard you guys are going to stop the motorboats whereas me and Mary will take care of these delinquents.” They all agreed.

The chief turned invisible and ran as fast as he could and punched the smugglers who were hiding behind the crates. Mary dashed and did the same. “Should I freeze the whole water, there boats won’t move, lol.” Bravard joked. “Your ice is not that powerful Bravard.” Bracy suggested “I have another plan.” she said something in his ear, Bravard gave her a high five.

The boats were loaded and began to leave, everyone was engaged with the criminals, some of them were wearing bullet proof armors and were giving a tough fight to the Margaret’s as well as the officers. “Their armors won’t break.” one of the officers told Edwin “Just keep firing, the metal will get incinerated slowly.” Edwin suggested. He told another officer “Bring more ammo it’s going to be a long battle.” The officers did as they were suggested. On the other hand, Bracy converted herself into a metal boomerang. Bravard picked her up, put her in his pockets, looked up in the air and emitted fire from both of his hands.

Within a minute he was 1000 m above the ground. He flew towards the motorboats which were driving away, approached one of them and threw the boomerang. The boomerang hit all the robbers. Some were knocked out of the boat, and some got knocked out inside the boat. The other 7 boats started firing bullets at both of them. Bravard who was still flying made an ice shield from one of his hands and caught boomerang with the other one. The bullets eventually hit the ice shield and dropped into the river. One of the boats stopped, he shot up into the air came back at a lightning speed and threw the boomerang again.

The boomerang hit all the robbers and everyone was knocked out of the boat. Two boats were stopped, 6 remained. The boats were heading towards the opposite side of the shore at a very high speed. “This process will take a lot of time.” he told Bracy. “Just make an ice baseball bat.” she told him. He did as instructed. Bracy converted herself into a pitching machine with wings . “Imagination has no boundaries, does it?” Bravard laughed “Nah!” Bracy replied. The pitching machine started flying in midair, the miscreants started firing at the siblings but Bravard made a fire shield in the air which eventually melted the bullets that approached them.

The device started firing balls in the air, Bravard rolled his baseball bat, and started hitting them. The metal balls hit the miscreants on their heads, body parts and some were even knocked out by the constant blows. “Arghhh” some of them shouted in pain. Eventually 5 of the boats were stopped, the scoundrels were knocked out, some were in the water trying to swim but due to the heavy armor they began sinking inside the water. The last boat was moving at a much higher pace and was a kilometer away from the shore.

The miscreants were having a rocket launcher and fired a rocket at the siblings. “Watch out!” Bravard shouted, he held the machine in his hands and dodged the rocket.

The smugglers were firing acid bullets on the siblings, many of the bullets were being dodged but many of the bullets hit their armors too. Eventually, Bravard’s armor was incinerated, and he was bleeding. Bracy converted herself into a metallic shield to protect her brother. The wounds began to heal, Bravard was angry he snapped his fingers two times made a fireball and threw at the miscreant. “Ahhhh!” one of the miscreant moaned in pain since his body was burning, he repeated the process with other miscreants too and burned them alive. “What are you doing?” Bracy shouted “We are not murderers, you could have just frozen them.” “They deserve to die, and if you interrupt you die too!!” Bravard shouted in a deep scary tone, his eyes turned completely orange and even the eyeballs weren’t visible. Bracy converted herself into human form and slapped him “Woah, what was that for?” Bravard shouted in his normal voice and his eyes turned back to normal. “What did the serum do to you?” she asked.

All of the boats were stopped. Bracy and Bravard returned back to the shipyard. Their parents knocked out all of the smugglers and many of them were dead too. "Are there any casualties?" the chief asked Edwin. "None." Edwin smiled and said cheerfully. "Of course, we are superhumans, we won't let a single man down." the chief laughed. Rest of the police officers, ambulances, forensic experts were called and drugs were confiscated. The chief and Bravard were entertaining the paparazzi, Mary was going too but Bracy pulled her "Mom, I have something to tell you." Bracy narrated her the whole incident "He threatened to kill you, let me go and put some sense into him!" Mary was angry and started heading towards the guys "It wasn't him, it was the serum." Bracy pulled her again and whispered. "When the bullets hit him, he bled for a while, maybe the hurt turned him into a baddie or something, let the paparazzi go, else they are going to make an issue out of this too."

Mary agreed, both headed towards the paparazzi, posed for the magazine, gave a fake smile and told nobody about the dangerous incident. Next day, the incident was narrated to the chief, he panicked a little bit and called the squad "You messed the ice and fire serum too, didn't you?" he groaned in frustration "and how are these smugglers having the bulletproof armors, you trading the town's safety for some bucks?" "First of all, we didn't mess up anything, all of the serums are designed in such a way that if any of you supers are hurt, the auto-healing properties are used to heal those wounds, the healing process may have some impact on the brain since a lot of blood is pumped which may lead to aggressive behaviors and other weird things that you told, but nothing is going to happen since that's for sure as we tested the serums on chimpanzees and they never attack each other. Second of all we didn't supply those armors to anyone without your or Edwin's permission. These felons are improvising day by day, it's better to make a plan and destroy Base- H once and for all." Mr. Marble told the chief politely.

The chief agreed and asked “What about the neutralization serum?” Mr. Marble took a deep breath and said “It’s in progress.” “I am just going to tell the other scientists to work on it as well, priority must be given to the neutralization serum.” he told him and hung up. The chief called the other scientists as well and told them to work on the neutralization serum. Everyone agreed.

Weeks passed, the strategy to destroy base H was almost ready when chief’s phone rang. “Some people are carrying arms and acid in trucks, they are saying that they are not carrying any acid but something seems suspicious. We may be needing your help.” All the other members got up, On seeing her family get up Christie asked “Where are you going?” “We are just going to protect the city.” Mary told them. “I want to go to.” she said. Everyone was looking at each other “Why not play with that new game I bought for you?” the babysitter told her. “No, I don’t want to play, I want to go with you guys.” she cried loudly and started sobbing. “We will be back in a while, honey.” Mary tried to calm her down while the babysitter wiped her tears from tissues, tried to pick her up in her lap but she refused to go into her lap.

Christie was still sobbing, everyone panicked, Bracy could feel some tremors and said "Fine, come with us, but you will sit in the car and won't come out, fine?" Christie agreed and the tremors stopped.

The whole family including the babysitter sat inside the car. Christie sat in the backseat in the babysitter's lap. They drove towards the hill and stopped the car far away. "Mary, speed up and run towards that hill." The chief pointed towards another hill which was far away but at the same height. "The trucks will be coming this way we need proof that they are carrying acid; your X-ray vision will help us do the same." Mary agreed and dashed. "Take care of Christie and stay inside the car, if anything happens, call me." The babysitter agreed, gave Christie her phone and within a minute Christie was busy playing games on her phone. The rest of you will come with me. The 3 people went up the hillside.

"Did you feel the tremors?" one of the officer asked the another one "Nah man, I was talking to my girlfriend, she is a disaster in herself if I don't pick her call." the other officer laughed. The three people reached the toll booth where the trucks were supposed to come. The officers stood up and saluted the chief "They will be here in half an hour, sir." one of the officer told the chief. The family waited on the hillside, the trucks came and stopped. "These are just teddy bears, nothing else." one of the truck driver told the chief. There were 5 trucks, Bravard opened up all of them, got inside, checked and saw nothing but teddy bears inside plastic boxes. "There are partially filled test tubes in all the trucks." Mary told the chief in his air pod "Do you see anything son?" The chief asked Bravard while he was standing outside the truck. "I see only teddy bears packed in transparent plastic boxes, dad." Bravard replied from inside the truck. "I see test tubes inside the truck, Bravard is standing in." Mary told the chief. The chief was perplexed.

The chief got inside the truck and told Bravard to get out. He picked one of the plastic boxes . "The test-tube is in your hand." Mary told the chief. He opened up the box and threw the plastic box away “It’s still in your hand, be careful.” Mary told the chief. Three men came outside the truck, the chief was standing “Our owner will scold us if any damage is done, these are just teddy bears, nothing else.” One of them told the chief in a low tone. The chief looked at the teddy bear closely, its nose was slightly tilted, he grabbed its nose and tried to pull it out and to his surprise it did come out. Rather than cushion or cotton there was a deep hole inside the teddy, he put three of his fingers inside and took out a test tube.

“Just teddy bea..” the chief was about to finish his sentence when the men took out their pistols and tried to fire at the chief. The chief turned invisible and Bravard froze three of them within a minute. More men came out of the trucks and started firing at them. Bracy turned into a tranquilizer, the chief held her and tranquilized many of them. “Call reinforcements now!” the chief told the officers. The officers obeyed the invisible chief. Another truck came at a swooshing speed filled with culprits, and within a minute, the whole family was surrounded with men having assault rifles in their hands. Mary was watching all of it from a distance and was about to dash when she saw something unusual. “Sit down on your knees!” The culprits told the family, and they obeyed but within a minute, dust started to fly. “What is happening?” one of them asked Bravard “I don’t know man, we are superhumans not gods, we don’t control the air.” Bravard replied sarcastically. They were all looking at each other and within a minute a cyclone was created. All the criminals one by one got stuck inside the 20 feet tornado, some of them were astounded some started firing at the family, but Bravard made an ice shield, and the bullets were not able to penetrate the shield. Bracy turned into a tranquilizer, chief turned invisible and fired at them while Bravard was defending all of them with his ice shield. One by one everyone got struck in the tornado and flew far away while some fainted by the shots from the tranquilizer gun. They looked around and saw Christie flying in midair, both her hands creating the tornado. “Stop the tornado now, Christie.” Bravard shouted. “I don’t know how to stop it.” the little girl cried.

The tornado was so strong that even the trucks got caught up and flew far away. Mary saw the truck flying, she applied her physics and figured out the place where the truck will fall. She dashed towards the specific place, caught it with her bare hands and kept it on the ground. Slowly more trucks were caught and even the family was having a tough time holding ground. “I have a plan!” Bravard screamed, he punched the ground and asked Bracy to stand on the ground. She obeyed him and turned into an 8 feet iron pole. He froze the bottom of the iron pole in such a way that the iron pole doesn’t get shaken up by the tornado. Everyone held the iron pole trying to protect themselves from being killed. More trucks were flying in the air, Mary dashed and caught 3 of them, but one truck still remained.

Bravard was holding the iron pole from one hand and throwing ice at the tornado, but it was taking time to stop, eventually the cyclone stopped but it was too late. The heaviest truck got caught up in the cyclone and was in midair. “I have a plan” the chief said and murmured something in his children’s air “Become a bullet” The chief told Bracy. Bracy did as instructed, the chief put the bullet, loaded it into a gun and fired. Bravard flew too. The truck was in mid air and was about to hit the ground when Bracy hit the ground and turned into a trampoline. The truck hit the trampoline and flew again. Bravard flew, stood on the ground and made an ice slide. The truck landed on the slide, slid its way down and finally landed safely. Bracy turned back into her human form but was hurt after the heavy truck hit her. Her head was bleeding endlessly, and she fainted.

The reinforcements and ambulances came, Bracy was taken to a hospital and everyone was looking at Christie and the babysitter angrily. “You were assigned one task!” the chief scolded the babysitter. “I tried to engage her as much as I could but she wouldn’t listen and was throwing a tantrum to go out. We got out and saw all of you surrounded, she got angry, started flying into the air and rest is history.” The babysitter explained everything in a frightened tone. “I could have come and steal the felon’s rifles, what was the need of making a whole cyclone?” Mary asked Christie frustrated “I was trying to protect you guys.” Christie justified in a low voice. “What if those trucks hit the ground, exploded and toxicated the people around the city because of the biochemicals present inside it?” Mary scolded Christie. Christie looked at the ground and didn’t utter a single word. The paparazzi came and started with their irrelevant questions “Was that cyclone planned?” “Why are toddlers involved in solving crimes, aren’t they supposed to study and play?” “What if the trucks collided and exploded?” They were all onto the family with their questions. “No questions please, we have work to do.” the chief told them politely, hopped inside the Mercedes along with the family and drove towards the hospital.

“Bracy is bleeding endlessly, the auto healing properties are working slowly but the bleeding won’t stop.” One of the doctors told the family “She is in the operation theatre now.” The chief called Mr. Marble and told him about the whole incident, “Nothing’s going to happen if her heart is beating.” Mr. Marble assured him and calmed him down. The squad reached the hospital, Mrs. Marble and Mrs. Wilson were trying to calm Mary down, who was a little bit emotional and was crying endlessly. The doctor came out and informed the family “She is going to be fine, just needs a little rest, nothing else.” The people took a sigh of relief after hearing the doctor’s statement.

Weeks passed, the chief asked about the status of the neutralizer serum from Mr. Marble “The natural calamity neutralizer serum is ready but isn’t fit for human consumption due to high level of acids present inside the liquid.” The chief was relieved that they were progressing rather than lying. The strategy to destroy Base-H was finally ready. The family hopped inside the Mercedes; Christie threw a tantrum once again. The chief didn’t utter a single word and stared at her with big eyes. Christie stopped shouting and began playing with her toys. They all drove towards Jamberi.

On reaching the desert, the Chief stopped the car far away from the base where they could not be seen. Chief went invisible and was about to head towards the base, when Mary asked, "Are you sure, you are going to go alone." "Yes, don't you guys remember the plan." The chief headed towards the base, nobody knew about his existence and the base was visible. He reached towards the gate; it was locked. The armed men were guarding the door, and some were on the terrace. "It's teatime!" a voice came from the inside "Nobody's around, you can take a break." The guards on the terrace went inside. The terrace was unguarded, chief knew about it, took the opportunity and knocked out a guard, the other guard was shocked seeing his friend knocked out from thin air and was about to take out his walkie talkie when the walkie talkie was stolen from his hand, crushed into pieces and within a minute, the chief punched his face, and he was knocked out too. Nobody had a clue that the guards on the door were knocked out.

The chief broke the lock from his punch, closed the gate and went inside. The base was a huge white building and there was a big gate which was the entrance of the building. There were bunkers outside but since it was tea-time many of the people were inside the building. The cameras were installed everywhere but the guards were on a break too. Nobody knew about the silent break-in.

The chief hid behind the door since opening the door could raise suspicion. Two of the miscreants opened the door and walked outside "Time for some weightlifting, really need to strengthen my biceps and the core." one of them said to another. The chief took advantage of the opportunity and went inside the base. There were 6 rooms inside the base and hundreds of miscreants were seen. Some were sipping tea and having lunch inside the 'cafeteria', he walked further and saw a 'training room' where some were practicing how to use assault rifles, pistols, shotguns and many more stuff. On walking further he saw a 'fun' room where these people were playing games, playing ice hockey and many other mini games.

He walked further and saw a 'bar'. Loud volume music was playing, the felons were drinking beer, talking to women, some were dancing on the table, and some were on the DJ. "These rascals have built a whole mall inside." the chief said to himself.

He walked further and saw a weapons room, but it was locked. 'Using superstrength and getting inside may raise suspicion.' the chief thought to himself 'Roaming around could be a better option, maybe someone opens the door, and the mystery will unfold.' There was a room named 'storage' but it was locked too. Moving further he saw a 'control room', it was empty. He went inside and saw different cameras, he wanted to delete the footage but didn't want to take any risk. The chief saw a staircase and went down the stairs.

"Holy shit!" the chief said to himself. Two soldiers were walking by "Hey, did you hear someone say holy shit?" One of them asked the other one "Stop smoking pot on duty, buddy." the other one mocked and both of them kept walking. To the chief's surprise, there was a whole factory that was producing the cruelest technology ever. Laser guns, invisibility serums, machines were installed all around the factory, guns were being made, yellow liquid was being poured inside the test-tubes and was being injected into soldiers, the soldiers were becoming invisible.

In the middle of the factory, there was a big yellow button. The chief went close by and saw 'Emergency hideout' written on it. The place was filled with felons. One of the soldiers had 'newbie' written on his T-shirt and was nearby the button "Stay away from that button." One of them told the other one "It is used only when police officers try to approach the building." "What does this button do exactly." the newbie tried to clarify "The whole building goes invisible first, the upper floor comes down and combines with the basement, the soldiers drink the invisibility serum, pick up assault rifles, climb up and start defending the base.” The felon clarified the newbie. “Woahh!” the newbie cheered and the senior continued showing the newbie the rest of the base. The chief was shocked too.

“Dumb people don’t even know the basic rules of English that the first letter is always capital.” The chief said to himself while looking at the newbie’s t-shirt.

“I heard they tried to attack the base from the ground.” The newbie asked. The officer replied “Yeah, they did but unfortunately the drill opened inside the training grounds, they sent those tanks too, a lot of our men were killed by the tank fire and the sniping. But you see we are always a step ahead. One of them pressed the emergency button the base went invisible, the upper floor combined with the basement, while our men drank the invisibility serum and rushed upstairs with their assault rifles. Those officers didn’t have a clue what happened, they threw smoke grenades in the training grounds, came out but couldn’t see anything or anyone. Our men on the other hand, saw them and started firing with their assault rifles. 55 of them killed by invisible people, our men were so trained that those officers didn’t get a chance to fire a single bullet.”

The chief's eyes were filled with tears, and he was raging in anger. He wanted to avenge his soldiers but couldn't do so since he was outnumbered. The chief finally knew how they were doing everything, he controlled his emotions, went further and saw a bike being transformed into a truck, bulletproof armor was being made, acid bullets being made and many more.

"What are those laser guns for?" the newbie asked one of the felon "They will be used to incinerate the supers if they tried to hamper our work. These guns are in development but once they are completed, nobody can stop us, we can rob Guatesaram and be the richest people in town." The felon answered and laughed.

The chief was frightened, he climbed up the stairs, exited the building, and was about to leave when the siren started wailing. "Someone knocked us out, close all the doors, press the emergency button, we have a scout inside the building!" One of the guys who was guarding came rushing inside and warned the soldiers. The gate was automatically being closed but the chief ran at the highest speed and slid outside the building. The gate closed behind him.

The family was frightened "Is dad caught inside the building?" Bracy asked her mom "Nah! I don't think so and even if he was, he is smart enough to defend himself." Mary proudly told her daughter. The chief ran and finally reached where his family was waiting for him. Within a minute, he was visible again putting hands on his knees and huffing.

"What's in there, what are they up to?" Bravard asked. The chief caught his breath and narrated everything. "These people are smarter than we thought and they know that we are here." "Why didn't you call us? Bravard asked. "They are too powerful, they are making laser guns, that can incinerate us" "The anti healing properties will help daddy!" Bracy told. "What if they incinerate the heart, once it stops beating, it's game over, sweetheart." the chief replied.

The fall of Base-H; Triumph and tragedy

“We will be needing Christie.” The chief told the family. “She is too dangerous and can be problematic for all of us.” Mary remarked. They all looked at the base- H but the base was invisible and couldn’t be seen. “They can be stopped but could be stopped only by us!” the chief told the family. “How much food have we got in there?” “Enough to survive for four days.” Bravard answered. The chief took out a sandwich and began eating it.

“So are we going to wait here, go back or are we going to attack the base.” Bravard asked “We can’t go back, those guys know we are here, Mary use your X-ray vision and see if any of those have drunk the invisibility serum or is coming towards us.” Mary used her X-ray vision but didn’t see anyone coming towards them. The chief took a sigh of relief. “I can see some of them guarding the base, one of them is on a call with someone.” Mary told the chief. “Mom, what else do you see, please tell us too, because we ain’t seeing shit.” Bravard laughed “No bad words.” his mother scolded him.

After a while a truck came, a lot of people came outside from the truck guarded with black armor and having assault rifles in their hands and gathered around the truck. A white person came out in a white lab coat and black jeans. "Holy sh..." she looked at her children, didn't complete the sentence and said "It's Sherdon!"

The chief was shocked and yelled, "I drank coffee with this guy, and he is the one behind this, the creator of the first and foremost invisibility serum Mr. Sherdon Winskey!!" All of those people headed towards Base- H (which couldn't be seen) and after a minute the people couldn't be seen thereafter.

After some time, all of those people got back inside the car and were about to drive away. The chief turned invisible, took out a gun, installed a GPS tracker inside a small magnetic stone, loaded the stone inside the gun and fired at the truck. The magnetic stone installed itself on the truck, the chief took out his tablet and within a minute their location was being tracked. The base could be seen again.

"First, we destroy the base and then we hang this traitor." the chief told his family. It was midnight, the chief turned invisible again and headed towards the base. The duties were changed, more guards were guarding the entrance now, They were more aware and were more proactive than they were before. "Could there be a possibility, the supers are here?" one of the guards asked the other one "Man, I hope not, because if they are, we all are going to jail, I find the chief's daughter hot though, what's her name?" The other one asked. "Bracy!" a voice came from thin air.

The guards were confused and were about to fire from their assault rifles when chief held both of their heads and slammed them together. Both of them were knocked out, he took out his tablet and within a minute all of the cameras were jammed. He broke the lock, signaled Mary and she sped up. She held the chief's hand and within a second both of them turned invisible. "This isn't the correct time for romance." Bravard joked from a distance. "They are trying to get inside the base, stupido.” Bracy corrected him. Bracy turned into a tranquilizer gun and Bravard flew into the air, he fired tranquilizer darts on the guards that were guarding the terrace and they slept.

The chief along with his wife went inside, all the rooms were locked except the control room. Two of the guards were trying to figure out why the cameras weren’t showing anything, he was pressing buttons randomly and was about to pick up his phone and call someone but the chief and Mary knocked out one guard each. “Do you need any help, dad?” Bravard asked from his father “Not yet.” he told him through the airpod.

Both of them headed downstairs and saw all of the miscreants gathered together and were looking at the staircase having laser guns in their hands. “Surrender or you get incinerated!” one of them said looking at the staircase. Mary held the chief’s hand tightly and sped upstairs, they fired laser, but the lasers never hit any of them, since they were invisible.

All of the crowd rushed upstairs and were about to exit the staircase when an orange gorilla came out of the ground and blocked all of them. All of them stopped. “I know it’s kiddish but you see nobody’s going to remember anything when you are in hell.” Bravard taunted. The gorilla punched a whole group of felons, and they cried out loudly and were burning in flames. They tried firing laser guns at the gorilla and Bravard, but the laser couldn’t get past the lava that gorilla was made of.

Bracy turned herself into a rocket launcher, the chief picked up the launcher and fired at the crowd. A lot of felons were bleeding, the 50 feet gorilla was punching all of them one by one and all of them were burning in flames. Mary sped up, stole their laser guns and incinerated them with their own guns. Within an hour all the felons were killed.

“Mission accomplished!” Bravard shouted excitedly. “Not so soon.” A voice came out of thin air and a hand was seen holding a laser gun that penetrated Bravard.

“Arghhhhhh!!” Bravard groaned in pain, fell down and fainted. Mary looked for the culprit but couldn’t find him anywhere, she saw a laser coming out of thin air towards her but dodged, sped up and tried to punch the air but nobody could be seen. The chief felt a punch on his back, tried to fight back but was unable to do the same. Bracy turned herself into high quality X-ray goggles, Mary picked them up and saw the invisible felon. He was a 7 feet guy and punched the chief again and again but whenever chief tried to fight back, he dodged.

Mary sped up, rushed towards him and punched him in his face. He was knocked out, she climbed up on him, held both of her hands and made a punch “That is for Bravard and those 55 martyred soldiers.” she said, landed the punch in his neck and broke his neck.

Mary eventually got up. Reinforcements were called, ambulances were called, Bravard’s liver was incinerated, and he was having a hard time breathing too. He was rushed towards the hospital, and the family went towards the hospital too. “He will live.” The doctor calmed the family down. “Just feed him nuts, tea, beans, fish and give him a diet which is good for his liver, the auto healing properties will cure the liver slowly.” The family gave a sigh of relief. “Does he drink?” the doctor asked. “He started recently, when he just had a break...” Bracy was about to finish her sentence when the chief and Mary were looking at her in a state of confusion and curiosity. “When he just had a breakfast of oats, and the oats didn’t digest and he drunk because it was....” “No, he doesn’t drink, doc!” Mary told the doctor.

The base- H was finally destroyed, the crime rates significantly reduced. The whole base was seized by the police force. Eventually, the scientist and other felons were tracked and caught too. The chief started giving yoga classes in the morning, Mary continued her doctor’s job, Bravard was in 11th grade, Bracy was in 9th grade, whereas Christie joined the same school in which her siblings were studying. Guatesaram was a peaceful town now.

On the other hand, Alfred, Mr. Wilson’s son was having a difficult time studying chemistry so he used to go to the laboratory and his parents used practical examples to teach him chemistry. One fine day Alfred went to the laboratory and took Justin too. They both ordered a pizza and Alfred was being taught about various chemicals by his mother, while Justin was figuring out whether science is a good option in 11th grade or not after seeing the amount of stress, Alfred was having. Alfred went inside the washroom and suddenly the earth started trembling.

Alfred came out instantly whereas Justin was already out paying the pizza guy money. “Do you feel the tremors, Justin?” Alfred asked, “A little bit.” He replied, gave the cash to the delivery boy and he left. The tremors started increasing, the chemicals began falling down and within a minute the whole laboratory was in flames. “Run outside and call the swag family!” Alfred’s father shouted. Alfred and Justin ran outside, their parents tried to escape too but the flames blocked their paths and they were stuck inside.

The family was called, it was 1 a.m. in the night, Mary and Bravard rushed towards the laboratory. Bravard started freezing the whole place from the outside but the flames kept leaping outside. Mary dashed inside and picked up Justin’s father who was trying to pick up the fire extinguisher but was knocked out after glass fell on his head, penetrated his head and he was knocked out. She picked him up and dashed outside. Her body was burning “I need you inside, Bravard, the flames won’t stop.” Bravard rushed inside jumped on a table, then on the second one and froze the whole place.

“Mrs. Marble and Mrs. Wilson have dust allergies, that’s why they fainted!” Mr. Wilson exclaimed to Mary. “Do you need help picking them up, Mom?” Bravard asked. “Just pick their phones, they may be having some important data inside.” she told Bravard. Bravard did as instructed, went outside, handed the cellphones to the kids and shouted, “Mission accomplished!!” “You froze the basement where the flammable chemicals were kept too, right?” Alfred asked. “What basement?” Bravard asked, his smiling face turned into a normal face.

Mary on the other hand managed to pick both the women on her shoulders, held Mr. Wilson by his waist, was about to exit the laboratory and was 2 seconds away from the exit when “Boom!!” The whole laboratory exploded including Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Marble and Mary inside it. The kids saw their parents die in front of their eyes.

A radiation was released all over the town, no one knew what it was. Justin and Alfred were standing on the ground, their bodies were frozen still. "What have you done??" Alfred screamed, jumped into the air and was about to hit Bravard with a flying kick when Bravard froze him midair. Alfred fell on the ground; his whole body was covered with ice. "Unfreeze him or you will kill him too..." Justin screamed and tears were rolling down his eyes. Ambulances, police cars and fire trucks came. Bravard released fire from his other hand and melted the ice Alfred was covered in. Mr. Marble was put inside an ambulance and was taken to the best hospital. The other four people were taken out of the broken laboratory and were taken to a hospital too. Bravard's hands were being cuffed "What are you doing? I didn't know about the basement!" he yelled and tried to resist "Mother told me to get out of the laboratory and hand them the cellphones, I did as I was instructed." "Take him to the police custody for being highly irresponsible." Alfred groaned in frustration.

The marbles and the Wilsons were taken to the best hospital. Mr. Marble was taken inside a room whereas the other people were taken inside the operation theatre, efforts were being made to rescue Mary, Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Marble and Mrs. Wilson but they didn't seem to come to life. On the other hand, something extraordinary was happening in the town. It was 4.30 am, the chief woke up, looked for his family members and didn't find Mary and Bravard, "They would have gone on another mission without me." he said to himself. He brushed, put on his shoes and went to the park to give another yoga session. "You are late, Mr. Margaret." one of the old people said. "Yes, I'm sorry, let's continue with the session." the chief told them. They started with the Kurmasana, when something spooky happened. There were children who were playing football and one of them instantly collapsed. His nose and ears were bleeding, foam was coming out of his mouth "What? What happened?" the children were frightened, some of them picked him up, one of them called 911 and took him to a hospital.

“Watching Instagram reels all day, looking at women, drinking beer and smoking all day, what else is going to happen?” one of the old men said and the other started to agree with them. The chief was perplexed and a little bit tense, they continued with the yoga when he saw another ambulance coming and picking up three other people who were going through the same condition. They were put on a ventilator and were taken inside an ambulance. The chief’s phone rang “Dad, we need your help!” Bravard screamed, “What happened?” the chief asked “Just come on the location.” Bravard said and the phone hung up. Within a minute a location was sent to him. “I need to go.” Chief told the old people “But we just started, we won’t pay you for this session.” one of the old people said, “You don’t pay for me any session, it’s a free course!” the chief reminded them “Oh, yes I forgot.” the old guy said and the other men laughed too.

“These dumb oldies will chew up my brain one day.” the chief said to himself. The chief ran towards his home, picked up his car keys, and headed towards the location. His car was stuck in the traffic jam, ambulance sirens were wailing, police sirens were wailing too. The whole town was in a state of chaos. “Hey, do you have any idea, what has happened.” the chief turned his window down and asked from one of the ambulance drivers “I have no idea, those superscientist’s laboratory has exploded, cases are being reported, people’s noses and ears are bleeding, whereas some people are as healthy as a bowl of vegetables, running around as if nothing has happened.” the driver told him.

The chief was perplexed. He drove his car when he saw something unusual. He saw a big white guy coming towards a little girl, the girl was scared. “Hey!” the chief shouted stopped the car and was going to help the girl when the girl screamed at the white guy who was about to leap on her “Get away from me!”, pushed the guy and within a minute that guy was frozen and was covered with a thick layer of ice. “Eh?” the chief wondered “How did you do that?” the chief asked the girl. “I don’t know, I just pushed him and he froze in ice.” the little girl said. She looked at her hands and was herself scared looking at them. The chief asked about her parents, called them, and within half an hour, her parents came, thanked the chief and took her home. “Just take special care of her.” the chief told them.

The chief hopped back into his car wondering what was happening. He reached the destination. Bravard’s hands were cuffed, and he was surrounded by some police vehicles. “What happened?” the chief asked and Bravard narrated the whole incident to him. “Where are the superscientists?” the chief asked. “They all are inside the hospital and your wife; she may not come back to life too.” one of the officers told him. The chief was tensed, took a deep breath and said “See, my son is a good guy, he never had any intention to kill anyone, kindly release him.” “We can’t, orders came from above.” the officer told him, chief called Edwin, within a minute the officer's phone rang, he picked it up, "Yes sir!" the officer said and opened Bravard's handcuffs.

Both hopped inside the Mercedes and rushed towards the hospital. "Call Bracy and tell her to come to the hospital too." The chief told his son, he obeyed the instructions and called her. They finally reached the hospital. Justin and Alfred were sitting outside the operating theatre, both were looking down, neither of them uttered a single word. The doctor came outside from the operating theatre. Both stood up. "Mr. Marble's body is a bit burned but he will recover, whereas the lads caught up in the laboratory have a very little chance of survival, efforts are being made, best doctors have been called." "They must live." Alfred shouted, held the doctor's collar, the other people separated them.

Bracy came to the hospital too and was told about the whole incident. "I can save Mom!" she said excitedly "But how, her heart has stopped beating?" Bravard asked. "Just take me to her, I know the process." Bracy told them. Bracy was taken to the operation theatre. Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Marble and Mary were laying down in the same room on different beds, their bodies were rotten black, efforts were being made by the best doctors to save them and restart their heartbeat. "Where's mom?" Bracy asked. She was taken to the last bed on which Mary was laying down. She tried to hear her mother's heartbeat but was not able to hear anything. She said something in Bravard's ear. "Are you sure, it will work?" he asked, Bracy shook her head, took two steps back and converted herself into a small robotic bee. Bravard opened his mother's mouth and she went inside. "What are you two siblings up to?" the chief asked angrily after seeing Bracy going inside Mary's mouth. "She can bring mom back to life." Bravard told his dad excitedly.

Bracy went inside her mother's mouth, flew through the food pipe and reached the space between the heart and the lungs. Her wings were covered in golden coloured blood, she flew backwards and hit the heart once but with little force. Nothing happened, she repeated the step again, nothing happened, she repeated the same step again and again and eventually Mary's heart took a beat. The chief saw the beat in the heart rate monitoring machine, numbers started to come up on the device. "Honey is coming back to life." the chief looked at the device and said cheerfully. Bracy kept on repeating the process, and eventually the heart beat monitor started making more waves. "I choose door 3!" Mary opened her eyes woke up and shouted.

"Mom, lay back down, Bracy is inside you." Bravard screamed in excitement. She lay down again, coughed and saw a small metallic bee covered in golden blood coming out of her mouth. It stood on the ground and converted back to her human form. "How did you do that?" one of the nurses asked "Can you revive the other people too?" the nurse asked in excitement. "We would love to, but we can't." Mary told the nurse “We supers have auto healing properties due to which the heart could be made to beat again if hit with some force constantly. The same process may not work on humans.” “It’s never bad to try though.” the nurse insisted.

Bracy went to the bathroom, took a shower, the nurse gave her clothes to wear and took the golden blood covered clothes to the laundry, she wore them and came out. The doctors were working and were putting in their best efforts to revive the scientists but their efforts were going down the drain. Bracy took two steps back, converted herself into the same metallic bee and entered into Mr. Wilson. She repeated the same process but his heart didn’t take a single beat. Justin and Alfred were called inside too and were being made to see the family attempting to revive their parents. Mary used her X-ray vision and instructed Bracy step by step which nerve to hit and which nerve shouldn’t be.

While all of this was happening, the police station was in a state of confusion as well as astonishment. Their cameras were showing unique incidents that were happening inside the town.

One camera showed a small child being chased by 5 elder bullies, unfortunately the small chap’s cycle struck a stone and he fell. The officer on duty instantly called the other officers and told them to rush to that place. The officer continued to watch the show. The bullies made a circle around the poor child. They were heading towards him slowly and steadily, asking for his lunch money, when the small child closed his eyes, looked down frightened and suddenly disappeared in thin air. “Huh?” the officer said to himself and wondered what happened.

“Where did he go?” one of the bullies asked the other one and the others started to look around, eventually the police car came and caught them. “Hey have a look at this one.” the other officer told him. Both the officers were looking at another camera where a big masculine 6 feet guy was seeing thrashing his 5 feet 2 inch girlfriend.

The officers called and instructed the cops to rush to that specific place. "How dare you say shit about my family." the girl groaned angrily in frustration and punched that guy. The guy went flying into the air and fell down 20 metres away from the girl.

"Woahh, does feminism include these things too?" the second officer asked the other one "I don't know man, I am a guy just like you!" the officer answered. The girl was looking at her fist in astonishment. She picked the guy up and started to do bicep curl with the fainted guy. "These shorties are crazy." the officer said to another one and laughed while the police car reached the place.

A lot of other incidents were reported too, where some people were running at such a high speed that camera's speed need to be slowed down in order to see them dash, some people were seeing converting into airplanes, making the road their runway and taking off. Some school children were seeing cloning themselves and hitting each other for no reason. Werewolves were running openly on the streets.

"What is going on?" Edwin shouted, "Where is the swag family and why is that plane taking off in the midst of Downtown?" He screamed angrily at the officers.

Police officers hopped in their cars and jeeps and within a matter of time police sirens were wailing. SWAT trucks were called, helicopters were whirring, werewolves were being tranquilized and were being put inside the trucks. While on the other hand, Elle and her mother were sleeping peacefully that night.

When the earthquake occurred, she along with her mother rushed outside the house. All of them were talking to each other. "Can I go inside mommy?" Elle asked her mother after some time since she had no one of her age to talk to. Her mom shook her head and Elle went back inside and laid down on her bed. She was sleeping peacefully when she felt a swoosh of air. When she woke up, her hands a little bit itchy, she scratched them and went to sleep again instantly.

Edwin called the chief and told him about the situation. The chief was shocked "We were actually trying to revive the super scientists." the chief told Edwin, put the call on hold and asked "Will you ladies be able to manage yourselves while me and Bravard go and solve the mayhem outside?" The women agreed, chief and Bravard exited the hallway. "We need a facility to contain these unwanted supers, how is Mr. Marble?" the chief asked Bravard "He is recovering." Bravard replied "He will be in a state to speak after few days, I guess." They both rushed towards Downtown. The chief called the other scientists and told them about the situation.

"All of you are being requested to stay calm and do not misuse your powers in any manner, I repeat do not misuse or use your powers at all, since all of this is leading to accidents, havoc and distress among the civilians." Edwin shouted through the control room mic and his voice was being heard by the civilians. The ambulances were still running across downtown, a lot of people calmed down themselves, but some did not. Some people were running at high speeds for no reason, Bravard flew in the air, matched their speed and froze them. Some were spawning werewolves from the ground and were knocked out from thin air (by the chief of course). A person was running; Bravard saw the shoe prints on the grass, snapped his fingers two times, made a fireball and threw a fireball at him. "Ahhh!" the man groaned in pain and revealed himself. Bravard extinguished the fire by releasing ice with his other hand “You are not the only mischievous person in town.” Bravard laughed. The police were handcuffing and putting all the mischievous goons one by one into the police cars.

The chaos was slowly put to rest. The civil engineers were called, and an empty building was being converted into a facility which could be used to contain all the unwanted supers. The chief and Bravard rushed to the hospital and saw all the people frowning. Mary, Bracy, Alfred, Justin and all the doctors were looking down at the floor. “What happened?” the chief asked. “These losers couldn’t save our parents.” Alfred screamed in frustration. “We tried our be...” Bracy was going to finish her sentence but was interrupted by Alfred abruptly “They made you, they are the reason you all are superheroes. Your lives were made exciting because of our parents otherwise you all were just a random family trying to meet ends.” Alfred shouted in frustration. “Your fame, money, power, everything was awarded to you because of our parents, I will sue you all for the damages, I will tell the paparaz....” Alfred was about to finish his sentence when Justin shushed him and tried to calm him down.

Alfred pushed Justin away and continued shouting “This stupid woman Mary, why is she alive? Why isn’t she dead in the fire too just like my parents and Justin’s mother? Why is she alive and sympathizing for us, rather than being in heaven?” “You say another word and you are dead.” Bravard shouted, snapped his fingers twice and made a fireball. “Calm down.” the chief held his hand tightly. “The serum that your parents made had auto healing properties, pounding the heart from the inside made it beat significantly but the same didn’t work with your parents.” Bracy told them. “Their hearts have stopped beating, injecting serum could have helped before but it won’t work on dead bodies.” “I will sue you all!” Alfred shouted, held Justin by his hand, rushed outside, stopped a cab and rushed home. “We will make sure, their education, needs, wants, Justin’s father’s treatment and any other expenses are on us.” The chief told the family and the other ones agreed.

They all hopped inside their car and drove back home. “What was door 3, and how did you come alive?” Bravard asked “Well, me and Bracy did some research and found out that the serum that these people made contained black magic. I know it sounds scary, but it really did.” Mary replied “When I was dead, I saw 7 doors all were black and looked alike, 3 of them lead to heaven, 3 of them lead to hell, whereas one was locked and a strong voice came , ’Which door do you choose?’” “So what door did you choose?” Bravard asked curiously.

“None of them, I just sat on the floor I knew that Bracy was smart enough to rescue me. Instantly the locked door smashed open, Door number 3 was written on it, a golden light shined on my face, I ran towards that door and screamed I choose door number 3, rest is history.” “Damn, looks like a movie scene.” Bravard laughed. “I feel really bad about those children’s parents.” Bracy told them in a low tone. They all reached home and slept.

The irony was that the family managed to save everyone but the geniuses who created them.

Chapter 6

Trial of the killer family; Love, lies and suspicion

Justin was narrating the whole incident to Alisa in his car. “How do you know each and everything so deeply?” Alisa asked in curiosity. Justin replied, “My father told me everything, he was a good friend of the chief, so that’s why.” “So did you and Alfred sue them?” Alisa asked. “Oh yes, we did.” Justin answered and got back to narrating the story.

Next day, the news headlines said ‘The killer family’. Paparazzi gathered around the chief when he stepped out of the house and started questioning him “You killed the super scientists who made you and your family into superhumans, was that a conspiracy?” “Why didn’t Bracy saved the poor children’s parents like she did with Mary?” “Is Mr. Wilson’s son Alfred actually going to sue you?” “Everyone named you the swag family but should we call you the killer family now?” “No comments.” the chief said when a tomato was hurled at his face. The chief looked around and saw a group of children “Killers!!”, the children shouted and more tomatoes were hurled at him and his family.

The chief and his family sat in the Mercedez and went towards the court room. The people were called, everyone sat in their positions, the whole incident was narrated by Bravard. Bracy was called, “Do you know that the earthquake was your family’s fault too?” The judge told Bracy. “But how?” Bracy wondered. Mary was confused too. The judge’s assistant gave him a pen drive, he installed that pen drive into the laptop, installed the projector in the best position and started the video.

They saw that the babysitter was playing with Christie for a while. She eventually tried to make Christie drink a bottle of milk but failed since Christie refused to drink it. She fed christie a bowl of porridge, she ate some and left a lot of it too. Eventually both laid down on a sofa, Christie was on the inner side whereas the babysitter was on the outer side. The babysitter kept the bottle of milk on the table, made Christie sleep and eventually fell asleep along with the toddler.

After an hour or two, Christie woke up and tried to wake up the babysitter, but the lady was deep asleep. She tried to get that bottle of milk, hopped upon the babysitter and leapt towards the table but unfortunately, she fell down. She fell on the floor and started crying. The earth started shaking eventually and the babysitter woke up. She was trying to calm down Christie, but it was too late, since a lot of damage was done already.

The table's glass fell and broke, the glass jug fell on the floor, the ceiling fan was about to fall too. Mary was called. She told them about her and Bravard's adventures and mentioned the incident when she and Bravard saved a playschool from being burnt by fire. They reached the site on time; Mary rescued the children whereas Bravard extinguished the fire. She also told them about another incident where a school trip in a museum was organized and a teacher got stuck inside the cold room. Nobody knew where she was, Mary reached the place, used her X-ray vision, found the teacher, whereas Bravard melted the ice she was in. Eventually the teacher was rescued, thanked both of them and reached her place safely.

Alfred was called, he was raging with anger "They could have saved my family, basement was open, it would have taken a minute to extinguish the fire in the basement!" he shouted. After hearing all the justifications, the court delayed the judgement to another week. Finally, in the second hearing they decided to suspend the family for two years, their licenses were revoked, and it was decided that they would continue to live like a normal family. The chief was frustrated, came out of the room along with his family and was surrounded by paparazzi "We heard you lost the case, is it true?" "Will you compensate the children, or will you avoid that too?" "Will you ever be seen in action again or is it the end?" "No comments." the chief shouted, hopped inside the car and drove away.

A confinement was made eventually in order to contain all the unwanted supers, a public order was issued instructing all the children or adults having superpowers must be sent inside the confinement either by themselves or they would be dragged forcefully by the cops. Children and adults were heading towards the facility by themselves. Some were being dragged by the cops.

Elle, on the other hand looked at her hand, she imitated the magician and folded her fingers one by one in a witchy way and eventually the glass on the table fell down. “Woahh!” Elle screamed excitedly. She picked up a teddy bear which was kept aside her bed threw it in the air, did that witchy thing from her hand and that teddy flew towards the wall and fell down. She was excited and told her mother about it. Her mother was sweating as she knew that Elle must be taken to the facility whereas she didn’t want to separate herself from her beloved daughter.

Elle’s mother drove towards the facility and reached the facility. There were a lot of children and adults who were rushing towards the building, a lot of cars were honking and there was a lot of traffic too. Elle along with her mother reached the place, took the girl inside and talked to the watchman. “Just leave her here and go home.” the watchman said “Are you sure, she will be fine? I am Edward Skart’s wife and a VIP, my daughter must be treated with respect and with utmost care, she is just 8 years old.” she told the watchman in a bold voice. “Uhh, it will take time, there are a lot of children and adults having different superpowers, the super scientists are dead, Mr. Marble is in coma, no one knows how to neutralize these powers.” he justified. “Just take good care of her.” she told the watchman firmly. The watchman agreed and she drove back home.

Justin and Alfred’s life took a turning point. Alfred was in 11th grade and Justin was in 6th grade. Even after the laboratory was redesigned and they were being fully compensated for their education, food, necessities and other expenses, they were having a hard time. Alfred started smoking pot in order to forget the fact that he is an orphan, his girlfriend left him, he indulged himself into prostitution, and other bad activities that a normal teenager must not indulge himself into. Justin was having a tough time too, he used to meet his father, but he wouldn’t utter a single word. Both of them were having a hard time studying and managing things by themselves.

An year passed, Alfred made it to 12th grade and Justin was in 7th grade. Eventually, things were getting better, Mr. Marble was recovering and was able to speak slowly. Alfred was having a tough time studying since Physics and Chemistry used to give him a tough time. Being the elder one, he learnt how to cook food and used to cook food for himself and Justin. Justin also tried to help Alfred in the kitchen, but Alfred refused and told him to concentrate on his studies. Eventually time flew, Alfred got into Harvard University, one of the best universities in the U.S and studied medicine. Justin grew too and after some time, he got into the same university. Mr. Marble took care of both the children as he recovered. The swag family's suspension order was eventually torn off and they were back into action.

Time flew, both of them started freelancing and following their parent's footsteps, Mr. Marble helped them as much as he could but eventually, he passed away too. They made their own brand 'Jus & Alf' which was a superhit and within a matter of time, both of them were millionaires.

"That was a great story." Alisa gasped. "What happened to Elle, though?" "I really don't have any clue." Justin replied. "I don't know about Elle but i think i have similar superpowers. Never mind, let's go hit the club." Justin agreed and both of them went towards the club. They danced, enjoyed, had drinks and were having a great time. A lot of people were staring at Alisa since she was very beautiful and was wearing a white crop top and a white skirt but Justin looked at them angrily, and the creeps eventually looked away.

“Just wait a minute, will you?” Alisa asked Justin. He shook his head in agreement and Alisa went towards the bathroom. Justin was busy with his drinks and after half an hour she came out. “Where did you go?” Justin asked. “Just wanted to look good, let’s go.” Justin dropped Alisa at her home and both parted ways. More plans were being made eventually. Alisa and Justin were driving and saw a bar “Let’s go inside.” Alisa said. Justin looked at the bar, it seemed like an old-fashioned bar from the outside and he didn’t want to go inside. “Let’s go to some other bar.” Justin cried but Alisa threw a tantrum and expressed her desire to go inside that bar. Justin reluctantly parked the car, got out, opened her door and both walked inside.

It was a creepy and old-fashioned bar filled with old men. Justin looked around and realized Alisa was the only girl there. One of the guys looked at Alisa and smiled in an awful way “Eh, looks like someone is not satisfied from her boyfriend.” He was about to touch Alisa, when Justin screamed in frustration “Stay away from her!” and punched the guy in his face. The guy fell on the floor and within a minute the whole crowd gathered around watching the show. “Oh buddy, I am going to send you straight to heaven now.” the guy said while he was standing up and was about to punch him back when a voice came from the crowd “Stop!”

Everyone looked at each other and saw a white sitting on a stool with one leg down and another leg on the other stool having a glass of beer in his hand. He had a beard, a good jawline and was wearing a red shirt, blue jeans and black shoes. "You guys are going to fight, cause destruction, why not play flip the bottle challenge, whoever wins can have that girl." The guy spoke and took a sip of his beer.

"Oh yeah? Why should we obey you?" the bully asked, "Well my name is Bhavya Chugh, I am a writer and a reputed businessman, why not sort the things in a peaceful manner rather than going violent for no reason." the guy said. "Alisa is my girlfriend and not an obje...." Justin was going to complete his sentence when Alisa put her hand on his lips and screamed in excitement "Deal!"

Justin was frustrated. A plastic bottle was arranged and was filled partially with beer. Alisa looked at the bully, looked at the crowd, the bully was having the bottle in his hand and everyone was looking at the bully, she winked at Justin in such a way that nobody could see her. The bully threw the bottle up in the air, "Change direction!" Alisa whispered, folded her hands and the bottle was about to land on the table, changed direction and fell on the floor. "Oooh!" the crowd screamed. It was Justin's turn, he flipped the bottle in the air, Alisa did the same thing again and the bottle landed on the table upright. "Woahh!" the crowd screamed in excitement and started clapping. "Justin- 1 Big guy- 0!" Alisa announced.

The big guy snatched the bottle from Justin's hand, took 2 steps back, made an angle and threw the bottle up into the air. The bottle was about to fall on the table, but it changed direction and fell down. "Boooo!" the crowd screamed. Justin threw 3 steps back and threw the bottle in the air, Alisa did her thing and the bottle landed on the table "Woahhh!!!" the crowd screamed and started clapping. "Justin- 2 Big guy- 0!" Alisa announced.

"Ughh!" the big guy shouted in frustration. He snatched the bottle from Justin's hands, made a solid angle and threw the bottle into the air. The bottle was about to land on the table safely when Alisa did her thing and the bottle fell down. "Boooooo!!!" the crowd bullied the big guy. It was Justin's turn. Justin took 10 steps back, turned his back on the table on which they were playing and threw the bottle into the air. "He is being a showoff now, there is no way that bottle is landing upright on the table." one of the people in the crowd said. Alisa did her thing and the bottle eventually landed on the table upright. "Woahhh, that girl is doing something." one of the crowd members saw Alisa do something with her hands. "Alisa runn!" Justin shouted, held Alisa's hand and was about to dash towards the exit. "Forget!" Alisa raised her hand in the air and shouted. Within a matter of time the whole crowd was looking at each other confused.

"I should be completing my novel, why am i even here." the white guy said. Everyone started parting their ways. "Damnn, you have some cool powers." Justin whispered in Alisa's ears. Both of them walked towards the exit, Justin dropped Alisa at her home and went home.

Justin was having the best time with Alisa, he told Alfred about Alisa and her superpowers "Woahh, that chick has superpowers?" Alfred shouted in excitement "Cool bro, you are dating a super shorty." Both of them laughed. Justin's phone notification rung, he looked at the screen and saw the message "Let's meet at the amusement park tomorrow." Next day, he wore a blue collared T-shirt and a yellow sweatshirt on the T-shirt. He opened up his cupboard and wore black pants, blue sunglasses and black shoes. "Looking smaxy, boy" Alfred remarked "Alisa's going to faint down after seeing the new Arnold Schwarzenegger, just let me set your hair and you will be ready to go." Alfred was setting up Justin's hair and within minutes Justin was ready to go.

Justin reached Alisa's house and Alisa sat inside the car. "Oooh, someone's looking handsome." Alisa was flirting with Justin whereas Justin's cheeks were red after hearing those fabulous compliments. Both of them paid the entry fees and went inside the park. "That teddy is so cute, can I buy it?" Alisa asked Justin. Justin shook his head in agreement, smiled and bought her the teddy. Alisa was excited "Just wait here, I will be right back." she said excitedly. She went inside the bathroom. Justin was having that teddy in his hands and was looking around. “These teenage girls throw a lot of tantrums don’t they?” the shopkeeper asked. “Many.” Justin said and both of them were laughing. Alisa came back “Let’s go and ride those bumper cars.” Alisa cried excitedly “Does my opinion even matter?” Justin smiled and looked at Alisa.

“Nah! Not with me!” Alisa answered and both went towards the bumper cars.

After fifteen minutes of waiting, they finally got into the cars and crashed into each other and other people who were sitting inside the cars. Justin was having a good time when he saw a tall white guy in a black coat and blue jeans, wearing a black mask, and blue sunglasses staring at him. Their cars eventually stopped “Ok, time’s up!” the guy from the control room announced. Justin and Alisa got out, “Hey, do you see that guy?” Justin asked Alisa.

Alisa looked where Justin was pointing and nodded in disagreement. "Never mind, I really wish I could ride those bumper cars again, I was having such a great time but even if I wanted too, we would have to get in that thirty-minute queue again." Justin told Alisa in a disappointed tone. "Well i have a plan." Alisa told Justin, raised her hand in the air, did her thing and shouted "Forget!"

Within a matter of time, everyone was looking at each other in a state of confusion. Justin and Alisa hopped inside their cars and Alisa shouted, "You were about to start our cars, why is it taking so long?" "Oh yes, I am sorry I forgot." The guy from the control room, scratched his head and justified himself. Within a matter of time, they were crashing into bumper cars again. Both of them eventually got out of the bumper cars and went towards the twister. After thirty minutes of waiting, they finally got into the ride. Both of them were sitting together and were having a great time when Justin saw that guy again. "Hey, Alisa look, do you see that creepy guy?" Justin asked Alisa. "Woahhhhhh, hoooo!!" Alisa was shouting as she was enjoying the ride. "Who are you talking about?" Alisa asked Justin while slicking her hair back behind her ear. Justin pointed towards the place where that guy was standing previously but didn't see anyone. He was perplexed, the ride eventually stopped after a minute and people were getting out. "I really wish, we could do that again." Justin told Alisa "Your wish is my command." Alisa shouted, raised her hand in the air, did her thing and screamed "Forget!"

Everyone was looking at each other in a state of confusion. "You were going to start the ride; it's been five minutes we are waiting." Alisa groaned angrily at the guy in the control room. "I genuinely apologize for the inconvenience." The guy apologized, other people sat inside, and they enjoyed the ride again.

They finally got out of the rides and went towards a small cafe. "Oh boy, I had such a great time." Alisa laughed "Me too." Justin told Alisa. "I need to head towards the washroom, will you order a pizza by the time I get back?" Alisa asked, "No issues." Justin told Alisa and she headed towards the bathroom.

Justin ordered a pizza for Alisa and a milkshake for himself. Alisa came back after a while, both of them enjoyed the food, Justin dropped Alisa at her home and both of them parted their ways. Justin told everything to Alfred and even told him about the mysterious guy "Oh boy there are a million people in that park, just tell me one thing is your super chick's bladder weak or something, why does she go to the washroom so often?" Alfred asked Justin "She seems fine to me; I will ask her if you want me too." Justin answered. Justin was progressing in life.

Justin was called at the special ceremony and was given the honor of the chief guest; he was duly thanked since the medicine was working fine and it actually cured nickpox permanently. Justin and Alfred were called on the stage to deliver a speech one by one. Justin thanked Alisa since she always supported him, called her on the stage and kissed her. The whole world knew about Justin and Alisa. Alisa's parents got to know about their relationship. Her parents were quite religious and didn't approve of their relationship at first but eventually they agreed.

Justin and Alisa went to a carnival together, Alfred was busy neutralizing the cure and making it ready for human consumption, also other tests were needed in order to make it fit for human consumption. Alisa sat on the Columbus along with Justin, the ride began, they shouted along with the crowd, once the ride stopped, she did her thing and of course they enjoyed the ride again. After going on the ride, they went to play darts. Justin picked up the darts whereas Alisa hid her hands in the pockets of her jacket. Eventually, all the darts hit the middle spot. "Woahh, where did you learn all that from, Hawkeye?" the man on duty laughed and gave him 5 teddy bears for each darts. Both of them went towards the hooplah arena, Justin picked the rings and Alisa hid her hands in her pocket, they scored 3 packets of biscuits, 1 packet of chocolates and $50! "Damn, you guys are on fire." the man told the couple while handing them their gifts.

Alisa and Justin put all the gifts inside a big nylon sack and were heading towards the car, when Alisa said "Wait! I need to go the washroom." "Hey listen is your bladder weak or something?" he asked while holding her arm. "No, No everything's fine, just wanted to look good." she replied and Justin told Alisa that he would be waiting in the car. Justin headed towards the car, kept the sack on the backseat and sat on the driver's seat. Minutes passed, an hour passed, Alisa didn't come back, and Justin was worried. He leaped out of the car, locked it and dashed towards the washroom. He went outside the lady's washroom and tried to peep in. He saw Alisa shouting at someone "It's not here, I have searched everywhere. I don't know who took it." Justin was worried, he never saw Alisa scream so loudly at anyone ever. "You need to sea...." A strong guy's voice was heard but before finishing the sentence he pointed towards the open door. Alisa instantly saw the partially open door but couldn't see Justin. Justin ran as fast as he could and sat inside the car whereas on the other hand Alisa had no clue what had happened.

Justin didn't know what to do. "What is she up to? Is she planning a conspiracy against me? Is she cheating on me?" he asked himself. After five minutes of overthinking, Alisa came, opened the door and sat inside. "Who were you talking to, are you cheating on me?" Justin asked, Alisa looked at him and started laughing. "It was a girl, stupido, she was searching for her tampon and was actually being very annoying." Alisa answered, "But the voice sounded like a guy." Justin wondered. Alisa laughed and told him "Not all women have melodious voice like your girlfriend does." Justin gave a sigh of relief. Alisa kissed him on his lips. "I am astonished by your tactics and your smartness, sometimes you do sound like a supervillain." Justin told Alisa referring to the time when she helped him score so many gifts in the carnival. "I know right, I even robbed a bank once!" Alisa laughed. Justin was terrified and was sweating, "Wh... What?" he asked in a frightened tone. “I am just messing with you.” she told her, and Justin again gave a sigh of relief, whereas Alisa kept laughing the whole way.

Alisa was joking, or was she?

Chapter 7

Broken bonds

Justin came home after dropping Alisa at her home. Alfred was awake and was waiting for his 'brother from another mother' outside his house "How was it?" he asked "Amazing, as it usually is." Justin replied and showed him all the gifts that they scored. "Selfish boyfriend, not giving any gift to you girlfriend, huh?" Alfred joked "I really have no intention sleeping with all these teddies Alf, she was a little bit sleepy, so I dropped her home, I'm going to gift her all of this tomorrow." Justin told Alfred "Noice!" Alfred replied and walked towards his house. He picked his phone, dialed Alisa's number and asked, "When are you going to breakup with him?"

Alisa: - What? Breakup with Justin? Why?

Alfred: - You know you and Justin don't have a future together, you are a super and Justin is a human being, you people cannot reproduce and even if you do it will certainly lead to complications since your nerves are silver and golden whereas his nerves are red and blue. Golden blood runs in your veins whereas red blood runs in Justin's.

Alisa: - We will adopt a baby; I have no intention of leaving Justin. The time spent with him is always the most fabulous time I have ever spent. After I got these powers, life has been difficult, but Justin ended my misery.

Alfred: - See, if you want to leave Justin, leave him right away, I really don't think your parents will be comfortable seeing you adopt a baby.

Alisa(firmly): - Me and Justin have talked about it quite a while back I really don't think anything will be a problem, I am just going to make sure that the baby stays away from a playboy like you.

Alfred:- Woah, you supers can't be trusted, and I care about my little buddy a lot. I don't care what you guys have. I was just concerned about the fut.....

Alfred was about to finish the sentence when Alisa hung up. "These super Shawty chicks can't be trusted at all. One killed my parents while the other one is giving me a hell lotta trust issues." he said to himself and slept. He didn't utter a single word about the conversation to Justin.

Time passed, Justin and Alisa hung out a lot together. One day, they went to a good dining restaurant to have dinner. A girl was staring at Justin while Justin was having dinner and Justin was sitting opposite to Alisa. The lady who was wearing a beautiful one piece came towards Justin, picked up a serviette from a table, took a pen from a man's pocket, wrote something on it, handed the serviette to the man and gave him a flying kiss. She kissed the serviette and put the serviette on Justin's plate looked at him and made the 'Call me' gesture from her hands and exited the restaurant.

Justin was in a state of dilemma; he unfolded the serviette and saw her number written with red lipstick. "Uhh.... we aren't calling her." Justin chuckled nervously and put the napkin under his plate. "Well, you were looking at her number, why not try calling her." Alisa said in a sweet tone.

Justin knew Alisa was being sarcastic, “Well I mean, you are hotter than her.” Justin chuckled again nervously and started to pour water for himself. “Oh, so now we are comparing?” Alisa held his hand and said loudly. “Woahh, just chill Alisa, have some water, I was just curious what that unfolded napkin beholds for me.” Justin told Alisa in a nervous tone and poured her a glass of water. Eventually their dinner came and that lady came again inside the restaurant. Both of them were eating salami and chicken steak, when he saw that lady entering in the restaurant, he took two pieces of salami and put it on his eyes and screamed “I don’t see anyone, I don’t see anyone, I am a blind person.” “What are you doing?” Alisa shouted, turned back and saw the same lady. She widened her eyes, the lady got scared and turned around, “Fall!” Alisa shouted and did her thing and eventually the lady’s heels broke, and she fell on the floor.

Alisa looked at Justin who didn’t see a thing since his eyes were covered with two pieces of salami. Alisa started laughing and said, “You can remove those pieces now, she is gone.” Justin removed the pieces of salami and ate both of them “Eww, you are disgusting...” Alisa laughed and continued with her dinner. They both ate dinner, the waiter handed Justin the bill, he paid the bill and both of them exited the restaurant. “What dress was that lady wearing?” Alisa asked Justin “Canary yellow, uhhh....” Justin realized instantly what mistake he had committed. “Look back Justin.” Alisa told Justin, Justin obeyed and looked back, and Alisa punched him in his abdominal. “You don’t know a single colour of dress that I wear and instantly recognize the detailing of a random women trying to steal you away from me.” Alisa groaned in frustration “It was a fluke, Alisa!” Justin justified. Alisa pushed Justin onto the floor, Justin fell down, and she sat upon him. “You are a cutie, aren’t you?” Alisa laughed.

“People are watching Alisa.” Justin shouted “You don’t see us!” Alisa shouted, did her thing and all the pedestrians passing were looking in the opposite direction, the car drivers were looking at the red light and some were looking in the other direction. "See, nobody is seeing us." Alisa told Justin and kissed him on the lips. "Get a room, Alisa!" Justin shouted and within a matter of time both were laughing. Eventually, both of them stood up and were heading back towards their home, Justin sat in his car when he saw that big guy again. He was wearing a red trench coat, black shoes, black sunglasses, black denim, and his face was covered with a green mask. "Do you see him, Alisa?" Justin asked and pointed towards the place where he was standing. "See who?" Alisa looked at the place where Justin was pointing and didn't see anyone. "You are hallucinating Justin." she told him and asked him to drive. Justin was perplexed but decided to drive.

Justin told Alfred about the incident. "What did she say?" he asked "He was gone, just like a swoosh of wind" Justin replied. "There are some mysteries that this town beholds." Alfred told Justin in a deep voice. "Just try to take a picture, if you ever see him again." Alfred ordered Justin. Justin nodded in agreement. Justin was hanging out with Alisa and discussing future, when they saw the swag family following a van full of robbers who had robbed a jewelry store.

Both of them saw Bravard in action. He was on top of the van, trying to maintain his balance at first, then lighting both of his fists and making a hole from his fiery r hands inside the steel van. The robbers started driving in a zig zag way trying to get Bravard off when Bravard froze the driver. The van jammed itself into a streetlight and the alarms started blaring. The other robbers gathered around Bravard and were about to shoot when Mary ran, stole all their guns and threw them away within seconds.

"Had she used that speed that day, my parents would be alive today." Justin said to himself. Both of them were watching the family punching, kicking, freezing and tranquilizing the robbers one by one and eventually the police came and arrested the miscreants. "Is he on Instagram?" Alisa asked Justin. "Yeah, he is but he probably has a girlfriend and would be marrying her soon.” Justin told Alisa as he was secretly being possessive about her.

They both saw Bravard's profile on Justin's phone, seeing him in action. He was freezing miscreants, making fiery gorillas, burning armors just with his bare hands. Alisa was astonished, she looked through his feed and saw his bio which said 'Single'. On investigating(stalking) further they saw a video of Bravard telling paparazzi about his past relationship who was a human, and they couldn't date further since humans and supers can't reproduce. "Forget it, Alisa, let's go to some nice cafe to have a coffee." Justin snatched his phone from Alisa's hands, held her arm and made her sit inside the car. Alisa didn't utter a single word, looked at him changing gear and driving and started laughing. Justin was frustrated, he took her to another cafe and within a matter of time, both of them were sipping one glass of cappuccino each. Alisa kept her feet on Justin's feet and assured him "I am not leaving you, Jus." Justin smiled and after some time, Justin dropped Alisa at her home and both of them parted ways.

Alisa assured Justin that she was not leaving her, but she was still curious and wanted to know more about Bravard. She went home, opened his profile and started stalking him, she called her friend Isla and both of them started discussing Bravard's biceps and his cool superpowers. "I want you to go out on a coffee with him." Isla told Alisa "Noo, Justin wouldn't like it." Alisa resisted. "He is a superhero, and he is single, go console him, maybe he could help you find another super you can have a baby with." Isla started joking and Alisa started laughing. After a few more futile conversations Alisa messaged Bravard 'coffee date?'

"He isn't going to reply like that. You should try meeting him face to face." Isla suggested Alisa "It's never bad to try though." Alisa replied. Alisa was a loyal woman, she told Justin about everything and Justin was a little bit disappointed and scolded Alisa "He is a super, he has a lot of work to do rather than replying to random desperate women." Days passed; no reply came. One night, Alisa was going to sleep when her phone's notification rang. She picked up the phone and saw the message "Sure, when?" Alisa was excited and she called Isla instantly, told her everything and after a while texted him 'Java junction, 8 pm, Saturday' Java junction was the name of the nearby coffee place. Alisa slept and woke up the next day. It was a Friday, she went shopping and bought herself a new green dress, makeup and heels. She didn't utter a single word to Justin as he was busy in making the cure of another severe disease back then.

She called Isla over and asked her about the new dress, "It's pretty, you look so stunning in this new dress, Bravard's going to fall for you." Isla joked "Does Justin know about it?" "No, I wanted to keep it a secret from him.” Alisa told Isla “It’s just a date, I am just gonna drink coffee, chat with him and come home.”

Isla agreed, the next day they met at the place, Bravard was wearing a blue and white striped shirt along with blue jeans and Alisa was wearing a one-piece green dress. “You look adorable!” Bravard complimented Alisa. Alisa blushed and both were having some great conversations as well as great laughter.

Alisa didn’t tell Bravard about her superpowers since it could be an issue as Bravard didn’t seem as secretive as Justin was. “Another date?” Bravard asked. Alisa was staggered since she was not expecting another one.

“Uhh.... I will let you know.” she told Bravard. “I am not in an interview, Alisa!” Bravard joked and both laughed. “If you don’t feel comfortable enough, it’s completely fine.” Bravard comforted her. “No, it’s not like that, I just need some time to think.” Alisa told Bravard. Bravard agreed, dropped Alisa home and parted ways.

Alisa told everything to Justin “Should I tell everything to Justin? I feel like that I am cheating on him.” Alisa regretted it instantly. “Your choice babe, if I were you, I won’t tell him.” Isla told Alisa and hung up her phone. Alisa was in a state of dilemma and decided to keep that date a secret. She went out with Justin but was also constantly chatting with Bravard. On being asked she lied that she was chatting with Isla. Days passed. Alisa used to meet Bravard but didn’t tell Justin about it. Alisa was double dating Bravard and Justin!

Bravard used to ask about Justin, but she told him that her parents didn’t like Justin and they had nothing but a single kiss. Time flew, finally that day came when Justin and Alfred made another medicine and delivered it to the parties, whereas Alisa was dating Bravard and was making future plans with him. Justin was sitting in his home, playing on his PlayStation when his phone’s notification rang. He saw a video where Bravard and Alisa were playing baseball. A pitching machine was throwing baseballs continuously at Bravard, “Change direction!” Alisa said and some of them changed direction, but some were actually hitting Bravard again and again. “Ouch, ouch, ouch!” Bravard cried in pain, but those balls were no match for his hard iron body.

Justin was taken aback. “This.... this is not possible, I trusted her, I trusted her!” Justin began shouting. Fortunately, Alfred was chilling at Justin’s place, on hearing his screams Alfred was scared, he took his phone and watched the video. “Ugh..she lied.” he told Justin. “What do you mean?” Justin asked Alfred. Alfred told him about the conversation. Justin took his phone, saw the tagged location on the instagram post, rushed towards the door and took out his car keys.

“Where are you going?” Alfred asked. “I am going to have a little chat with Alisa.” “There is no poi...” Alfred was about to finish his sentence when Justin rushed outside, hopped inside his car and drove away. He reached the baseball court where both were playing “Why, why are you cheating on me? Why are you dating him?” Justin asked nervously. “We don’t have a future, Justin. My parents don’t want me to adopt a child and apart from the fact that he has a family, you don’t have anyone. Your brother Alfred is a playboy and nobody in my family likes him.” Alisa replied.

“I respect you a lot buddy, your parents are the reason I am a super, but in this scenario, You and Alisa can’t have a child. Even if you do have one, the child may have some serious complications, he may be born handicapped and may even result in Alisa’s death.” Bravard told Justin.

“I can make a body like him; I can become a superhero too!” Justin roared in anger and frustration. “I have to ask you to leave buddy.” Bravard told Justin, snapped his fingers two times and made a fireball from his right hand. Justin was agitated by the threat that he received from Bravard even though Alisa gestured Bravard to stop.

Justin walked back to his car in a state of grief, sat in his car and screamed. After five minutes of shouting and slamming the steering, he went home. When he reached home, he got a call from Alfred but didn’t pick up. ‘Just feeling a little bit sick, will meet you tomorrow.’ Justin texted Alfred. He went inside his home and slept. Next day, he woke up and texted Alfred ‘gonna hit the gym, will meet you at 3pm.’ It was 7 am in the morning, he woke up brushed his teeth, filled a water bottle and made a cup of black coffee for himself. He cut an apple and ate the apple and drunk the coffee side by side.

He reached the gym at 8 am and returned home at 1pm. He was tired, drunk his shake, took a bath, locked his house and went to the laboratory. He told Alfred everything the next day.

Alfred: - Ugh, to be honest I don't trust these super chicks at all!

Justin: - I don't feel good, Alfred. I felt physically weak yesterday, so I just slept and did nothing. I woke up today and hit the gym, which eventually made me feel good.

Alfred: - So, what are you going to do now, buddy? You can't stay a weakling your whole fking life, can you?

Justin: - I am just going to make a body better than that super boy Bravard. He should be thankful to my parents since they were the reason, he has those powers that he doesn't deserve at all. If I was him, I would break up with Alisa and follow the brocode. I am going to make sure Alisa regrets her decision.

Alfred (Laughs):- Ugh, my dear boy Justin, this cruel world doesn't work like that. I don't understand one thing, why does your ex have a problem with me being a playboy, it's my life, I would do whatever i want to.

Justin: - I don't know Alfred, but can you stop going to the clubs, I really like Alisa and want to plan a future with her.

Alfred: - Ugh....Alright, but if you and your ill-mannered ex don't work out, I am going to return to my normal lifestyle.

Justin agreed. He started going to the gym consistently. Alfred didn't have a lot of work to do so he joined Justin and both of them were deeply indulged in bodybuilding.

Both of them were having a great time and after 3 months of consistent five-hour sessions of body building, they both managed to make an athletic physique. Justin reached his home and followed his daily routine but rather than going to the laboratory he hopped into his car and reached Bravard's house. Alfred called him multiple times, but he didn't pick up. 'Have some work to do' Justin texted Alfred.

"Alisa!" Justin shouted. Alisa and Bravard were having a live-in relationship. Alisa came out and Justin pulled up his T-shirt and showed Alisa his abs. “Alisa, we can make things work again, Alfred has quit his bad habits and I have made a physique better than your good-for-nothing boyfriend.” Justin told Alisa. Bravard eventually came out too, “You still ain’t a super boy, Justin.” Bravard told Justin angrily, snapped his fingers twice, made a fireball and threw at Justin. The fireball didn’t hit Justin. “You missed.” Justin taunted Bravard, looked at Alisa and said “Alisa we can still adopt a child and have a beautiful life together. The child could have new parents, a better lifestyle and we could live happily forever.” “Justin, why don’t you understand things can’t work between us since you are not a super and my parents are strictly against adoption.” Alisa cried nervously.

Justin was disappointed. He worked out consistently in gym and told Alfred to quit his bad habits just to know that Alisa still doesn’t want him since he is not a superhero. A crowd had gathered after hearing the loud conversations. He opened his red Maserati’s door and was about to sit inside when he heard “I missed intentionally buddy, harming you is the last thing I would ever think of.” Justin looked back and saw Bravard smiling at him. Justin sat in his car and drove to his house. Justin was infuriated and disappointed, he told Alfred everything.

“Man, you seriously need to get another girlfriend and make sure she is not a super.” Alfred laughed and advised Justin “Forget what I said, don’t get a girlfriend, just marry a beautiful, sweet, well-mannered and a decent woman. There is a plenty of fish in the sea buddy.” Time passed, it was 9 in the night Alfred picked up his lab coat and picked up his bike keys. “Where are you going Alf?” Justin asked. “Going to the club buddy, they miss me for sure.” Alfred explained “Your magnificent shawty didn’t return, it’s time for me to go back to my partying.” Alfred picked up his keys and left the laboratory.

Justin packed up after some time too and opened up his Instagram. He saw Bravard giving a speech “That guy who just came-by was Alisa’s ex-boyfriend, they didn’t have anything but just a kiss, I guess a thing like this is acceptable in the twenty first century.” Justin looked at the video and laughed “He and Alisa couldn’t work out since both of them were having some kind of compatibility issues and I think the issue is sorted, we don’t need to explain each and everything to random people who just want to spice up their lives by listening to celebrity’s dramas.” Justin was laughing “I like this guy.” he said to himself.

Justin realized one thing that Bravard was lying since he and Alisa didn’t have a single kiss and had much more than that.

Next day, he narrated everything to Alfred. “I am telling you man, just make a profile on a matrimonial website.” Alfred told Justin “We are rich lads; you can get plenty of matches. What about that charismatic woman in that yellow dress that gave you her number, we can try finding her?” Justin disagreed with his opinion, went towards the refrigerator and took out a can of beer “I miss Alisa.” he told Alfred, opened the can and started drinking the beer. “Oh, come on!” Alfred mocked Justin.

Alfred tried to snatch that can out of Justin’s hands, but he resisted. Alfred was despondent and returned to his work. Justin took out his phone and texted Alisa ‘I can’t be a good dad, but I can still be a good husband.’ Within half an hour a red Maserati came in front of his door and was honking consistently. Both Alfred and Justin rushed outside the balcony to see who it was. Bravard stuck out his face from his car “Buddy, don’t you understand, you and she are not going to work out. You are a human, and she is a super, I don’t want to talk about her powers to everyone since that would lead to serious complications. I have other ways to stop you as well and trust me you are not going to like it. Since you are Mr.Marble’s son I am leaving you off with a warning. We are engaged and you dare not mess with us again.” Bravard warned Justin and drove off.

“Man, you need to forget about her.” Alfred told Justin “Bravard is serious about Alisa that he even bought a red Maserati just like you have. By the way, how many times did you sleep with her?” “149 times”

Justin replied. "Well, I mean that's enough, isn't it?" Alfred laughed. Justin was infuriated and punched Alfred "I planned my future with her, I am not a playboy like you, I was actually interested in having kids with her or adopting them, you won't understand it and you never will." Justin scolded Alfred.

Alfred was pushed back with the punch and said "Well, she still dumped you, didn't she?" He landed a punch in Justin's abdomen. "I am not a super, that's a problem. I can make another serum, but dad warned me there could be consequences." Justin said and kicked Alfred in his abdomen. "Just forget about her and make another girlfriend, stupido. Stop harming yourself for a nihilist woman!" Alfred groaned in pain. Justin took a deep sigh and said "I loved her. I loved her like nobody ever can." He went towards the fridge, grabbed a bottle of beer and started drinking. "It will damage your intestines buddy." Alfred told Justin, rushed towards him and snatched the bottle from his hand.

Justin was sad. It was a Saturday night. Justin was lying on the floor staring at the clock which was hung on the wall. Alfred was agitated and tried to pick him up many times, but he refused to wake up. Alfred went back to his experiments. Justin unlocked his phone, opened Instagram and saw the reel where Bravard was giving a speech "That guy who just came-by was Alisa's ex-boyfriend, they didn't have anything but just a kiss, I guess" "Just a kiss huh?" Justin said to himself and woke up.

He woke up, walked towards his bag and took out a data cable. He reached for his laptop and connected the data cable with his laptop and then connected the data cable with his phone. "What are you doing?" Alfred asked in curiosity. "Just a little bit of homework." Justin replied. Alfred didn't understand what Justin was up to, packed up his work, took off his lab coat, picked up his keys and said "I am going out to party. Do you want to join?" Alfred asked. "No, I am fine." Justin answered.

“Just be careful Jus, that guy is not the person you mess up with especially after today’s incident.” Alfred started to understand Justin’s intentions and warned him. Justin agreed and Alfred left the laboratory. Justin went inside the testing room, opened the cupboard and took out a printer. He installed the printer’s cable inside the laptop and started to print something. After fifteen minutes of printing, he took out an envelope from the cupboard and inserted all the printed pages inside it.

It was 9.30pm, Justin locked the laboratory and reached home. He took out a duffle bag and put inside all the gifts that Alisa gave to him. He took out a box and put it inside that duffle bag. He locked his house, went to his room and took out two keys. One belonged to the garage whereas the other one belonged to another car that Justin bought a few days back. He walked towards his garage and took off the cloth from the car.

It was a blue coloured 2023 Bugatti W16 Mistral!!! “Let’s see if you want to patch up with me again, Alisa.” Justin laughed and said to himself. He sat inside the car, put the duffle bag and the envelope on the passenger seat, pressed a button and the garage door automatically opened. He zoomed outside and realized that he didn’t close his house’s main door. He stopped the car, put on reverse gear and reached in front of his house. He closed the door and the garage door too. “How do they do it in movies?” Justin said to himself, hopped back in his Bugatti and drove off.

Within a matter of time, he reached Bravard’s home. He started honking continuously and eventually Bravard and Alisa came out. He drove full speed on the road, took a drastic drift, turned back and rushed his car again in front of their house. He repeated the process three times and then stopped the car. “Yes, we know that you know how to drift, now can you please tell why you are bothering us or do you want a fireball up your arse.” Bravard groaned in frustration.

Justin got out of his car, smiled and threw the duffle bag on the first floor where Bravard was standing.

“I hope it’s not a firecracker.” Alisa shouted. “Get back” Bravard told Alisa. Alisa obeyed him. He opened the duffle bag and saw all the gifts that were kept inside that bag.

“These are just gifts and nothing.....” ‘Boom!!’ Bravard was about to finish his sentence when a firecracker burst into his face and his face was completely black.

Justin laughed at him. Bravard widened up his eyes, snapped his fingers twice, and made a fireball. Justin was scared, but he didn’t show it. He took out the envelope, smiled at him and put it under his house’s main gate. “Tada!!” Justin waved goodbye to him and looked at Alisa. She was not impressed. She was looking at him in disgust. Justin hopped back in his Bugatti and drove off.

Bravard saw Justin drive away and after a few minutes of grief, he went back, and Alisa followed him inside. “I can exp....” Alisa was about to justify when he shut the door and screamed “Your ex-boyfriend owns a Bugatti?” Justin was not done. He made sure he was pretty far away from Bravard’s house, stopped his car, took out a small circular device from the dashboard. Justin was a Potterhead, and the device looked somewhat like the ‘snitch’ in the Harry Potter and the Philosopher’s stone movie, except for the fact that it had a camera on it. He took out a remote control also, programmed that device and that device went straight up in the air. Within a matter of time, Justin was controlling that device with that remote control.

Justin pulled the joystick, and that device went straight outside Bravard's house in the balcony where the couple was standing a few minutes back. "The door is slightly open but entering inside would raise suspicion." Justin said to himself. He pulled the joystick and landed the device on the air conditioner and within a minute he was able to listen to all the conversations from his mobile phone. He started driving towards his home while listening to the conversations "Your ex- boyfriend owns a Bugatti?" He heard Bravard screaming.

"That guy has achieved everything in life, Alisa, why did you dump him?" Bravard shouted "Do you even know what Bugatti is and how much it costs?" "Yeah, it's a pretty expensive car." Alisa replied "Pretty? It's st expensive, Alisa!" Bravard shouted. Justin was laughing while listening to the conversations and reached home while Bravard and Alisa had no idea that their conversations were being heard.

"Just stop overreacting Bravard, no car can match my love for you." Alisa told Bravard. "It's fIng Bugatti, Alisa!! It's the best. If i were you I would have dumped myself." Alisa was laughing and Justin was laughing too while parking the car in the garage and eavesdropping on their conversations. Justin left the car, rushed towards his bedroom, switched on the TV, took out the wireless cable from the drawer and within a matter of time, the whole footage was being cast on the 48-inch television screen.

"I thought you would be mad." Alisa taunted "Yes, I am and I have a lot of questions too, but it is Bugatti for god's sake!" Bravard screamed "How did he even afford such an expensive car, I have saved so much for my small sisters weddings, where did he get that much money from, is he a criminal or a thief?" Alisa nodded in disagreement "It's all hard work, Bravard." she replied "Both of them have worked day and night to come at this level where they are now. Both of them have gone through a lot because of you and your family, I think they deserve it." Bravard was quiet.

“You lied to me about your relationship, didn’t you?” he asked Alisa after a few minutes of silence “I can explain...” Alisa said “Explain? You are a traitor Alisa, I trusted you with all my heart, I fought with my family and engaged with you, and you did this to me?” Alisa started crying “Oh, come-on!!” Bravard shouted “I should be the one having those tears, not you Alisa.” Bravard headed towards the kitchen, filled a glass with water, took out a napkin from the tissue stand and gave it to Alisa. Alisa drunk the water and said, “Let’s sleep, I will narrate you everything tomorrow, It’s 11 pm already.” Bravard agreed reluctantly and both of them went towards the bedroom.

Justin, who was watching the show, picked up the remote control and started operating that device, it entered the hall which was attached to the balcony and within a minute that device flew out inside the bedroom. There was a showcase inside that room, while Bravard and Alisa were half asleep, he sneaked that device up the showcase. Within a minute that device was hidden between two vases which were kept on the showcase. “She looks so cute when she is asleep.” Justin said to himself admiring Alisa’s beauty .

After an hour Bravard wondered to himself “I wondered what was in that envelope.” he asked himself, stood up and was about to walk outside when half asleep Alisa saw him heading outside, did her thing and said “Forget!”

“Ouch!” a voice was heard. “What happened?” Alisa asked as if she didn’t know that the spell made him fall and made him forget where he was going. “Nothing, I don’t know why I was going outside,” Bravard replied from outside, picked up a water bottle from the refrigerator and came back inside. Justin was shocked after watching Alisa’s cunning behavior. Bravard went to sleep again and within a few minutes he woke up again. He put his hand on Alisa’s head to check whether she was sleeping or not. “Why didn’t I exit the door, why did I fall all of a sudden and forget where I was heading, I didn’t even smoke pot today.” Bravard said to himself and headed back outside.

Justin's device was kept in the bedroom so he could only see Bravard waking up and exiting the room and Alisa sleeping.

Bravard exited his house, rushed downstairs and picked up the envelope. He opened the envelope and saw pictures of Justin and Alisa. "What the f...?" Bravard roared in anger. There were some pics where Justin and Alisa were sleeping together, some pictures where Justin was giving a gift to Alisa and one picture where they were cutting the three-year anniversary cake. Bravard was vexed as well as infuriated.

He rushed upstairs went inside the room and roared in anger "What is this?"

Alisa instantly woke up after hearing the scary roar. It was 1 am in the night.

Bravard picked up the photographs and threw them in Alisa's face. Alisa saw all those pictures and was astonished since she had no idea that Justin clicked and kept all of them. There were some photos she was not even aware of.

"I can.... I can.... I can explain." Alisa stumbled nervously. "How did you do it? How did you hide all of it? Who are you?" Bravard roared in anger, snapped his fingers two times, made a fireball and threw at Alisa "Divert!!" Alisa cried painfully and that fireball hit the wall rather than hitting her. Justin was furious "How dare you try to hurt my Alisa?" he shouted, staring at the TV screen. "Me and my father researched everything about you but didn't find anything suspicious except the kiss, how did you hide all of this?" Bravard roared in anger. "I took help." Alisa gasped nervously. "Whose help?" Bravard asked furiously "Jonas." she replied.

Alisa's untold story

“Ayo what, Jonas?” Justin shouted while staring at the TV screen. “Is he even alive?” “Don’t tell me, he is a black guy, don’t tell me it’s him, don’t tell me you are that witch bitch.” Bravard roared in anger. Justin was confused since he had no idea what he was talking about, in fact he was concerned that Bravard would harm Alisa. ‘BATTERY LOW!! BATTERY LOW!!’ the device started beeping.

Justin was so engaged in the drama that he forgot to have a look at the battery. He saw Bravard looking around and finally found the device hidden behind the vases. He tried to control the device and bring it back to him, but it was too late. Justin managed to take the device through the hallway, but Bravard ran and froze the device in midair and the device fell down. He picked it up and roared “I will come for you!!!” he looked at the device, groaned and crushed it with his bare hands. Justin was panicking, “I should save Alisa, what should I do?” He tried calling Alfred but he didn’t pick up since he was busy partying.

On the other hand, Bravard rushed back to his bedroom and Alisa was sitting on the bed crying “I can explain everything, FALL!” Alisa did her thing and Bravard fell. She ran for her life and was about to exit the gate when she found that she couldn't move. She looked down and saw that Bravard froze her feet. "Return back to the place and explain me everything!" Bravard roared in anger, his eyes turned black, snapped his fingers 2 times, made a lasso of fire and threw it on Alisa's neck. "It's hurting, Bravard!" Alisa cried in pain. He pulled the lasso, pulled Alisa towards him, held her neck and threw her onto his bedroom wall. "Ouchh!!!" Alisa was crying in pain. "Fall and forg..." Alisa was about to do her thing when Bravard released ice from his hands and froze both of Alisa's hands. Alisa was stuck on the wall with both of her hands frozen.

Alisa tried to resist but Bravard made an ice sword from his hand and held it on Alisa's neck "Tell me everything or you die, you supervillain witch!!" Bravard roared in anger.

Alisa started narrating her story:-

My real name is Elle Skart, daughter of Edward Skart and not Alisa, an earthquake happened before the explosion that day, me and my mother rushed outside our house so that nothing bad would happen to us. After a few minutes of random gossiping with the neighbours, I asked mother if I could go back inside, and she agreed. I went back and slept and after a minute or two I felt a swoosh of wind, but I thought it was a normal swoosh, so i closed the window and slept. Next day I found out that I have superpowers and told my mother about it. She was a little bit worried and took me to the facility. She went home, but when I entered the facility, I saw there were a lot of kids in there. Some were adults, some were teenagers, all kinds of people wearing white suits just like that series 'Stranger Things'. I was taken towards the lobby and was asked to stand in a queue. I obeyed the instructions clearly and stood. "Something's bad is happening with the children in there." I heard one of the guys talking to one another "They are being electrocuted and are tortured." the other guy said.

I was scared, after listening to a few more gossips, I went inside and saw the guy before me was just lying on the bed and foam was coming out from his mouth "This one couldn't handle the neutralization and is dead." the nurse said to another one and the other nurse put his body on a stretcher and was taking the dead child out of the room. Eventually my turn came, I was bewildered and tried to run back but the door was closed. The nurse was approaching me with a wire of electricity in one hand and an injection filled with liquid in another one, "Forget!" I shouted and the nurse started scratching her head. "What were we doing here?" the nurse asked the other one. "I have no idea." the other one replied.

I ran towards the door, opened the doorknob and rushed outside. The other people started screaming "Snitch!! Absconder!! Fugitive!! Catch her!!" Within a matter of time, the whole hospital was running behind me. "Divert!" I shouted, some of them started running in the opposite direction and crashed into each other, some hit the wall, and some fell down the stairs.

I ran and ran and ran, eventually i found a staircase that led downstairs. I went downstairs and unfortunately saw a whole group of guards holding sticks, guns and tasers in their hands. "Forget!" I shouted, did my thing and all of them were looking at each other perplexed. I walked through them, reached the exit gate and opened it. I was about to exit the facility when the speakers started shouting "A small blonde fugitive is trying to escape the facility, Close the gates and Stop her!!” I saw the gates started closing, I ran as fast as I could. I saw the gates closing and almost closed when i shouted “Reverse!!” and saw the gates back opening. I escaped the facility and screamed “Reverse!!” again and the doors began closing again. I saw the stunned faces of the guards who were not able to understand what had happened.

I ran as fast as I could barefoot, wearing that highly uncomfortable white suit and after running for an hour or even more, i reached a place filled with garbage. It was a downhill filled with banana peels, empty cans, torn clothes and many other types of garbage. I didn’t want to go there but I had no choice and went downhill.

I hid under some torn clothes and some half-eaten meat and made sure that I could not be seen. I heard police sirens wailing and searching for me but fortunately they had no idea where i was. After a few minutes of hiding, I saw a black hand touch me “Ahhh” I shouted. I saw a small black guy around my age who had made a small hut from all kinds of garbage possible.

“I won’t hurt you, what is your name, girl?” the black guy asked in a soft tone smiling at me. “Elle.” I replied, “I am Jonas, I messed up big time.” he told me. “What did you do?” I asked. “I used to beg but was given some small jobs and was also given a decent amount of cash in return, but one day.....” he was about to finish his sentence when both of us heard police sirens wailing. “Hide quickly!” he whispered, and we hid inside the garbage again. It was evening, after a few hours of hiding I asked, “How do you arrange food for eating?” “I beg, I had some dollars but all of them were spent and now I am again begging.” he replied. He took out a small polythene and there were small pieces of chicken kept inside it “Do you want to eat it?” he asked. I belonged to a well-functioning family but due to a growling stomach I decided to eat it.

“I have superpowers, but I really don’t know what they do.” he said. “Show me.” I said excitedly. He pointed towards a pile of garbage from both of his hands, palms towards the pile of garbage and shot white rays on the garbage. Nothing happened, not a single piece of garbage even shook. "These are useless, I am useless." he said and frowned. "You shot white gamma rays from your hands; it means that you are a super too!" I told him excitedly. "A useless super, I don't even know what these rays do. Neither they blind the enemy, nor they shake anything, not even a single peel of banana or a single tin, I am literally a human torch. You can use me when you can't find anything." Jonas said in a frustrated tone.

"Should i tell you what my superpowers are?" I asked "Sure, just make sure, the police are gone." he replied. I got out of that hideous hut, looked around, no one was there. I picked a bottle of beer, threw it in the air and shouted "Divert!" The bottle which was about to fall down went sideways in the right direction and broke into pieces. "Woah!" Jonas cheered excitedly "You can change directions of things?" "I alter the reality, that bottle would have fallen down but in this reality, it went sideways." "Can I shoot my beams on the bottle when it is the air, maybe it works?" Jonas asked excitedly "Sure!" I replied. I picked another bottle of beer, threw it in the air, Jonas shot beams at the bottle, but nothing happened. "Divert!" I shouted, and the bottle went in the right direction again.

Jonas was disappointed "I am useless, am I not?" he asked, "I have an idea, why don't you try to shoot rays on me when I say divert, maybe that works?" I gasped in excitement "You have these powers for a reason, Jonas. Those superscientists are not fools, they must have had some idea when they were designing these variations. They are called superscientists for a reason." Jonas agreed but justified "I don't want to hurt you, Elle." "You can't make a peel of banana shake, how can your rays hurt me?" I laughed and Jonas agreed.

We decided to find another bottle of beer, I threw it in the air, "Divert" I shouted, and Jonas shot rays at me. The bottle went swooshing and fell a kilometer away from us. "Woahhhh!!" Both of us screamed excitedly. "Your gamma rays make my powers more powerful, Jonas. We can actually achieve wonders." I gasped excitedly. "So, I am not useless?" Jonas asked me excitedly. "Well, not with me at least." I laughed.

It was nighttime, the road was empty, both of us were hungry. "Are there any restaurants nearby?" I asked Jonas "There is a small cafe, if you want to have food but we don't have money." Jonas said disappointedly "I have a plan, Let's explore our powers and fill our stomachs."

Jonas was confused but he agreed since he didn't have any other option. We both headed towards the cafe, but looking at our clothes, the guard didn't let us enter. "Jonas fell into the garbage pit, I tried to help him, that's why we both are smelling like st, can we enter now?" I lied. The guard looked at both of us in disgust and let us enter.

We both entered the cafe, took our seats and looked at the menu. "I don't have money to afford even a bottle of mineral water." Jonas gasped nervously. "Just wait and watch." I calmed him down. I looked around to check for any cameras but there weren't any. We called the waiter and ordered 2 cheeseburgers. Within fifteen minutes two delicious cheeseburgers were presented in front of us. We relished the burgers and after some time we asked for the bill. The waiter gave us the bill and stood in front of us.

"Ready, Jonas?" I asked. "Umm...okay!" he said nervously. "Forget!!" I shouted, did my thing and Jonas shot gamma rays at my hand and within a matter of time a ray was released and the whole restaurant slept. "Run!!" I shouted. We both ran outside; and saw that the guard fell asleep too. We ran and returned to the secret garbage hut that Jonas had made from dry garbage.

We did this twice or thrice to fill our stomachs and it always worked. No one remembered our faces. "Why not rent a flat and exit this garbage hut forever." I suggested Jonas. "Yeah sure, but we are short of one thing, Money!?" Jonas taunted. "I have a plan." I told Jonas.

We went to the town side to the grocery store. It was a small grocery store which had space for only 2 people and the rest was filled with chips, bread, chocolates, detergents and other household stuff. "Can we have 2 chocolates sir?" I asked in the politest voice that I could. "Sure honeypie!" The shopkeeper agreed and turned around to take out the chocolates from the refrigerator. I looked around and nobody was around "Ready, Jonas?" I asked "Always!" he said excitedly. "Forget!" I shouted and Jonas shot gamma rays at my hand and within a few seconds, the shopkeeper fell asleep.

We looked around and fortunately nobody saw us. We secretly climbed up the table, opened the cash drawer and took out all the cash we could find in it. Jonas took out some cash and the shopkeeper's phone too. "Leave the phone, we could be tracked." I warned him and Jonas threw the phone there and both of us ran. We did the same thing with three or four other shops and collected around $2,000

"One last robbery and we are done." Jonas told me "I will look for a small job, we can rent a flat and live a happy life thereafter." "I want to return to my mom." I cried. "Forget her, even if you reached your house, the police would find you and will take you to that horrible facility again." Jonas replied. I agreed since Jonas was making sense. We both decided to rob the greatest grocery store 'Takea'll' We were sitting in that secret garbage hut and were making the plan when we heard police sirens, tires screeching and eventually those sirens stopped after a while.

We were perplexed, worried and decided to hide and not utter a single word. We heard some footsteps and a voice "I saw both of them hiding somewhere here." We both were scared and held each other's hands. It felt a little bit awkward since I saw Jonas as a friend, but I felt safe along with him. More footsteps were heard, some garbage was heard falling as more and more people were coming inside the garbage pit. I took some garbage and put it in front of the garbage hut, but it was too late, since they saw us. "They are here, officer!!" A man screamed. We recognized him as the person whose shop we robbed for the first time asking for chocolates! A strong 5 feet 9-inch officer came, held us both by our right hands and headed towards the police car. We both tried to resist but his grip was too strong that our efforts failed miserably.

"Jonas, bite!" I commanded, Jonas agreed and both of us bit the officer. "Arggh!!" the officer cried in pain and left our hands. "Jonas, Ready?" I asked "Always!" he replied. "Forget!" I shouted, did my thing and Jonas shot gamma rays at my hands and all the six full grown people including the two police officers that came in the cars slept. We looked around and nobody was there.

I looked out for a tin can, used its steel to puncture the tires of the police car and within a minute I punctured a whole car. We hopped inside the second police car "Do you know how to drive?" I asked Jonas "Accelerator is in the middle, break is on the left." he said nervously. He clearly didn't know st about driving. We stole one of the shopkeeper's phones and saw a YouTube video stating 'How to drive a car.'

After fifteen minutes of mindful learning, I was able to start the car and we drove off. We reached town side and parked the car in a safe place. Fortunately, no one noticed that the police car was being driven by two ten-year-olds. "No more robberies!" Jonas told me and I agreed. I parked the car and both of us exited the vehicle, hopped outside and started looking for a flat. We asked some vendors and one of us directed us towards a flat that was very old and was dirt cheap.

The house belonged to an old lady, we went and asked for the price. She looked at us in a skeptical manner and asked, "Where are your parents?" "They died!" I lied to her "They both died in an earthquake, both of us brother and sister are orphans." "Should I find you an orphanage then?" The old lady suggested "The facilities are not good there." Jonas told her "It is a whole jungle out there, Miserable children everywhere ragging small children for no reason at all. We have money and can pay for the flat, please tell us the price." She looked at us again and grunted "$250 for one month and $2000 security deposit." "Can we deposit the security deposit now, shift inside the flat and give you the remaining amount at the end of the month?" I suggested and the lady agreed.

We entered into the house, Jonas brought some polyethene with him, on being asked he told "You never know, when one comes in handy!" We lay on the beds and relaxed for a while. Time passed; the police eventually found the stolen police car but couldn't find us. They forgot our faces, and everyone was looking for two blonde and one black women. The spell was powerful, and Jonas amplified it making it even more powerful. We had to pay the rent, Jonas was looking for a job and I was looking for another shop to rob. I eventually found another shop, but Jonas was not able to find any job due to racism. We discussed a plan and went inside the mart. It was 11 p.m. in the night, the two cashiers were about to close the shop when we entered the shop. "Do you children need anything?" the shopkeeper asked. "2 chocolates please!" I told him politely. One of the cashiers was standing outside while the other one was fetching us the chocolates "Forget!!" I shouted, did my thing and Jonas assisted with his gamma rays.

The cashier who was standing outside as well as the cashier who was fetching us the chocolates both fell asleep. We tried to steal the cash from the cash drawer but unfortunately it was locked. We picked a wiper and tried breaking the lock but our efforts were useless. We searched the fainted cashier's pocket, found the key, opened the cash register, took out all the cash, put it in our school bags and were about to leave the store when Jonas shouted, "We forgot to hack the cameras!!" Two police officers saw us running and shouted, "It's them!!" We were almost caught when I shouted "Merge!" did my thing and both of the officers crashed into one another and fell down.

We ran for our lives and returned to our flat. Not even a single soul saw us. We opened our bags, counted the cash and counted the amount "We stole $2,000, I think it's enough for the month or for our whole lives." Jonas chuckled nervously. "I am going to buy a dress with this, what about you Jonas?" I asked him. "Well, I am going to get myself some clothes too and some really good food." he laughed.

You and your family were suspended, which made it easier for us to rob the stores. Next day, we paid the rent to the landlord. We were still left with $1,750; we were about to leave the flat when we heard police sirens wailing. "What are they up to?" Jonas asked. We returned to our flat and switched on the TV. "Good morning, ladies and gentlemen, we have seen two new robbers in town who have robbed $2,000 from 'Takea'll' the new grocery store in town. If you come across these faces ever again, kindly report to the police station asap or call the numbers below." The photos popped, and we were shocked to see our faces on the TV screen.

"Get out of my flat right away!" a voice came from the ground floor which obviously belonged to the old lady. We didn't have any idea what to do and within a minute the old lady came upstairs and opened our door. "What have you two do..." "Forget!" the old lady was about to finish her sentence when I interrupted her with my spell. "Why did I come here?" she asked. "You came to ask for the rent, but we have already given it to you." Jonas lied, the old lady believed the lie and went back.

"That's the lamest excuse ever, Jonas." I taunted. "I am not as quick and clever like you women are, Elle." Jonas laughed "Jokes apart, the whole world knows us, we are on the news, the police will soon be putting posters of us, what should we do?" I thought for a while, and after half an hour of deep insightful thinking came up with an idea "When I cast the forget spell, people in a small radius or one or two people in a large radius forget things, when you amplify my abilities people in a large radius forget whatever we want them to forget, what if you keep amplifying my abilities unless the whole world forgets about us and even the camera's recordings are wiped off too." "Is that even possible?" Jonas asked curiously. "Never bad to try" I replied.

Both of us ran towards the nearby desert, nobody was there. We decided to take a cab, but it could have been risky since the whole world knew about us. We ran towards the desert and took positions. "Ready, Jonas?" I asked "Always!!" he replied. "Forget! Forget! Forget! Delete! Delete! Delete! Forget!" I kept saying while Jonas kept on releasing gamma rays while I was casting the spell. A radiation was released, another one was released after a minute and another one was released significantly. Similarly, more and more radiations were released constantly.

After an hour of magic, we went back to our flat. The old lady came out, blocked our way in and asked rudely "Who are you guys, are you trying to rob a lonely old lady?" "No, granny, we live here." Jonas laughed. The old lady scratched her head, and we told her everything except the fact that we were robbers of course. We entered our flat and decided neither to rob a store nor use our powers ever again and start living like normal people. We switched on the TV and the news about the robbers instantly disappeared! We searched all the news channels, but it couldn't be found. We actually erased all the recordings, footage and people's memories with a single spell.

We went shopping, had some succulent food, drank coffee and enjoyed our lives for the next few days and nobody remembered us. Jonas started looking for a job and finally found a job as a delivery boy in 'E8Pizza', a new pizza store which was quite far away from our flat. Jonas became a great driver and used to deliver pizzas and other snacks to customers within twenty minutes. Time passed, Jonas used to get a lot of bonuses for his amazing performance, and we were living a good life. We were 10- and 11-years old back then and I grew and turned 13 years old. Jonas turned 14. Everything was going fine, and we were living a happy life. One fine day, Jonas was asked to stay in the store after 10pm. "I thought our shifts end at 10pm." he asked curiously. "The orders have come from the above, take these keys and stay inside." The cashier informed him, handed him the keys and left the store along with the chefs. One by one, everyone left the store whereas Jonas was left all alone. Jonas was perplexed since nothing like that had ever happened before. He called me and informed me about the same.

After an hour, an Audi stopped outside the joint and a large 6-foot man came outside. He was wearing a white shirt, blue tie, black blazer, black jeans and black shoes. He came inside the joint, hugged Jonas and asked him to sit. Jonas and that white guy sat face to face. "I am the CEO of this joint, my name is Will Marks. You have helped my startup to reach from level 0 to level 20. A lot of people are dishonest, some are lazy, some are greedy, but you my boy, have helped me to make 10,000 successful happy deliveries. I have something special for you." Jonas was shocked after realizing that he was sitting in front of the CEO of the company. He took out his phone, called a person, a girl in a white shirt, black skirt and black boots came inside and handed him a printed sheet and a pen. He handed it to Jonas and said, "This is a lifetime contract, work for me for your entire life and I will give you as much money as you demand." Jonas's excitement had no limits.

After giving him the contract, Jonas called me, and I told him to sign it instantly. Jonas agreed and signed the contract. The guy put his hand in his pocket, took out a bundle of notes and slammed it on the table. Jonas's eyes were lit with excitement, he started counting the notes. "$100,000!!!" Jonas screamed in excitement "Thanks a lot sire." The CEO smiled at him and said "Don't tell anyone about it, or they will ask for money too, fking greedy assholes are recruited inside this joint." Jonas laughed, put the money inside his bag and asked, "Can I leave?" "Sure buddy, just hand me the keys." Jonas agreed, handed him the keys and left the joint.

Jonas came home and told me about the incident and even I was excited after hearing the amount Jonas got. I jumped in his arms, and we kissed for the first time. That was our first kiss, my first kiss. Both of us were awkward since we saw each other as brother and sister but this was something that siblings don't do. We bought a small sedan with the money, saved a huge part of it and bought some clothes for ourselves. We were damn excited, since our lifestyle instantly upgraded. Jonas got an increment; his salary was $4,000 previously but now it was $7,000. Our happiness didn't last long though.

Crimes started rising again in the city and the criminals were mostly black people. They were stealing chains, robbing houses, harassing women and other crimes too. Your family's suspension order was revoked. You and your family arrested many of them but still many of them were roaming free. As per the statistics, the crime rate fell but the happiness didn't last long as another bank robbery took place. 5 black men got inside the bank, closed all the entrances and asked for all the money. The police gathered, even you guys came but those robbers were having access to cameras all around the place and assault rifles. They warned that if anyone tried to stop the heist, innocent civilians will be killed. They were robbing the bank, the police on the other hand were constantly asking them to surrender. The heist was almost successful when one of the robbers decided to surrender.

Scared robber:- I want to surrender, I don't want to rob this bank, I want to go to my family safely.

Leader :- Are you out of your mind? We are going to escape safely, you moron, just hang around. You have done nothing except standing on the same place with that assault rifle.

The other robbers started laughing.

Scared robber :- No body's going to get out of here alive, Nobody's going home, the swag family will catch us once we leave this bank.

Leader :- I have a plan, we are going to take a hostage along with us.

The hostages who were listening the conversations were frightened.

Scared robber :- They have a family too, I don't want to be a part of this robbery, just let me leave and live a happy life.

The leader agreed reluctantly and picked up the megaphone from the table and started speaking "Hey there, this is to inform you that one of our buddies who never wanted to be the part of the heist wants to leave and go to his family. Kindly let him go safely and we won't harm anyone." The police agreed and promised not to harm the scared robber. The robber opened the gate, put his hands behind his neck and walked out. The police chief told everyone to hold fire. Everyone was aiming at that robber in case something odd happens.

The other robbers closed the gate and one of them said "I don't think he is even going to jail, he never wanted to be the part of the plan, but it was me who dragged him." All the other robbers smiled when they heard one of the police officer shouting "This ahole deserves to die! Fire!!" that officer was nobody but Edwin himself. The other robbers saw their friend being incinerated with bullets in front of their eyes by the camera that was installed outside. The robber died instantly and the other robbers, including the leader, were infuriated.

"We asked politely not to harm him, but I guess you cops don't listen. FIRE!!!" the leader commanded, and the other robbers started to fire bullets at innocent civilians. The police started rushing inside the bank, the swag family came inside too, but it was too late.

The robbers were eventually arrested but there were a total of 80 casualties. 80 innocent civilians killed for no reason at all. Some were being taken to a hospital, some were being cremated. The whole town was outraged. The robbers who were behind the heist were all black men. The govt. was agitated, a meeting was held, and it was decided to boycott all the black people.

Any black people who were working in companies were laid off, businesses of black people were shut down, black children who were studying in schools were told to either change their school or to leave the school urgently. College students started protesting against the partiality, 'Black Lives Matter' slogan came into existence. The whole town was outraged and in chaos. The families of the deceased started criticizing the govt. As well as the police force for their careless nature. Your family was criticized too but no action was taken since the police force's head Edwin commanded you guys to stay behind as the criminals were holding hostages at gun point and all the doors were closed.

Jonas's job was affected too. He was a punctual and disciplined guy, he came on time at E8pizza, but was not given the uniform to wear that he was usually given to wear and deliver stuff. When he asked the reason, he was told nothing and was asked to wait. After some time, he was asked to come in the meeting room, the secretary came and told him about the present situation. "I am really sorry Mr. Jonas, the CEO loved your work and we even signed the lifetime contract but unfortunately, I would have to tear the contract.taking into consideration the present circumstances." the secretary told him, took out the contract from her purse and tore it into pieces.

Jonas was heartbroken and tears started rolling down his eyes. The secretary looked at him, took a deep breath and went away. He called me and told me about the situation and even I was upset. A white guy came through the door and asked "I heard there is a vacancy for a delivery boy?" Jonas was agitated and rushed outside the joint. He came home, I hugged him and tried to calm him down. We turned on the TV and switched on the news channel. We saw that the reporter saying "The govt. Has asked all the black people to line up in the facility near downtown. This initiative has been taken by the govt. to stop any types of crimes and to restore peace and harmony inside the city."

Jonas never wanted to go to the facility since we knew that the people inside the facility are going to either torture the prisoners and make their lives miserable or straightaway kill them. We were discussing the situation and the action plan that needed to be taken when we heard a knock. I opened the door, and it was the old lady. "I am genuinely sorry, but Jonas needs to leave the flat." she told us and left.

"I can say Forget and erase the whole world's memory." I suggested Jonas but he denied. "We can't run forever, Elle. Even if we cast the spell, the people whose families have died will always remember their dead family members and eventually they will realize what happened to them. I would have to leave you, Elle." he replied painfully.

Jonas left the flat and I was very upset. He took a cab and told the driver to head towards the facility. The driver agreed and they went towards the facility and he never came back. I was sad and lonely. I tried contacting Jonas but his phone was always switched off. I opened a boutique and did makeup, hairdressing and other girly things of the nearby women that came inside my parlor. I had to keep myself busy since it was really difficult to recover from the heartbreak of Jonas leaving.

One Sunday, I decided to meet Jonas. The boutique was closed, so I made lunch for Jonas, which included rice and chicken curry, his favorite dish. I packed them for Jonas in a tiffin and left the house. I sat in the small sedan that we bought and headed towards the facility. After coming inside I saw that the prisoners were going through a tough phase. Some were starving for food, some were fighting with each other, some were shouting for no reason. I was afraid but the guard calmed me down and told me that they are behind bars and it's totally safe here.

I found Jonas finally, he was sitting all alone on seeing me with a tiffin, he was excited and rushed towards me but of course the big steel bars separated us. I gave the guard the food, he opened the gate and gave it to Jonas and then came back. We talked for a while, and I told him about the boutique which I opened to pay rent and for other miscellaneous expenses. After half an hour, the guard said, "Time's up!" and took me out of the room. "He's innocent, he didn't kill anyone." I informed the prison guard. "All black people are criminals. They have committed some crime at some point of life and even if they didn't it's the order straight up from the government and so we can't do anything." The guard replied and asked me to leave.

"Well, we did rob some stores, but I don't think that he should be punished like that for all of those petty thefts." I told myself in the car and headed back home. Time flew and I used to visit Jonas occasionally but one Sunday a police officer noticed me. He came outside my car and said "Lady, this is your last time coming here. Your boyfriend isn't on a picnic nor is he an army officer. If you don't stop visiting him, strict action will be taken against you too." I was frightened by the officer's warning and headed back home. I could actually use the spell and make everyone forget about everything (except Jonas of course) but it would be useless since their memory would return eventually after seeing their dead family member's photos again.

Time passed; I started dating other guys. I went on a coffee with some white guys, but they were too boring. One of them was so studious and boring that when I asked him to come home he replied "What will we do even if I come at your place. My books are at my house, and we can't study together without them." I smacked my head in disappointment. Studying was the last thing which was on my mind.

I dated another white guy. He was a strong muscular guy and had abs. He came to my place, and we talked for a while. I was wearing a miniskirt and a white T-shirt whereas he was wearing blue shirt and black trousers. He started inserting his hand inside my mini skirt but I shook him off. "Oh, come on, hotty, you invited me over just to talk? You could call over one of your female friends if you just wanted to talk." he groaned in anger. "I just want to take things slow." I replied nervously. I was a religious girl and did not want to involve myself in any of this without my parents' permission. He got even more angry and tried inserting his hand in my T-shirt but I shook him off again and punched his face.

The punch was a tough one, Jonas taught me how to fight and his nose started bleeding. "Aaargh!" he groaned in pain "I came here to get some action, and this is not the action I was looking for." He wiped the blood that was coming from his nose and slapped me hard. I punched him again in his abdomen and he fell down. He stood up, held me by my neck and pinned me towards the wall. He tried to kiss me forcefully, but I punched his face again, kicked his balls and his grip loosened. After hearing the noises, the old lady came upstairs and opened the door "Piss off!" he shouted after seeing the old woman and left the flat.

I narrated the whole incident to the lady and rather than sympathizing with me she started shouting at me. "You call these egoistic playboys over by yourself and then start complaining about them to me. What is wrong with all you modern day's women?" she grunted in anger. I apologized to her and told her that something like this is not going to happen again.

After that incident, I didn't date any other guys and started living my life all by myself. Some guys approached me outside the parlor, but I refused to entertain any of them. I was missing Jonas badly. After some time and after a lot of protests, strikes, hunger strikes a lot of innocent black men were released including Jonas. I was cooking food for myself, when I heard a knock. I peeped through the door glass and saw Jonas. I opened the gate and hugged him.

His clothes were a little bit torn; his ears were bleeding and there were some scratch marks on his toes too. "What happened to you?" I asked indignantly. "Water, give me water." he said and fell on the floor. I rushed to get a glass of water for him. He stood up and drank the water. He stood up, walked slowly towards the bedroom and lay on the bed.

He told me about the miserable circumstances he was in. He was not given food, was beaten occasionally for no reason at all, got indulged in fights with other prisoners even after a lot of resistance without any reason. Apart from all this, he was asked to smoke pot and to consume drugs. On refusing, he was smashed by a baseball bat, and he consumed the substances reluctantly. After half an hour of storytelling and resting, he got up and removed his T-shirt. His back was filled with stretchmarks and blood stains. "What happened to you?" I cried. "A lot, A lot happened, Elle." he said in a low voice and headed towards the bathroom to take a shower.

Eventually, he came out and I poured him some porridge. He ate all of it and asked for more. I gave more porridge and he again asked for more. I gave him porridge and told him to eat as much as he wanted. After eating the porridge, he went to bed again and slept. While he was asleep, I took a towel, applied some Dettol on it and cleaned his scars. I was infuriated by the torture that my boyfriend went through.

He woke up and with time eventually recovered. My boutique was doing well, and Jonas started looking for a job again. The boycott was eventually lifted but the discrimination didn't end. The white men were always preferred over black men due to which Jonas had a hard time getting a job.

He got a job as a salesman but after a week, he was immediately replaced because he was black. I was agitated too because Jonas was a good guy and watching him unemployed, struggling for a job made me furious.

Eventually, he got a job as a mill worker, but he was abused, thrashed and was even spat on for no reason at all. His boss was egoistic and wanted someone on whom he could relieve his stress on. I told him to leave that job, but he refused saying “He may look like a monster, shouts like a monster but still he helps me earn a living.” Eventually, after some time he was kicked out of that job because of his race.

One fine day, he came home with his head down. He told me about the news that he was fired, and I was infuriated. I put my hand on his chin lifted his chin up and said, “Let’s rob a bank!” Jonas was frightened. I told him that this world has never been good to us so there’s no point in being good to this world too. Jonas reluctantly agreed.

The heist, the lie and the lost fortune

Two of us would never be enough so we decided to gather reinforcements. We both went to a club, talked to some muscular people and gathered them along. We made a plan, a great one indeed because of which no one could catch us, even your family, Bravard, even the swag family would be having a tough time finding us. The plan was made, those muscular people arranged a van and some weapons.

I wore a trench coat and jeans along with red heels whereas Jonas wore a white shirt, black coat and black jeans along with black shoes. We posed as people who wanted to open a bank account and deposit cash. We tried to go inside but the guard stopped us at the entrance. "Who are you?" he asked, "Children are not allowed inside the bank." "We are not children, Mr. Bruce." I saw his batch and told him "We came inside to open a bank account and deposit cash."

The guard stared at us and finally let us in. We entered the bank. The bank was a big one and had a lot of people inside it. We were inside the bank.

We went towards the window where they gave us a form to fill to open a bank account. I filled in the form and gave it to the respective person. He gave me another form to fill in for depositing the cash. "Ughhh, so much paperwork, I am interested in other kind of paper, not this." Jonas laughed and the bank employee was gawking at him.

I told Jonas to shut up, filled in the form, smiled pleasantly and gave it to the employee. The employee asked for cash, Jonas put his hand inside his pocket and took out a bundle of notes which was actually our savings. The employee took the money, counted it, went away, deposited it in the locker and came back. "Do you people need any more help?" he asked. We looked at each other perplexed. "Don't you let us in and deposit the cash in the locker by ourselves." I asked. "No, there were some miscreants who tried to rob the bank once and tried to steal the cash, so we don't allow anyone to enter the locker area." he replied. Our great break in master plan went down the sewer.

"We are not those kinds of people, we maybe orphans but we don't have any intention to steal." I replied. "Sorry, rules are rules." the employee replied. We came out of the bank since any more discussion would raise suspicion. We sat inside the van and told our team about the same. "You guys are fing losers, we should just rush inside the bank, shoot the ceiling with our assault rifles, tell the cashier to hand us the cash and dash away." one of the masked men laughed. "The swag family will come and will make you dash straightaway to prison." Jonas laughed and I shook my head in agreement.

Next day, we went again to the bank and asked the employee to open a locker. He gave me a form for the same and I filled it in. We went towards the locker. There was a long hallway and a lot of employees were working there. Some of them saw us and were awestruck after seeing two teenagers opening a locker. Usually adults did what we were doing. We were surprised to see one employee working there it was one of the person whose shop we robbed earlier!

Fortunately he didn't see us, an employee was talking to him and pointed towards us. He instantly shifted his focus from the computer screen towards us and we instantly started looking in the other direction. A guard stopped us, but the employee told him that we were just kids and we headed inside the room.

It was just me, Jonas and the employee. The stairway was empty, there was nobody except the three of us. "Forget!" I said and did my thing. The bank employee stopped, scratched his head and asked, "Why am I here?" "You were about to give us all the cash in the ba...." Jonas was about to finish the sentence when I put my hand on his lips and interrupted him. "You were about to give us the key of the trillionaire's locker." I interrupted him and said, "We are his children, and he asked us to come here." The confused employee put his hand in his pocket and gave me the key.

Jonas punched the employee in his face, he fainted and fell down the stairs. We went inside and opened the locker. Jonas's and my eyes glittered after seeing the shiny gold and the bundle of notes kept inside. I put my hand inside my jeans pocket, took the foldable duffle bag out of it. The duffle bag unfolded itself and we put inside all the cash we could find inside the bag. There was still some space remaining, so we groped inside the pockets of the employee and found some more keys.

We matched the number of the keys with the lockers, opened the lockers, took out money, closed the locker and went away.

We were about to exit the staircase when we heard a groan. The employee was gaining consciousness, he saw us, took out his phone and was about to call the police when I shouted "Forget!!" did my thing and Jonas shot gamma rays at my hands. The employee fainted again. "What about the other employees?" Jonas asked. "What's the time?" I asked. "1:55 p.m." Jonas replied. "We are going to wait till 2, when their lunch break starts." I replied.

We opened the door which was attached to the staircase to the locker and to the main room. I peeped outside, the other employees were busy in their work, attending to customers, pressing keys on the keyboards of their computers, counting cash and many more things. I closed the door and waited. Eventually the clock struck 2 and all the customers were asked to leave. At 2:05 the customers left and only the employees of the bank remained.

"Where's Reed? I don't think opening a locker takes that much time." I heard one of the employees saying to the other one, they were clearly talking about the fainted employee. They were obviously a little bit suspicious. I saw one of them coming towards the door and I instantly closed it and locked it. "Heyy!" the employee shouted and started opening the door, but he was having a hard time opening the locked door. I opened the lock, let him enter and punched him in the face. The poor employee went rolling down the stairs.

The other employees were alarmed too. We opened the door, leaped outside, I took out my pistol and warned, "Nobody will call the police or the swag family, else you people are dead meat." The eight employees were trembling with fear after seeing the pistol. "We have robbed the bank and we don't intend to harm anyone but if you put a step forward, we won't back down." Jonas groaned in anger. The security guard was looking at us too, he was about to aim his rifle at us when Jonas shouted "Heyy, put it down." the guard pulled the trigger. The bullet came at us, "Divert!" I shouted and the bullet hit the wall and collapsed. Jonas was about to shoot the guard when an employee from the behind leapt on Jonas and stole his gun.

"You seriously thought, you would get away that easily?" the employee asked. It was nobody but Jack, the guy they punched after Reed and thought he fainted. Both were standing in the bank empty handed, whereas Jonas was wearing a duffle bag around their neck. "Ready, Jonas?" I shouted "Always!" he shouted. "Forget!" I shouted, did my thing and Jonas shot gamma rays at my hands and everyone in the bank fell asleep. We got out of the bank, but it was too late since we found ourselves gathered by police cars. Unfortunately, someone called the police as well as the swag family.

We looked around to find our van and reinforcements. The muscular men were laying on the floor, some were bleeding and two men's arms were broken. You, Bravard were laying on the top of our van and said "These guys decided to take a nap, so I decided to give them a good place, huh!" Obviously, you were mocking us and knocked all of them out. We looked around to escape but there was no way. Policemen were looking at us, aiming at us with their pistols. Your mother, Mary was about to rush and punch us when I shouted "Reverse!" and she changed direction and slammed herself into the wall of the street and fainted.

"Forget!" I shouted and was about to do my thing when I saw someone holding my hand. I looked back but didn't see anyone. "Forget!" I shouted and tried using my other hand, but I felt it was being held by someone. "Drop the bag, buddy you guys are done for!" You (Bravard) told Jonas. Jonas even dropped the bags. "Do you work for him or me?" I shouted at Jonas, but the police warned that they would shoot at Jonas if he tried picking up the bags. I seriously thought we were done for.

A big muscular guy came out of thin air, and I realized that the chief was holding my hands all this time. You rushed at Jonas, punched him in his face and he fell down. The police eventually came, I tried to resist but the chief's grip was too strong. They handcuffed me and put some mettalic coverings on my fingers. I tried using my spell but felt an electric shock whenever I did. They were about to handcuff Jonas, who had fainted after being hit by Bravard's punch when something weird happened. Jonas's whole body started releasing gamma rays. His eyes, his nose, his chest, his legs, and even his mouth. The whole police force, including you guys, were blinded. Even I was shocked, something like that had never happened before.

Jonas woke up, he became a strong ripped six feet muscular guy, white electricity and white light was coming out of him. He headed towards me, broke my cuffs, released me, searched for a hefty vehicle and saw a small cargo truck. The driver's seat was empty, he broke the door lock of the driver's seat with his bare hands but unfortunately the passenger seat was broken so I decided to sit on the basket type place which was on the back of the truck. He converted to his normal form drove as fast as he could.

You guys eventually regained consciousness, and after a matter of time we found ourselves being followed by you guys. You were following us in your van and were constantly asking us to surrender through the megaphone, but we refused.

The chief was driving, Mary was sitting in the passenger seat and You and Bracy were sitting in the back seat. The chief tried to fire bullets at us and at the truck too, but Jonas's driving was dope AF. He dodged all the bullets and neither of us hit the truck nor me.

We saw you flying and coming at us, landing in the back place and the action began. You tried to punch me once or twice, but I shouted "Divert!" and your punches went into thin air. I punched you three or four times too and they landed straight in your face and your abdomen.

"Freeze!" You shouted, and I saw thin ice coming from your bare hands, "Reverse!" I shouted and the ice flew backwards at you. Jonas started driving zig zag and tried to shake you off, but you were too tough to be shaken off. The zig zag made me fall at the place I was standing; you took advantage of that opportunity and punched me two or three times on my face “Haven’t your mom taught you any manners?” I asked furiously “Well, she has taught me how to treat girls, but she haven’t taught me about supervillains.” You gave a sarcastic reply.

I tried punching and kicking you again but none of them seemed to harm you. You took two steps back, smiled at me, made two small pistols from your bare hands, held them together, closed your eyes and were murmuring something. I was perplexed by what you were doing and within a minute I saw the whole road had turned orange. “What are you up to?” I asked “It’s a surprise, witch bch” you shouted. Within a matter of time a fiery Gorilla appeared out of middle of the road in front of the truck “Look out!!” I shouted and Jonas took a sharp left. The turn was so quick and rough that I fell at my place and my head hit the side of the truck. “Arghhh!!” I cried in pain “Are you trying to kill me, stupido?” I shouted at Jonas.

You took advantage of the opportunity and froze both of my hands with your left hand. We were driving on the orange road and a fiery 50 feet gorilla was following us. “Enough!” I shouted, I bammed my head on my right hand, broke the ice and shouted “Forget!” You were stunned for a bit and started scratching your head “Jonas, ready?” I shouted, “Do I have a choice?” he asked nervously and released gamma rays at my whole body. I felt powerful, the gamma rays amplified me. “What are you doing, Bravard. We didn’t train you to scratch your head, son!”

Mary shouted from the truck. You were gaining consciousness and threw ice at me “Divert!” I shouted. The ice diverted towards the Godzilla and slowly and steadily the Godzilla disappeared as his flames extinguished after being struck by the ice. I punched you and since my body, my powers and even my fists were powered by Jonas, the punch hit you hard. A right hook on your face made golden blood come out of your mouth, a left hook made some more blood come out of your mouth and within a minute you were standing at one end of the truck. I did a backflip and you launched in the air. “Fall miserably!” I shouted. Jonas was driving with one hand and amplifying me with gamma rays with the other. You went flying in the air and went flying like a rocket and fell on the road.

“Bravard!!” Mary shouted after seeing their son flying in midair, exited the running van and ran towards you. As I could see, your head was bleeding and you had fainted. She rushed back to the truck, kept you inside the truck and asked Bracy to wound you up. Me on the other hand, asked Jonas to speed up.

Mary saw us, ran at the speed of sound, hopped inside the truck and threw punches at me. The punches were hard to be honest, I tried to resist but she wouldn’t stop, so i kicked her stomach and she flew out of the truck. She went rolling down the road, her head was bleeding too. I asked Jonas to speed up since we never intended to harm anyone. She sped up again, was in midair and was about to hop on the truck again when I shouted “Reverse!!”

Mary went running in the opposite direction and tried to stop herself, but her efforts failed, and she crashed into your van miserably. She went flying into the air after hitting the van and collapsed on the ground. Your van stopped, the chief got out of the van to pick up Mary and put her back into the truck. “I will kill you rascals with my bare hands!!” the chief shouted, got back in the truck and started following us.

He tried shooting bullets at me but i diverted them all with my spell and none of them hit us. I saw Bracy trying to do something in order to revive you guys. After a while, I saw Bracy hop on the passenger seat and whispering something in your father’s ear. She was definitely up to something. The van stopped. We were heading at full speed and saw you guys getting shorter and smaller with distance. We were not able to see what you guys were up to. I looked forward rather than looking backwards. “Speed up!” I shouted “Babe, it’s a truck not a sportscar, this is the highest it can go!” he replied, and we were moving as fast as we can.

After some time we heard a noise, a strong smoke emitted type noise. I looked back and saw a rocket coming towards us. “Reverse!” I screamed, the rocket was almost 20 inches away from the truck, it went up in the sky and flew towards your family. Your father chief took a sharp right and dodged the rocket. They were frustrated and were raging in anger. I could see their angry faces, Haha.

I don't know maybe the sharp right made you, Bravard awake or what but I saw Bracy looking back and talking to someone, you guys were again upto something. I saw you make a fireball but it disappeared in thin air. The fall damaged your head and maybe that's why you were almost useless and your powers weren't working.

Bracy was definitely upto something. I saw her getting out of the car and trying to climb the ladder which led to the roof of the van. "Fall!" I shouted and Bracy fell on the road, converted herself into a skateboard and disappeared. I figured out she was behind the van trying to climb the ladder up again which was on the back of the van, she had some bullets hanging around her neck, like a sling bag. I didn't know what she was up to.

She climbed on the top of the van and attached herself with the corner of the van with a nylon rope, sat in a horse pose, smiled at me and converted herself into a machine gun. "What the f..." I was about to finish my sentence when she started firing on me. Bullets were hurling towards us "Jonas watch out!" I shouted, Jonas looked through the rear view and began driving in zig-zag style.

A lot of bullets were dodged but some hit the truck. "Divert! Divert! Divert!" I was screaming, doing my thing again and again but the bullets were proceeding against us at such a high speed that i couldn't divert all of them but diverted many of them. "Aaah!!" I shouted. "What happened?" Jonas asked. "I am preparing for a screaming competition." I replied. "Oh, best of luck, Elle." he said. "I am hit with bullet, dumbo." I replied and tried to cover the blood that was coming out of my arm. One of the bullets hit me on my shoulder and it was paining badly.

Jonas shot gamma rays at my hand to quicken the auto healing properties, but it wasn't helping since golden blood was coming out of my arm and it was paining severely. "Speed up, dumbol!" I started criticizing Jonas for my misery "I am driving at my highest speed, Elle. Stop criticizing me again and again. It's hampering my driving." Jonas replied. "Oh yes, I am sorry, Vin Diesel. Drive as slowly as you can and see my body incinerated with bullets when you finally stop." I commented sarcastically.

I was talking to Jonas when I felt something incinerating my leg. "Aaah!" I screamed in pain "They shot another bullet which hit my leg." Bracy was firing continuously and suddenly stopped. The machine gun started smoking; some bullets had hit the Tyres due to which the truck we were driving became slower, but the good thing was that the machine gun stopped. "They ran out of bullets." I screamed with a little bit of excitement. "I will try to reverse time." "Can you do that?" Jonas asked. "Do we have any other option except experimenting, aah?" I told Jonas while crying in pain since the auto healing properties were taking too much time.

Our truck was running at a slower speed. Within a minute, Jonas was firing gamma rays again at my body. I made a circle in the air, it looked like a clock "The time must be reversed and the bullets must fall out!" I screamed but nothing happened since the truck was still moving at a slower speed and I was bleeding from my shoulder as well as my leg. "The bullets must exit the truck's tyres and my shoulders, The bullets must exit the truck's tyres and my shoulders." I started repeating the sentences and slowly bullets began exiting the truck. "Are we actually reversing time?" Jonas shouted in excitement. "Yes, we are honey." I replied. "Who the hell are you guys? Siblings of Dr. Strange or Wanda the witch?" the chief shouted in agitation. "We are the potent duo, amplifier and Eclipse (Eclipse- symbolizing change and cosmic power and Elle)" I shouted in excitement. "Amplifier is a good name!" Jonas cheered in excitement "Concentrate on the road, mister!" I mocked him, and he shifted his focus.

Everything was going fine, we sped up and were slowly losing touch with their truck when something awful happened. Bracy opened the door and leapt out of the truck. "Oh comeon, now what she is upto?" I said to myself. I saw plane's wings being formed, I then saw the Ruddler, Elevator and the Vertical stabilizer forming. Within a matter of time, I saw a plane in the sky beating our truck's speed, overtaking us and flying at a really high speed. That plane went miles ahead of us and dropped something on the bridge. "They are trying to block our path by bombing the bridge." I told Jonas. Your sister was dropping bombs at the bridge to break it and it worked. We saw the bridge broken miles ahead of us. We were blocked and the only way out was to fly over the cliff.

She then flew back to the van's direction, turned into her normal human form, landed on the top of the van and climbed inside the van. "We will have to fly!" I told Jonas. "Elle, I have to remind you we are in real life and it's not a video game. We don't have nitro with us otherwise we would have genuinely flown. Can your magic do that? If yes, do it on urgent basis since the cliff is just a mile away." he replied, and I agreed.

"The van must fly!" I began chanting, started doing my thing with my right hand and was covering the wounded shoulder with the other since the reverse spell didn't work on me and my shoulder and leg were still bleeding. "The truck must fly, the truck must fly!" I kept shouting. The truck's two front tyres lifted up in the air. Jonas was amplifying my abilities by shooting gamma rays at my hand, while on the other hand, Bracy turned into a nitro boost, installed herself along with the exhaust pipe at the back of the van and your van was heading towards us at a really high speed.

The cliff was just a kilometer away but the truck wasn't flying. "The truck must fly, the truck must fly!" I kept chanting. The cliff came, and the truck immediately took off in the sky. "The truck must fly!" I kept on repeating and after a minute we were already in midair. Your van sped up too, Bracy was using her nitro boost to launch the van in the sky and you were just five metres behind us. The chief took something out of the dashboard, I had a look but couldn't do anything since I was using both of my hands to make the truck fly. "The truck must fly, the truck must fly!" I kept on repeating with my eyes closed, opened my eyes, saw chief pointing his pistol on me and he pulled the trigger.

"Noooo" I screamed, ducked and the truck which was flying in midair was falling down. "What are you doing, Elle?" Jonas shouted. "That old chief was trying to shoot us.” I answered. The van was falling down, fortunately it was nothing, but a river and we fell into the water. “The truck will float!” I began repeating and immediately the truck’s Tyres went all horizontal and our truck was floating inside the river. Your van on the other hand, reached the other side of the cliff, thanks to Bracy, but we were heading in the opposite direction i.e. where the river was taking us.

We saw you for some time but then you guys eventually disappeared. I knew you were not the people who would easily give up and would continue to follow us, so I used the river’s water to heal my wounds. Jonas was not doing anything either since the car was driving automatically and was heading wherever the river was taking it and helped me in the healing process.

Eventually we reached the end of the river and there was a waterfall. We fell with the waterfall and was again heading in the direction where the river was taking us since the collapse was not that harmful or severe. Everything was going fine and we actually thought we lost track of you guys when we heard something. We heard a motorcycle’s tires whirring sound but couldn’t see anyone. I genuinely thought that I was hallucinating but my suspicion was confirmed when Jonas asked, “Hey Elle, do you hear something?” We looked around but didn’t see anyone. Jonas turned around and kept his hands back on the steering, I on the other hand was trying to look for you guys when I felt a thud.

It was the chief right in front of me. The motorcycle came out of thin air on the land beside the river and I figured out your master plan. The chief punched me on my face. “Elle!!” I heard Jonas shouting “Get away from him, you ahole!” Jonas shouted whereas the chief gave him a deaf ear.

He held both of my hands from his one muscular hand and was punching me constantly. “First, my son then my wife, I am not going to leave you alive.” the invisible chief said from thin air. After the seventh punch I fainted. Jonas was throwing gamma rays at me but it didn’t work since the chief was too powerful for me. He told me the story afterwards. Eventually a dead end came, land came, the truck stopped and Jonas got out of the truck.

I am not leaving you; Jonas was trying to fight the chief and he even landed some great punches, but your father was a lieutenant and he punched him back so hard that he was knocked out too. Bracy returned to her human form and called the police. The nearby police came, picked us up and were taking us inside the vans.

"Take this cheap copy of vin diesel and smash him so hard unless he remembers his humanity." Your father mocked, and the police eventually took him inside their cars too.

Both of us were in the police car, I was fainted but Jonas regained consciousness. They were putting the stolen money inside the police van when something unusual happened.

Smokes began coming out of the thin air and within a minute all of us were covered in pale colored smoke. "Who is behind all of this?" the chief roared in anger while coughing "Show me your face!" he shouted. A tranquilizer hit him, he was stunned and tried to remove the dart, but his efforts failed, and he fainted. Some more darts were shot out of thin air and slowly and steadily all of the police force and rest of your family members were asleep.

We were picked up by a big 6 feet guy and the money was kept in the same car too. "Who.... is this? Do I kn... kn... know you?" Jonas said in half consciousness, but the big guy didn't say anything. His mouth and neck were covered with a muffler, he was wearing a black hat and black sunglasses and only his nose was popping out. The big guy drove off.

Eventually I woke up, looked around, our hands were tied up and mouth was covered with a black tape. I looked around and saw Jonas in the similar situation too except for the fact that he was asleep. I tried struggling and remove the nylon rope with which my hands were tied up but my efforts failed relentlessly. "Don't worry, since you are safe here." a voice came "The $300,000,000 that you stole is safe too."

"I was astonished. Who was our savior? Who was the guardian angel? Was he really a guardian angel or he was after the money that we stole at the first place?" these thoughts were occurring constantly in my head. Jonas regained consciousness and he too was struggling with the rope his hands were tied with. The guy came in front of us, he took off his hat, his sunglasses, the muffler with which his mouth and neck were covered with and we were shocked to see the familiar figure. It was nobody but the CEO of 'E8pizza'!

Jonas's eyes widened in astonishment and he stopped struggling. The big guy untied our ropes and tore off the tape with which our mouths were covered with. We both hugged the CEO. "OK, OK get off me!" he said and started pushing us away "Why didn't you come to me and ask for a job even when the boycott was lifted?" the CEO asked Jonas "I genuinely thought, you wouldn't take me back." Jonas replied. The CEO started laughing. "You were my best guy, I would have definitely taken you back." he replied.

"We need to hide your faces somehow; the whole world knows about you." he warned us. "We can make the whole world forget about us if me and Jonas are given a chance to cast a spell, we did it before too." I suggested "It's too dangerous out there, girl. I have a better plan." he replied. He held both of our hands and took us out from the dark room and knocked on a white door. 2 5 feet small guys opened the door. "We need your help, compadres." the big guy(CEO) told the people and they agreed.

They took us and made us lay on separate beds. "Who are they? What are they going to do to us." I asked fearfully "They are some well-known surgeons and they are just going to give you people a new look." he answered. At first I was a bit hesitant but realised that we had no other choice. The guys gave us an injection which was Midazolam, an injection which is used to make people fall asleep before a surgical procedure. When we woke up, we felt a little bit weird. We went towards the room to check if the money was safe, and it was. The CEO was happily counting the cash. He gave us new smartphones so that we couldn't be tracked. We opened the camera and switched on the front camera and we were shocked to see our new faces!!

"From today, you are Jason and you pretty lady, your name will be Alisa." The big guy informed us, and we happily agreed. "How did you manage to do all that?" Jonas asked curiously from the CEO. "Well, I always knew there was a little bit odd about you, my boy." The CEO started telling the story "I wanted you to come back, I really did, you were my best man, but the boycott was severe, and I didn't want to take any risks, so I decided to stalk you guys! I saw Elle delivering you food, but her attempts failed eventually. I kept track of you, your meet with those muscular miscreants, your plan to rob the bank, everything. I knew your plan would fail so I decided to follow you guys." The CEO kept talking, went inside the secret room and came back with a knife. He slit his veins with the knife and golden blood began coming out of his veins.

"I am a super too, buddy!" he said excitedly "My ability is making clones of myself!" "You didn't need to slit your veins; you could have simply said that without doing that also." Alisa chuckled nervously "Just do whatever you want!" The big guy said and went inside another room. We would live a happy life but still we wanted to make the whole world forget about us since we didn't want to take any risks. Me and Jonas went outside, went to a deserted place and did the procedure.

I was repeating forget and Jonas (from now on Jason) helped me by shooting gamma rays at my hands when a cop saw us. "Leave that girl alone, you perv." he shouted and shot Jonas. The cop thought that Jonas was trying to harm me. The bullet hit Jonas's forehead and Jonas fell. "Jonas!!" I shouted, I took him on my shoulder and quickly sat inside the car and drove off. We went back to the warehouse and the surgeons quickly put Jonas on a stretcher and took him to the room.

"He will take some time to recover, he has been attached with glucose." One of the surgeons told me after 30 minutes of operation. Everything was going just fine; the money was kept in the nearby almirah. We decided to give $50,000 to the surgeons ($25k each) for the treatment and to keep their mouths shut, and the rest we would divide among ourselves. We were shocked when we woke up the other day since all the money in our almirah, which was locked, disappeared.

Me and the CEO looked everywhere, but to our shock the almirah's lock was broken and the bag wasn't there. We were downhearted, we went out looked around everywhere, tried to call the surgeons but they weren't picking up. Jonas was still in recovery and we clearly didn't know shit about operations. That was the day when I sat in the bar, Alfred found me. It was a saturday night, I was drinking all alone and there comes a 5ft 10 inch guy shouting loudly “Saturday is not the day to drink alone, let’s dance!! Woohoo!!” I was not in such a good mood but his vibes changed my mood. We danced and danced and eventually I told him about my situation.

I told him that me and my brother Jason went to the forest to hunt but he was shot by a hunter, and he fainted. Fortunately, some surgeons found us, operated on him but ran away with the money. Alfred believed the story, came into the warehouse, called some surgeons, operated on Jason and eventually Jason recovered.

Me and Jason decided to find a flat and live there. We planned to have kids, Jason agreed and started working in the pizza joint. Everything was getting back on track, the police were trying to find us, but they could never find us since we had different faces, different names and different identities as well. We were searching for the thieves and the money as well, but our efforts were going down the drain.

Eventually Jason started working in the E8pizza and I closed the boutique and was working as a housewife since returning to the boutique would raise suspicion. One fine day, Jason came home. I was excited and told him that we plan to have a baby tonight and even he laughed and agreed. I made oats for him; he ate the oats, but I guess fate had a different plan for us.

He started coughing. He started coughing continuously and after a while he spat blood. "What happened to you, darling?" I asked Jason and he shrug his shoulders. We took him to a doctor, "Due to high alcohol and drug consumption, his intestines and liver are damaged and he won't be able to bear babies." The doctor told us "Even if he decides to have babies, the babies could be severely handicapped or could have some serious infections and won't be able to live a normal life." I was astonished and asked Jason and he told me everything about the torture. He said that he was bullied, made fun of and was forced to take drugs else the bullies would kill him. Our future plans crumbled.

I went into the bar since I was highly stressed and disheartened. It was a Saturday night and I met Alfred again. He just wanted a follow up and was disheartened too when I told him about Jason's situation. "Nothing can be done now, huh?" he asked. I nodded my head.

He gave me some money and told me to date his younger friend Justin. I agreed since I didn't have a choice and that was a good chance to search for the stolen money as well as the thieves.

We met in the bar, dated for a while but the CEO was the problem. He used to barge every time thinking that I was wasting my precious time and enjoying with Justin rather than looking for money. So, he kept showing up, once in the amusement park, once near the fine dining restaurant, once near the bar and so on. He used to scold me for wasting time and not doing what I was supposed to do, but I was having fun too. Justin was a great person to hang out with.

We started making future plans too but then I found you. I liked Justin but I never loved him since we never had a future together, I never wanted to adopt children, but I couldn't see him sad either, so I lied just so that he doesn't get sad. I wanted to start a new life since even if we found the money, what would I do with all of it alone? You and your father were quite famous, and I knew that you would do background checks on any girl that you would want so I decided to meet Jason once again.

He was an addict, he used to work at the joint and smoke pot all day. "Woahh, you remembered me again, didn't you?" he asked "What do you want now, Huh? You Want to rob another bank, huh? You didn't come here without a purpose." I told him that I am getting engaged with you and needed his help. He was sad at first, I could tell by the look in his eyes but eventually he agreed. We went into a desert, took positions and I shouted "Forget!!" did my thing and he shot gamma rays at my hands. Eventually radiation was released. Me and Justin's names in all the hotel records, camera recordings, photos, memories of people who saw us together were erased. "Thanks!" I told Jonas/Jason. He didn't utter a single word and went back to his home.

And that was the day when I went on a date with you, the rest is history. I am telling you Bravard darling, let's forget the past. We can do so much with this money once we find it, think about it. Being a superhero too won't pay you this much!

It was 7 am. Alisa literally took the whole night, narrating the story. "All this time, I was dating a supervillain, what the hell is wrong with me?" He took a pause "How dare you have the audacity to manipulate me to be a partner in crime with you. I am never going to betray my nation." he shouted. The ice in which Alisa's hands were stuck on the wall started melting. Bravard froze her arms and legs once again. He eventually called the police, told them everything, removed his ring, threw it on the floor and said, "I call off the engagement." The police took Alisa away in their cars, she looked at Bravard sadly. The police drove off and locked her in a special prison cell all alone.

On the other hand, Justin was frightened by the threat that he received from Bravard. "What should I do?" he said to himself. He wasn't aware of the whole story and didn't know that Alisa was a supervillain and only knew half of the story. "I will bring my Alisa back to me, she is not safe with that so called superhero Bravard." he said to himself. He rushed towards the laboratory, it was 3 am, and tried to replicate the superspeed serum as his parents made.

As they say half knowledge is always dangerous. He drank it but something weird happened. He forgot to mix some vital ingredients which was mentioned in his father's phone and fainted.

Despite Alfred's warnings, Justin tried to make the superspeed serum but unfortunately, his efforts failed and he fainted.

Chapter 10

Echoes of a fateful night

After heavy partying, Alfred decided to drop a girl at her home. He dropped her home on his BMW bike, that girl gave him a piece of napkin and whispered, “Don’t forget to call me, hawty.” Alfred watched her go home, unfolded the napkin, saw her phone number written on it, tore it into pieces and said, “In your dreams, Ha!” The girl obviously didn’t hear him say that and he eventually drove the bike straight to his home. On his way home, he saw the laboratory and saw the gates of the laboratory open.

He looked at his watch, it was 6:45 am. “What is Justin up to at this point of time, doesn’t he sleep in the night or is he a vampire?” He joked, stopped his bike and went inside. “Justin where are..... what have you done to yourself?” he shouted after seeing Justin’s body on the floor.

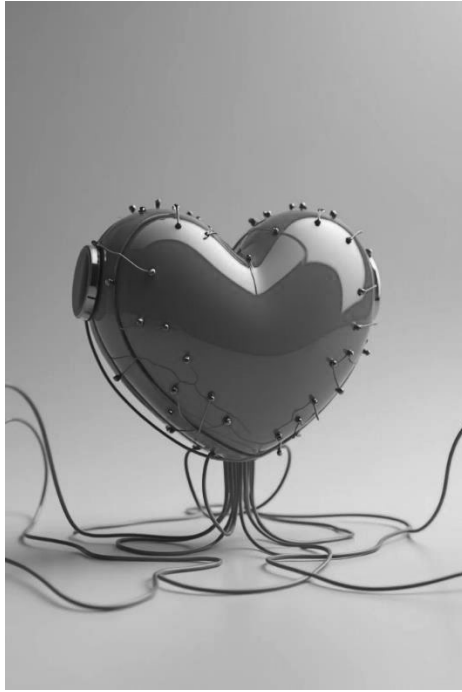

His mouth was releasing foam, and he was lying dead on the floor. He called the hospital and within a minute an ambulance came to rescue Justin. Justin was put on the stretcher and was taken to one of the best hospitals. After days of treatment, the doctor gave up on Justin. They said that the substance he drank had damaged his heart, he could have been saved if he was taken to the hospital earlier but unfortunately, he would never come back to life ever again.

Alfred never gave up. Alfred may be a playboy but his love for Justin was unconditional and everlasting. He took him to a few more hospitals but all of them said the same thing. They all tried their best but eventually they gave up. He called the world's best surgeons but even they gave up all their hopes and considered Justin dead. Alfred was shaken. The previous day he saw Justin nice and fine, crying for Alisa and now he was dead. Time flew, Alfred was asked to cremate Justin, but he refused and decided to take the matter in his own hands.

He went to the library and asked for some surgery books. "Are you a surgeon? Do you have a license?" Alfred refused and said, "I am just a student and wanted to increase my knowledge." The librarian agreed and gave him all the books that he wanted to read. Alfred sat at the table and decided to read the whole book. It was 3pm in the afternoon, time eventually flew away and it was 10 pm in the night. Alfred was asked to leave since it was closing time, so he decided to issue that book. He went home and completed the book. Time passed, Alfred did some petty work in the laboratory, reached the library in the afternoon and left at night.

After reading those books, he started to apply that practical knowledge to Justin's dead body. He tried his best, but his efforts failed relentlessly. He started reading more kinds of books and operated Justin, but his efforts were of no use. On the other hand, Bravard called off the engagement, called the cops and Elle/Alisa was in jail. A whole court meeting was called, and the judge gave the decision to send Alisa to jail for robbery, attempt to murder and harming the policemen. The cops tried to search for Jonas/Jason too, but they couldn't find him anywhere. The cops even tried to search for the surgeons as well as the stolen money but even after searching the whole town they couldn't find any of the two anywhere.

Alfred on the other hand read about a device that can make a heartbeat again. Alfred was excited, read more of it and decided to make the device. It was a small heart shaped device that is attached to the heart and even had some wires that were used to wrap itself on the nerves of the human being. Alfred decided to make a device and test it on a small rabbit. Days passed and finally the new engineer as well as the surgeon in town made the device. The device was ready to use and he decided to test it on a rabbit.

He injected the rabbit with some general anesthesia and the rabbit fell asleep. He started operating on the rabbit, opened his chest and installed the device in his heart. After installing the device in his heart, he sealed his chest back up and the rabbit eventually woke up after half an hour. He took out a knife from his drawer and stabbed the innocent animal with it. The rabbit was dead, he started bleeding, eventually his eyes closed, and he died. He waited for the device to work but it didn't. He waited for an hour, two hours, a day, three days, a whole week but it didn't work.

Alfred was sad but he refused to give up. He brought another rabbit, did some modifications inside the device and repeated the process. The new rabbit eventually died too. He brought three more rabbits, did some more modifications but nothing worked. Alfred was disheartened. He didn't lose hope though and decided to test it on another rabbit for the final time. This time, he brought a brown healthy rabbit and made some serious modifications in the device. He looked at the video where his father and Justin's father (Mr. Wilson and Mr. Marble) were making the serum and decided to repeat that process. He looked at each and everything carefully so that he didn't mess up like Justin did. He made a superstrength serum and inserted it into the device. After doing everything, he stabbed the innocent animal and waited for him to revive but nothing was happening.

Hours passed, he was sitting on his desk with his head on the desk, frustrated when out of a sudden he heard a whirring sound. He looked closely and the dead rabbit opened his eyes and started blinking. Alfred's excitement had no limits. He looked closely and the hands of the rabbit as well as the legs of the rabbit started shaking. "Ahaa! I knew it would work!" Alfred gasped excitedly. The wound started to heal automatically, and the rabbit woke up. Alfred started dancing as his elation had no limits.

He brought in a chimpanzee, made another device which was the size of the chimpanzee, repeated the process and stabbed the chimpanzee. Within an hour or two, the chimpanzee's wounds started to heal automatically and he woke up. Alfred was happy and gave himself a pat on the back. Finally, the device was ready to revive Justin.

He operated on Justin, took the size of his heart and made a device the same size as his heart. He installed the device inside him and sealed his chest and waited for the device to work but it didn't. He stabbed Justin in his legs, hoping the wound would get healed but it didn't work either. Hours passed, Days passed, a week passed but there was no improvement.

Alfred did his best, but it didn't work on Justin and his efforts failed miserably. Alfred was disappointed once again and lost hope. He ordered a salad and decided to eat it. He finished the salad and was about to get up when he heard a voice, "You ate it all alone, didn't you Alf?". Alfred looked back and his eyes were filled with joyous tears after watching Justin sitting upright on the stretcher. "Oh my god, you woke up, it worked!" Alfred cried happily and hugged Justin. "What worked, where am I and where's Alisa?" Justin asked. "Forget about that foolish woman!" Alfred told Justin and slapped him. "Ouch!" Justin shouted in pain after being smacked and Alfred narrated the whole incident.

Tears started rolling down his eyes after listening the whole story. "You became a surgeon for me?" Justin asked with tears in his eyes. "Yeah, kinda!" Alfred laughed and Justin hugged him. Alfred showed him the rabbit and the chimpanzee and even Justin was shocked. "We can do so much good with it." Justin laughed. "Yes, we can, buddy!" Alfred agreed to his statement. Both of them were extremely excited. "Let's go to Las Vegas to enjoy your revival buddy and remember don't fall for a girl there too." Alfred laughed and Justin agreed.

They both went to Las Vegas and were having the best time there. Tickets were booked for a month; they were filthy rich and nobody could stop them. A week passed but something weird was happening in their laboratory. The rabbit who they revived earlier was having some kind of trouble eating the carrots that it was being fed. Alfred appointed a caretaker for the special bunny rabbit and the chimpanzee who used to feed them carrots and bananas three times a day and then headed towards his home. The bunny was not eating the carrots that were being fed to him and the caretaker was lenient and he didn't bother finding the reason for the same. One fine night, the bunny's eyes went all black and its teeth began growing. The chimpanzee started shouting after seeing the scary bunny. The bunny started biting the steel bars in which it was put and was constantly trying to escape the prison. The chimpanzee kept shouting and eventually his shouting voice turned into a groan of anger, his eyes started turning black too and his teeth became sharper.

Next day, the caretaker came inside the laboratory, entered the pet room and was astonished to see that the rabbit's prison's bars were broken and there was no one inside. He looked for the chimpanzee, but the chimpanzee was missing too. He was confused and was about to exit the room when he saw both were standing in front of him. "Oh, there you are. Go return to your places." the caretaker said with a sigh of relief and was about to pick the rabbit when both the dreadful creatures attacked him.

Alfred and Justin were having no idea what happened in the laboratory since they were busy enjoying with women, enjoying the most lavish drinks they ever can, visiting the most enjoyable places anyone could visit. Alfred tried calling the caretaker, but he never received a reply, nor did he bother much since he was busy enjoying himself with his resurrected (previously dead now alive) brother. After enjoying with his brother from another mother, they finally came home. Both were tired so both went to their homes and slept.

The next day, they reached the laboratory and to their astonishment the laboratory was open. "Uh! These lazy fools!" Alfred said to himself "Should have never hired him at the first place." They went inside and Justin screamed after seeing the dead body of the caretaker. "Ahh! What happened to him?" Justin screamed "No idea, buddy. We left him to take care of a rabbit and a chimpanzee, not a lion." Alfred replied, running to the room where Justin was. Justin headed inside the pet room and saw both cages were open.

"What has happened here?" Justin was wondering when a rabbit leapt on him and was about to attack him when Justin held the creature by his neck and slammed it towards the wall. The rabbit's eyes closed, and he stopped breathing instantly. "Arghh! That was harsh!" Alfred said "Why is this small bunny rabbit after the caretaker and you too?" They both were chitchatting when both heard a whirring sound. The rabbit's heart was beating, his eyes opened, his toes started moving and within a minute he came back to life and stood on the ground. He was bigger and stronger than before.

"Oh! Come-on!" Alfred shouted. The rabbit looked at Justin and then Alfred. He started running towards Alfred and was about to attack him when Justin held his toe, slammed him on the ground once, twice, thrice and then smashed it again in the wall. "I will rip this bunny apart!" Justin said in a sadistic tone, his eyes were completely black and his voice was scarier than it usually was. "What have I done? What have I made Justin?" Alfred said to himself.

Justin headed towards the rabbit, took a sharp knife and ripped the rabbit's throat off his body. "Attack me now, you headless coney." Justin said in a scary voice. Alfred on the other hand was trying to control his vomit after seeing the scary scene and instantly went to the toilet.

He came out of the toilet when he felt a push. He fell on the ground, turned his head and saw the scary chimpanzee with an iron rod in his hand. His eyes were yellow, the nails were bigger and scarier than usual, he was taller too. The chimpanzee was going to attack Alfred when Justin held the rod, snatched it from the animal and bashed the creature's head with it. The chimpanzee fainted.

"When did you become a martial arts artist, huh?" Alfred mocked Justin "We need to restore it back to his normal form, where is the sedative?" Alfred started looking for the sedative which was used to reverse the effect of the serum and would put the chimpanzee to sleep. He even found the sedative and was about to inject it into the chimpanzee when Justin shouted “Stop!” and Alfred stopped.

Justin held the chimpanzee by his neck in one hand and tore off his head with the other. “What the hell is wrong with you?” Alfred shouted in frustration after seeing the chimpanzee’s agony. “His heart has the device, even if you would have injected it with the sedative, it would have been a problem.” Justin justified his action and Alfred reluctantly agreed. “What have you done, Alfred?” Justin asked in a low tone.

Alfred and Justin sat on a table and started talking :-

Justin:- What are the ingredients of this device? What have you installed in it, what is it made up of?

Alfred:- Iron, copper wires and some super strength serum...

Justin:- You know that serum contains some kind of black magic, doesn’t it?

Alfred:- I couldn’t see you dead just like that, buddy....

Justin:-OK, see we need to extract that serum out of my heart otherwise there is a high possibility that I turn in in one of those spooky creatures too!

Alfred:- I agree buddy, but there is a chance that you die too.

Justin:- I am already dead, Alf. My love left me, I am not a super, and those chemicals had a bad reaction on me.

Alfred agreed and Justin layed down on the stretcher. Alfred gave him a general anesthesia and started operating on him. Alfred was amid the operation and had extracted 80% of the liquid through a syringe when Justin woke up. “What are you trying to do?” he roared in anger and asked in a scary voice. His eyes turned completely black, he was having sharp teeth and sharp nails.

“Buddy, we just tal...” Alfred was about to finish his sentence when Justin held his neck “You are trying to kill me, aren’t you?” he asked and Alfred nodded in disagreement. He threw Alfred far away and removed all the wires that were attached to him. “It was because of you Alisa left me, it was because of you our parents got killed, you are the reason everyone sees me as a player.” Justin shouted and headed towards Alfred. “I was trying to make things right, buddy. I never wanted you two to break up, why don’t you unde...” Alfred was about to finish his sentence when he held Alfred’s neck, threw him away and exited the laboratory. Alfred took his last breath and died.

Justin went towards the nearby kickboxing dojo. It was 2 pm in the afternoon and the dojo was about to close. He broke the main gate and entered inside the place. “Woahh! That is definitely not way to enter the dojo.” one of the trainers told and took a fighting stance. “Get out of the dojo! I want to buy this place.” Justin told the trainers in a dreadful voice. “This dojo ain’t for sale!!” the bulky trainer informed Justin. Justin went towards the trainer, picked him up by his neck and smashed him towards the wall. The trainer’s head was bleeding and he fainted. “Woahh!! Chill out buddy, no need to buy this place, we are just going to head out and you can train as much as you want.” the second trainer told Justin.

The trainer picked the fainted trainer and headed outside the dojo. Justin started kicking and punching the boxing bag while the other trainers called 911. The police and the ambulances came eventually. The trainers told them about the situation and the police decided to go inside the dojo. There were four cops out of which three cops were having guns in their hands and decided to enter the dojo.

The three cops entered the dojo and shouted “Freeze or we will shoot!” Justin looked back, gave an evil smile and started running towards the cops. The cops started firing but only one bullet hit Justin on his neck. He punched one of the cops on his face, picked the other two by their necks and slammed both of them with each other. "We need reinforcements!" The fourth cop said to the walkie talkie he was holding in his hand but unfortunately Justin saw him too. He started rushing towards the fourth cop when he shot Justin in his head and Justin fell on the ground. "Huh! You ain't gettin me, buddy!" the cop mocked Justin.

Eventually the other cops came and everyone was talking about the dreadful creature. Some ambulances came too. The fainted cops were picked up and were put inside the ambulance. The ambulance was about to pick Justin too, but the fourth cop told them not to pick him up. The nurses agreed and went away. The cop kept one of his feet on Justin and decided to take a selfie "Going to put it up on my instagram, huh!" he laughed. He was clicking selfies when he heard a machinery whirring sound.

'uhmmmmmmmm' the voice came and the cop was wildly confused. A hand grabbed his leg and threw him away. Justin woke up. The bullets which incinerated his head and neck slowly and steadily were exiting his body and the wounds started healing. Justin was bigger (10 feet) and more powerful than he previously was, the muscle veins were popping out. "Freeze or we will fire!" another cop shouted. Justin picked up some dumbbells and started throwing at the cops. Some cops were heavily injured when the dumbbell hit them. Some were dodging and started firing at Justin, but no bullets hit Justin. He picked up the boxing bag and defended his upper body with the bullets. Justin slowly and steadily knocked all the cops and ran away.

The paparazzi came after an hour and everyone was shocked to see the knocked out cops. They retrieved the CCTV footage and started broadcasting it. "Hi people, we are here to bring you a horrific incident where some wild human looking like creature knocked all of the cops and is nowhere to be seen, we found some footage and we bring it to you." The media started broadcasting the footage to the people who were watching the news. The people were astonished to see the footage. "Damn! Whoever he is, he definitely has some good fighting skills. Do you know this guy?" Mary asked Bravard. Bravard looked at the TV screen closely for about 5 minutes and said "Why does he look like Justin?"

Within a matter of time, the whole world was staring at a 10 feet 12-inch muscular guy having black eyes, enormous white teeth causing destruction and beating cops for no reason at all. People were talking and nobody knew where the enormous beast went. The town was again in a state of chaos, this time a different type of chaos.

The police station was also in a state of chaos. The phone bells were ringing, people were moving from one direction to another direction, some were answering calls, some were not, some were busy with some paperwork. "Sir, we found him!" one of the police officers told Edwin after looking at the CCTV footage. The beast went inside the abandoned house. "First, the Base- H, then the robbery and now this evil beast, what is happening in this town?" Edwin said to himself and decided to reach the place where the beast was trying to hide.

Edwin called the swag family and told them about the situation. The swag family reached the police station within half an hour and a whole strategy was discussed to arrest the beast and put it in its place. Helicopters were arranged too, the police squad as well as the swag family sat inside their cars and drove towards the site followed by three helicopters.

They reached the place, Edwin got out of the car, pulled out the blowhorn and said, "Come out of the house now, else we are going to come inside and trust me, if we come inside things are not going to go well, buddy." Nothing happened, neither the beast came out nor any voices were heard. Edwin signaled the officers and four police officers rushed inside. They went inside and searched the whole building but there was nobody there. Three of them came out and one of them said "We searched the whole building, nobody's inside the building, Marcus is searching for the basement.” Edwin was perplexed and after a while even Marcus came out and said, “The basement’s empty, the whole house is empty!”

Even the swag family was confused at this point of time. Mary used her X-ray vision to scan the whole house but didn’t find anyone or anything suspicious. Edwin called one of those officers and asked, “You sure you saw the beast coming here?” “Yes sir, I am 100% sure, maybe it esc....” the officer replied and instantly the call hung up. “Something’s odd at the police station.” Edwin told the family “Should I go and check?” Mary asked, “It’s hardly going to take a minute or two.” Edwin agreed and Mary ran towards the police station to see what the beast was up to. “Everything is fine!” the officer reassured Mary “There was a fault in the telephone.” “Oh my god, you scared the hell out of us.” Mary cried.

“We are still finding the beast; this beast is changing places.” the officer said “Here it is.” Mary looked closely at the camera and saw the beast lurking around another abandoned house. “Are you sure, it’s here only?” Mary asked and the officer nodded in agreement. Mary sped up at that place all alone and saw the beast lurking around another abandoned house. “What is he even upto?” Mary asked herself. She sped up towards the beast and landed a hefty punch in his face. “Ouchh” the beast groaned in pain. Mary called reinforcements and told her about the location. The beast saw her and sped up in the opposite direction. “Oh, looks like I am not the only one having superspeed.” Mary laughed and started following the beast. Even Edwin was confused after seeing her location “I have a 500 CC car how am I even going to follow two supers running at the speed of a bullet?” he asked from the chief “Well, that’s your headache, buddy.” the chief told Edwin while sitting on the passenger seat and lit a cigar.

Mary on the other hand was following the beast but couldn’t get hold of him since both were running at approximately the same speed whereas the cars were trying to block the beast's path, but their efforts were useless. "I have a plan!" Bravard said from the back seat "Why not tell the helicopters to snipe the beast, their speed is fast and it could at least slow him down." Both chief and Edwin looked at each other and agreed with his plan.

Edwin picked his walkie talkie and instructed the helicopter pilots to snipe the beast. "Go for the legs, I repeat go for the legs." Edwin shouted on the walkie talkie. The man who was driving the helicopter, put the helicopter on autopilot, picked a sniper, aimed towards the beast and pulled the trigger.

The bullet hit the beast's legs, the beast struggled running first, collided with the stone and eventually fell. "It revives, I repeat kill him otherwise it will revive." one of the officers told Edwin. The whole group of officers circled around the beast and started firing at him. The creature roared in pain and finally died.

The ambulances came, picked the creature up and took him to the hospital. "Mission accomplished!" Bravard shouted in excitement "Our powers were not put to use but my strategy worked." All the officers congratulated Bravard for his sharp mind and everyone headed towards their homes. Edwin instructed the doctors to cremate the beast at the earliest after finishing the autopsy.

The reports came in and the beast identified as 'Justin Marble' Bravard was shocked and requested his family to visit their laboratory. The people were even more shocked after watching Alfred's and the caretaker's dead body. An ambulance was called again, and autopsy reports were asked to be sent to Bravard and the chief. "They were so good people, what did Justin do to himself?" Bravard asked himself and was disheartened, locked the laboratory, hopped inside the Mercedes and went home.

They reached home and everyone slept since it was nighttime. Justin's dead body was kept inside a big steel container which was about 20 feet high.

"Cause of death- Bullets!" one doctor said to another. "How did he even become that powerful, becoming this much strong and muscular and reviving again, and again is not that easy Nina!" "True, they have used some kind of hi-fi technology, making a person like this is not easy." Nina replied "At least it's finally dead, we will cremate him tomorrow morning, my kids would be starving for dinner." The doctor agreed, both of them locked the laboratory and went home.

The beast was kept inside the container when something odd happened, its index finger started shaking.

The Vanishing fortune and the unstoppable beast

The index finger of the beast started shaking and eventually the whole body started shaking. The machine whirring sound came and Justin's eyes opened. Justin stood up and screamed "Get me out of here!" Eventually the bullets that he was hit with started exiting his body and his wounds started healing. He became bigger(50ft) and stronger and started punching the container he was kept in.

The container broke into pieces and Justin jumped out of the container, eventually he exited the laboratory that he was kept in and headed outside. The swag family was busy in their daily chores and had no idea about the beast's escape. Bracy along with the babysitter was feeding Christie food, Mary was busy in household chores, Bravard went outside with his Tinder date and the chief was indulged in some of his military responsibilities. The TV was kept open and a news headline flashed "The beast has escaped the laboratory!" "Let's go!" chief said after looking at the dreadful news. "Where's Bravard?" Mary asked. "He has gone outside for some group studies." Bracy lied to Mary. “You are sure he has gone for group study, Bracy?” Mary asked, widening her eyes.” That’s what I was told, mommy.” Bracy said in an innocent tone.

We can handle him ourselves, no need to take him, let him study.” the chief said and all of them excluding Christie and the babysitter headed outside. They reached the place where the beast was smashing a building and causing destruction for no reason at all. Some police officers were gathered around the beast trying to kill him with the gunfire but their small bullets were of no match for the beast. The beast’s hair and beard had grown maybe it was some side effect of the serum he was injected with earlier.

“Hey Justitan(Combination of Justin and titan), what problem do you have with this town?” the chief asked after hopping out from his Mercedes. “This world has taken everything away from me, I won’t leave any one of you guys!” the beast groaned in a dreadful voice.

“Well you need to stop, otherwise....” the chief said “Otherwise, what?” the beast taunted the chief. Bracy turned into a rocket launcher, chief picked up her and pointed towards the beast. “Otherwise, you are dead, buddy!” the chief replied. “Bring it on!” the beast said in a dreadful voice and the chief launched the rocket from the launcher.

The rocket hit the beast and he was stunned for a minute but then removed the smoke that he was covered, smiled at them and said “These small things aren’t a match for me!” and tried to smash the chief with his hands when Mary dashed and rescued the chief from the monster’s hands. Mary found and picked up an axe, dashed and started striking the 50-foot giant’s legs with the axe. The axe was sharp and eventually he was moaning in pain. “Stop it! Stop it right away!” The beast groaned in anger, but Mary didn’t stop and kept slashing him.

Eventually the beast lowered to stop Mary, Bracy turned into a chain, the chief held the chain, threw it on the beast, the chain wrapped itself around the beast’s neck and the beast was moaning in pain. The chief pulled the beast’s head lower with the chain and was punching him constantly. “Arghhh! I ain’t gonna leave any of youuuu!” Justitan threatened the family and tried punching them, but they were quick to dodge.

Bravard on the other hand was eating dimsums (momos) with his tinder date. “Put one in my mouth, baby.” he told her, she picked a dimsum and put it in his mouth. “Yummy, isn’t it?” he asked and she agreed with him. His phone was ringing constantly and the family was flooding his phone with messages and callssince they were having a hard time defeating the beast, but he was so indulged with her that he had no idea about the same and ofcourse, his phone was on the ‘do not disturb’ mode.

“Now you open your mouth.” Bravard asked, she opened her mouth and Bravard put a dimsum inside her mouth. “Yummm!” she said while relishing the dish. "Let's take a selfie." she said, pulled out her phone and both of them were taking selfies from her phone. Bravard looked at the pictures and said, "These are just ok pictures, let me click some from my new iPhone."

He picked his phone which was kept on the backseat and looked at the missed calls and messages of his dad. One of the messages were "Aag lagi basti mein, tum apni masti mein!?" it was a hindi message which meant, 'the world is on fire, and you are enjoying yourselves!?' "Oh man, my dad is going to beat the hell out of me." he said and started driving. His date was busy feasting the delicacy "What are you doing, do something!" he said "What am I supposed to do? You are driving and I am a human!" she replied. "Well, that's a relevant point too, huh!" He laughed and both were sitting quietly the whole ride.

Bravard reached the place and saw all his family members fainted on the floor. "What has he done!!" he shouted "Call Alisa and Jonas, we will need their help!"

He told her date and she called the police station told them about the situation and they released the dynamic duo. Bravard exited the car, leapt in the air and started releasing molten lava from his hands and burning the beast. "Ahhhhhh!!" the beast moaned in pain. "You knocked out my family, I am going to burn you to death, buddy!" Bravard said, dodged his punches as the beast was trying to resist, flew backside of the beast and melted his back. "Aghhhh" the beast moaned in pain. He picked up a car and threw it towards Bravard, he quickly froze the car from his left hand and the car fell.

The beast burned and eventually his body started turning black after being heated from the molten lava which was being released from his hands. The beast fell down. Bravard picked up his family members but all of them were knocked out. He checked their heartbeats one by one and fortunately all of their hearts were beating.

Alisa and Jonas came with blue bracelets around their arms. "I had no intention to call you rascals but we have a situation in our hand." Bravard told the couple, looked at the watch and said "This beast is going to get up in 2 minutes and within that time, we have to remove the device from his heart otherwise he will wake up and kill us all. Any wrong move made by any of you, the bracelets will electrocute you and knock you out, Deal?" The two people agreed with him and started operating the beast. Bravard heated the beast's chest until the skin disappeared, Jonas released gamma rays on Alisa and Alisa inserted her hand inside the beast's body and was about to remove the device when the device started whirring.

"Remove it, remove it asap!" Bravard groaned "I am not able to, it's constantly going up and down." Alisa/ Elle justified. The heart was beating, and the device was going up and down again and again making it difficult for her to grip it and remove it. "Get out of there now!" Bravard's tinder date shouted, Bravard picked Alisa in one arm, Jonas in other and flew in the air.

The beast's eyes opened, his body was turning back into its normal form. His burned chest's skin started healing itself and clotting itself. He grew stronger, taller(100 feet) and more powerful than before. He woke up and groaned "You were trying to kill me, huh?" It punched a building, took out an iron rod and tried to hit the trio with it but Alisa shouted "Divert!!" and the iron rod went into another direction. Their fights began. Bravard left Alisa and Jonas on the ground and was heating the beast again, the beast was trying to hit Alisa with a punch, but Alisa diverted it and threw a glass window on the beast. The window hit the beast's eyes and he was groaning in pain.

Mary regained consciousness and began running and punching the beast.

The chief and shapeshifter regained consciousness too and everyone was fighting the enormous beast. “We may be needing Christie’s help, Bravard, call her!” Mary instructed Bravard and he replied, “On it!” Bravard called the babysitter, told her about the situation they were in, and the babysitter picked up Christie’s belongings, put them in her baby bag, headed outside, took a cab and rushed to the place she was instructed to come.

While on the other hand, the family started making a plan. “His eyes are his weakness, once we blind him, we can take him up, instantly!” The chief told the family while Alisa and Jonas were fighting the beast. “We need something strong t hit the beast in his eyes dad!” Bracy told him “I have a plan!” She whispered something in chief’s ear. “Are you sure?” the chief asked. Bracy nodded. She converted herself into that mettalic bee went upto Bravard that was shooting molten lava at the beast and told him the plan. “Uhhh... okay, but we need to distract him first.

Bracy turned into a harpoon launcher, the chief picked the heavy launcher, aimed it towards the beast and shot. The shot was accurate and the chief hopped upon the beast’s shoulder. The beast was busy trying to get rid off Mary and now the chief who had hopped upon his shoulder and was stabbing him constantly with the harpoon.

Bravard picked up Alisa and flew sideways. “What are you doing that was not the plan?” Jonas shouted whereas Bravard whispered the plan in Alisa’s ear “We need to convert Jonas back into his extraordinary strong form. You are an amazing actor aren’t you? Just act scared.” Alisa remembered the earlier event when she was in danger and Jonas converted himself into an extra strong person and rescued her from the policemen as well as the swag family and agreed to the plan.

Bravard was holding Alisa by her waist from one hand and made an ice blade from the other. He kept the blade at alisa’s neck and mocked Jonas “I am going to kill her, once and for all. Do everything you can, loser!” He kept the blade closer to Alisa’s neck and even pierced her neck slowly.

“Ahhhh! It hurts!” Alisa shouted. “Leave her!” Jonas shouted but Bravard paid a deaf ear to him and kept pearcing her slowly. “LEAVE HER!!!” Jonas shouted in a scary voice. White light started emitting from his body, his body started to rip and he converted again into his extraordinary form. Bravard flew and came in front of the beast’s face. Jonas made a bolt of lightning from his hand and threw it on Bravard. Bravard dodged and the bolt hit the beast’s eye.

He started making more bolts of lightning and all of them were hitting the beast continuously. At this time, even Bravard was scared of him and dropped Alisa down. The beast’s body was weakened by the strong bolts of energy, but he still wasn’t dying. Jonas still saw Bravard as a bad person and threw more bolt of lightning on him. "Jonas stop!! It was a plan to weaken the beast!" Alisa shouted and Jonas went back to his normal form.

"No, No, No!! We need him! Convert back to your amplifier form!!" Bravard said hurriedly. Jonas tried his best and failed. Bravard repeated the process and was about to stab Alisa in her eye with the ice sword but Jonas didn't convert. "Oh! Comeon!!" he said in dissatisfaction.

"Ughhhh!! What are you guys up to, don't you get it I am Immortal!!" Justitan groaned in anger and tried to slam the trio, but Bravard flew away and Mary sped up and protected Jonas from his enormous punch.

They were fighting the beast but the beast's eyes started recovering too. Bravard was shooting molten lava from his hands, Mary was running at the speed of light and striking the beast continuously, Jonas was amplifying Bravard's and Mary's abilities. The chief was on the beast, Bracy had converted herself into a chainsaw and they were trying to cut his left arm off. Alisa was diverting the beast's punches so that the swag family doesn't get hurt.

"Enough!" Justitan shouted and knocked out Alisa and Jonas after smashing them with his hands. Within a matter of time, they were lying on the floor and their mouths were bleeding. Bravard had become weak since Jonas, who was amplifying his abilities was knocked out and his regular flames were no match for the beast.

Bravard made pistols from his fingers, murmured something, the whole road turned orange and spawned an enormous 100 feet fiery bear. "Let's see you fighting with this bear, buddy!" The bear was of beast's size, it held the beast from the backside, held both of his arms and was heating the enormous beast constantly.

The bear was made up of fire and the beast was burning after constantly being in touch with the creature. “Ahhhh!” The beast groaned in pain since his body was withering with the flames and was turning black slowly. Bracy turned into a rope, Mary threw the rope at his neck and climbed upon the beast. She reached the bear’s head, Bracy turned into a javelin, Mary held the javellin and again smashed the bear’s eyes with it while the bear’s hands were struggling to get out of the bear’s grip.

“Enough!” The bear shouted; he fought the the bear but knew that it was made up of fire and couldn’t be killed. He saw Bravard a kilometer away controlling the bear. He picked an SUV and threw it on Bravard.

Bravard who was standing still was knocked out by the enormous car and fainted. The bear dissapeared too. He picked up Mary, untied the rope(Bracy) from his neck and threw them in the air that they bashed their heads on the ground and started bleeding heavily. “Maryyy!!” the chief shouted, became invisible and started rushing towards the beast “How dare you harm my wife?” he shouted and started firing on the beast. The beast figured out his location and the beast kicked him away too.

The cab arrived at the place. The babysitter and Christie arrived. They hopped out of the car and saw their family lying on the floor. Christie’s eyes were filled with tears after seeing her family lying on the floor like that. “Don’t worry, Christie, we are going to fight the beast.” The babysitter consoled the little child. “It is too big; how will we fight it?” Christie asked. “Do you remember Christie we read that verse from Kabir Das’s book ‘Bada hua to kya hua, jaise ped khajoor, panthi ko chaya nahi, fal laage ati door.’” (So what if you are big, even a banyan tree is big but neither does it bear fruit nor does he provide shadow to the pedestrian) and Christie agreed.

It’s time to make a thunderstorm Christie, it’s now or never. The beast was busy causing destruction, harming innocent civilians, smashing cars and had no idea about the duo. Christie closed her eyes, made two pistols from her hands, held them together and shouted, “The storm must prevail.” Slowly and steadily the clouds started turning black, a lightning strike came and struck the beast’s arm. The lightning strike was so powerful that the beast’s arm came off and the beast groaned in anger and moaned in pain.

The beast looked back. “You evil toddler!!” The beast groaned in anger while looking at Christie. The babysitter picked Christie up on her shoulders and started running. “He is calling me evil, nanny!” Christie shouted. “Do you remember the second Kabir Das’s verse that I taught you Christie?” she asked “Which one, Nanny?” Christie asked. “Bura, jo vekhan mein chala, bura na mileya koi, je mein aapan andar vich vekheya taan mujhse bura na koi!” (I started looking bad in people and couldn’t find any, but when I saw in myself, I couldn’t find a worse person than me) the nanny told Christie. "Strike him with another lightning strike and handicap this enormous ahole" "Ass what, nanny?" Christie asked innocently. "Just strike him again before he recovers." Christie did as she was instructed and within a minute the lightning strike struck the second arm of the beast, but it wasn't too and the second arm didn't come off.

The nanny was running carrying Christie in her arms and the beast was following them. Christie made a cyclone, but the beast was too tough to be caught in that tornado. The beast jumped in the air and was about to smash the duo with his second fist. The babysitter looked backwards, saw him in the air, threw Christie sideways and close her eyes, put her hands on her face to protect herself, when she realised that the punch didn't land on her.

She opened her eyes and looked. A big six feet man was holding the punch. "Runn!" the man shouted. The babysitter picked up Christie and ran as fast as she could. She looked back and saw seven similar figures wearing a trench coat, black jeans and black hat were fighting the beast. The beast was fighting the people but whenever he stomped on any of them, they disappeared.

It was nobody but the CEO who had cloning abilities! "Christie, we need more lightning shocks." The babysittier told christie. Christie closed her eyes, the sky turned black and within a minute more and more lightning strikes were hitting the beast and eventually his second arm came off too. "The earth must shake and finish this beast once and for all!" Christie shouted. An earthquake came and all the nearby buildings fell upon the beast. The CEO got upon the beast and started removing the debris, Bravard and Jonas regained consciousness and joined too, heated his chest and they were finally successful in removing the device from the beast's heart. Justitan's heart stopped beating and finally, he died.

Ambulances came, police cars came and everyone was picking up the beast. The rest of the family members regained consciousness and Paparazzi came and gathered around the family. Alisa and Jonas joined too. “Why did you release Alisa and Jonas? Why did it take you so long to defeat the beast? What was the earthquake for, were you planning to kill us all?” The paparazzi were hurling the family with these illogical questions. “Ughh, such a pessimistic world out there.” the chief groaned in anger and said, “No questions please.”

Everything was sorted; except one thing where did the stolen money go? The mystery of the stolen money that Alisa and Jonas stole still remained unfolded.

Alisa, Jonas and the CEO were awarded for their bravery and amazing fighting skills but on the other hand were called for a trial on the next day. They went to the court along with their lawyers and the proceeding began

“So, Mrs. Alisa Skart and Mr. Jonas where is the money that you stole. We have searched everywhere but we haven’t found it yet, either you tell us or both of get a death penalty.” the judge told the trio. “We seriously have no idea, sir. We stole it, but someone stole it from us, maybe it was the surgeons, or maybe someone else, but we don’t have the money with us.” Alisa justified. “Alisa is right, we don’t have the money, we pledge the holy bible and can say the same.” Jonas justified.

After the court proceeding ended, the duo was about to sit in the prison van when Bravard pulled Jonas’s collar from his left hand, snapped his fingers two times, made an ice trident and kept it towards his neck “You didn’t open up your mouth in there, we tried to ask you in a sweet, non-violent way but this time buddy, dices are reversed and this trident will go straight through your throat if you lie. Where is the money?” “We seriously don’t know, those surgeons stole it away and we don’t know where they went or where they are.” Jonas replied. Bravard left his collar and the policemen separated the men from each other.

The search for the stolen money restarted the targets were simple they had to search for the two wicked surgeons who had stolen the money from the thieves. It was the weirdest twist, where the thieves got robbed. The search was going on, the pictures of the two surgeons were being shown to people and they were being asked if they had seen them anywhere but all of them denied. They expanded their search area and began searching for the thieves outside the town but their efforts failed miserably.

Mary came home disappointed; she had X-ray visions, so her help was being taken to find the surgeons, but they were nowhere to be found. “Ugh! Such an awful day!” she groaned in frustration, removed her coat, put it on the stand and went straight towards the kitchen. "Anyone up for grilled meat or will you order from outside?" she asked. "Outside!" all three children replied together. "Of course, why would you even miss a chance to order from outside." Mary said and laughed. "What's the status about the missing money, Mommy?" Bracy asked. "We haven't found them anywhere, neither the thieves nor the money." Mary said disappointedly. "Damn, I think they have gone underground." Christie gasped.

"Underground....." Mary said to herself. "I never thought about that, We never thought about that, nobody thought about that." Mary instantly called Edwin and told him the same. The next day, Mary and the chief met with the police force and told them about the little girl's idea. "We never searched underground" one of the police officers said. They started searching underground, in the subway, in the canals and lo! They found a mysterious steel gate inside one of the sewage canals.

"This seems a little bit suspicious." the chief said to the police officers "Hold your positions, anything can happen." the police officers obeyed the chief's orders, took two steps back, pointed their guns towards the gate. The chief punched the gate and the gate broke into pieces. "Let's go!" he told the officers and all the police officers slowly headed inside the hallway.

The hallway's walls were painted white, it was a long tunnel, they headed inside and found another gate. "This must be the room where those rascals must be hiding!" the chief whispered to the officers. The officers took positions, and the chief punched the gate open.

They headed inside and to their shock they found two dead bodies. "Whatttt!!" Mary said since she was astonished seeing both surgeons dead. "It's them, It's the surgeons." They called the forensics and within a matter of time, they came and took the bodies of the deceased inside the ambulances to the laboratories. The detectives came too and searched for the money but didn't find a single trace of the money.

“This can’t be happening, the thieves(Alisa, Jonas and the CEO) got robbed and the robbers who robbed the thieves got killed and again got robbed.” the chief told the force. “It seems like a tongue twister sir.” one of the officers joked and the other lads started looking at him in disgust. “No time for jokes, Harney.” Edwin groaned in anger and he stopped laughing. The people returned to their homes.

Forensic reports came and the scientist revealed “Someone choked the surgeons, it was done by someone having extraordinary strength and not by any ordinary citizen.” The police force was confused since Alisa, Jonas as well as the CEO were in jail and there was no super according to their knowledge. The search began for the money again, but it was nowhere to be found.

Time flew, the people returned to their daily lives and the enigma of the stolen money remained unsolved. "I am done for the day, madam can I go home now?" the babysitter asked Bracy. "Sure, it's 3 pm in the evening, I can take care of Christie and you can take care of your sweet little boy, what was his name again?" Bracy asked. "Barney, his name is Barney." the babysitter replied, packed her bag and went home.

“Are you home, mommy?” Barney asked the babysitter, “Yes, my darling I am” she said “What did you learn in school today?” “I learnt that honesty is the best policy, mommy and greed is the person’s worst enemy.” 7 year old Barney replied. “That’s good, do you want to eat mango, Barney?” the babysitter asked, and Barney nodded in excitement.

The babysitter took out the mango from the fridge, took out two plates and one baby fork which was specially reserved for her little son. She started peeling the mango and asked “What do you want for your birthday, Barney?” “I want a PlayStation and an iPhone.” Barney replied. “You will get them for sure.” she said. “You are joking mommy, aren’t you?” The babysitter smiled at him, gave the mango slices to her son in a plate along with a fork. “What did you learn in school today, Barney?" she asked again. "Honesty....." he was about to finish the sentence when she interrupted "No after that." "Greed is bad, mommy." The babysitter took the knife and stabbed the sofa with it, within a minute a note bundle came out of it. "You sure, greed is bad and is the man's worst enemy, Barney?" she asked her son.

"Where did you get that from, mommy?" Barney said frightened. "I robbed the surgeons, Barney!" the babysitter said in an excited tone. "You can buy anything with this money, Barney, this sofa is filled with money, you can buy iphones, playstation, toys, books whatever you want, and you know what the best thing is, nobody knows." "Or maybe they do!" A voice came, the baby fork Barney was eating from dropped and Bracy returned to her human form.

"Everybody knows!" another voice came and the chief came from behind the curtains having a camera in his hands. The door slammed open and the whole police force came inside, "Madam, you are under arrest for robbery and murder." "How.....How did you guys know, I made sure nobody knew about it." the babysitter grunted in fear and agony.

"You know the time, when we were looking for the money and we had dogs with us." Mary came from the crowd and said "When we visited your house, they started barking, at first I thought they are barking for no reason but then I remembered they are no ordinary dogs, I used my X-ray vision to scan your whole house but didn't find anything, so we returned but we surely blacklisted your house. Now tell us how you do it and why you did it, even though we never refused to give you money?"

"I wanted money, I wanted a hell lot-a- money. I was jealous, I was jealous of you guys, you had everything. A house, lavish clothes, lavish Mercedes, proper schooling of your children, relishing food and everything a person could ever ask for. We on the other hand, were nobody. We ate the same bread butter in the morning and raw meat in the night. Our lives were dull but one day it changed. At the time of the explosion, I gained superpowers. I gained invisibility and I decided never to tell a bird about it. I enrolled myself in the academy, got promoted and got the chance to be your new babysitter since the previous one got fired after the earthquake incident. My husband is a teacher, he didn't earn much too. I did petty thefts and one day we heard the news about the bank robbery.

We decided to change our lives once and forever. We tracked the surgeons, when you guys were busy with the court proceedings and fighting that giant beast, we were finding the money and you know the best thing was, we found the surgeons. I went invisible and followed the surgeons inside the canal and boom! Knocked and killed both of them out, stole the money and came back home.

The whole town was in a bad state, we took advantage of it and took the money with us, people saw us, but they were too busy saving their lives from the giant creature that they forgot about it eventually. I put all the money inside the sofa, inserted cotton above it so it doesn't get caught in the X-ray vision and we even replaced the sofa with another one in order to lower down the suspicion and I continued with my daily jobs but unfortunately you caught me."

The police force and the chief called the babysitter's husband and put them in a van. The babysitter was eventually hung and the money was safely deposited inside the bank accounts and all of them lived happily ever after..... or did they?

There were some mysteries that still remain unfolded.

1. Why did the CEO surrender? He could have easily gotten away with the help of his abilities since he didn't even have those electrocuting bracelets around his wrist.
2. Were there more undiscovered supers present inside the town?
3. Where is Elle's mother? Even after so much happened, she never even tried to contact her dear daughter.

There were more questions that remain unanswered. The town's misery was put to an end, peace was restored but will the town remain peaceful forever?

THE END

A small note to the readers

Dear Readers,

Thank you for taking the time to read my novel! The story doesn't end here.... but while you wait for the next part, I'd love to hear your thoughts, did you enjoy the plot? Which character stood out as your favorite? What do you think will happen next?

Also, if my novel were to be adapted into a movie, would you be excited to see it on the big screen? Your feedback means the world to me!

Feel free to reach out and share your thoughts with me on Instagram: @prodigious.soul.0709. I'd love to chat with you!

With gratitude,
